KUROKI DEFEATS REAR GUARD: LOSS IS EIGHT HUNDRED MEN

Troops With Wounded Hurried Through Niuchwang.

Meagre Details Indicate That Czar's Soldiers Were Outflanked.

SKRYDLOFF AT VLADIVOSTOK

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tokyo, June 13.—News has reached here of a considerable victory gained by Oku's rear guard below Kaiping. A mixed body of Russians of about 5,000 men made an attack on the Japanese, but were beaten back with heavy loss. The Japanese field artillery supplied with Shimose shells was particularly effective. It is believed here that the attack on Port Arthur either has begun already or will begin before the end of the week at the latest. No important movement is expected from Kuroki before that time.

The report which reaches here from Europe to the effect that the Russian Vladivostok squadron had been within 30 miles of Port Arthur and had returned to Vladivostok after a battle with a portion of Admiral Togo's fleet excites amusement here. Since the raid of the Vladivostok squadron on Wonson and the sinking of the transport Kin Shiu Maru, Vladivostok has been so closely watched that it would be difficult for a torpedo boat to get out of the harbor without the knowledge of Admiral Kamemura, who is watching the port with a force sufficiently large to annihilate the Russian squadron should it venture to sea.

Yin Kow Evacuated.

A long report has been received here from Admiral Togo, in which he covers the operations of the fleet since June 6, repeats his former account of the bombardment of the west coast of the Liao-Tung peninsula. Continuing, the admiral says that the captain of a foreign vessel that left Yin-Kow on Wednesday, June 8, reports that the recent Japanese bombardment in the vicinity of Kaiping, south of Niuchwang, caused Russian forces to the number of 3,000 with 20 guns to evacuate Yin-Kow.

Two men who were taken prisoners by the Japanese while on their way into port report that two Russian regiments, numbering in all about 5,000 men, arrived recently at Manchalin, Wafangow and Wan-Fang-Tien.

The prisoners say also that large numbers of Russian troops are coming south from Mukden every day. On Wednesday, June 3, a detachment of the fleet bombarded and dispersed two companies of Russian troops who were on Kaiping point. On Friday, another detachment of the fleet bombarded the enemy for two hours near Ying-Chin-Tsu and Tsan-Tia-Kai, inflicting much damage on them.

Drove Back Torpedo Boats.

Another detachment of the Japanese fleet, according to Admiral Togo's report, discovered four Russian torpedo boat destroyers in Talienwan bay near Shaopingtan and drove them back to Port Arthur. Over 70 mines have been destroyed in Talienwan bay. Thirty floating mines have been found and destroyed. Some of these were drifting into Peichili gulf.

In conclusion, Admiral Togo says a dense fog which prevailed for several days finally cleared away on Sunday.

NIUCHWANG, June 13.—Information was received here at 10 o'clock last night through heretofore reliable channels that part of the Japanese force left at Pu-Lan-Tien to checkmate the Russians' southward movement to relieve Port Arthur, was attacked southeast of Shungnmao yesterday. After slight fighting, the Japanese made a false retreat, the Russians hotly following them, when the Japanese made a flank movement, catching the Russians in a trap. The Russian losses are placed at 800 men. Then they fell back on Kaichau and began to retreat along the Baimatgu-Tsaichau road.

Many Russians Wounded.

About 2,000 Russian infantry from Kaichou passed through Niuchwang this morning accompanied by a large supply and hospital train. Several carts contained bandaged men. The troops appeared to be fagged out, and showed every indication of a long, forced march.

The officers refused to furnish any in-

OKU'S PLANS FOR ATTACK COMPLETE

Four Divisions Will Assail Port Arthur—Main Body to Follow Railroad.

TOGO AGAIN BLOCKS CHANNEL

Chefoo, June 13.—The Japanese are massing men and guns for the final assault on Port Arthur. Gen. Oku has so secured his rear that he has absolutely no fear of a serious attack from that quarter.

It is believed that the Japanese plan will follow closely that which proved successful when the fortress was taken from the Chinese. The Japanese attacking force will be divided into four divisions. One will make the attack by way of Dalny. This division already is in position. Then there will be two flanking divisions to the west of the railroad, one flanking the Etse hill, another attacking the Ngantse forts, while the main body will advance through the valley where the railroad runs.

With the Ku Wane and Sung Su forts silenced or captured, the Dalny division occupying the attention of the Urlung chain of forts and the two western divisions threatening the fortifications on the Etse and Ngantse hills, Gen. Oku believes he can send his main force through the intervening valley and strike Port Arthur with a minimum of loss.

Channel Again Blocked.

A report reaches here today that Admiral Togo has again blocked the Port Arthur channel. Fire ships were sent in under the convoy of the torpedo boat flotilla and at least three were sunk in the channel in such position that the heavier Russian warships cannot possibly get out. To make assurance doubly sure the torpedo boats planted a large number of mines. The work was done under a heavy fire from the forts which did not, however, inflict any serious damage on the Japanese.

LIAO YANG, June 12.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A Russian correspondent and two officers, who escaped from Port Arthur, arrived here last night. They say that for four days they were crawling through the Japanese lines, the Japanese having picketed at intervals of 50 yards.

The fugitives traveled mostly at night and kept to the hills. They were greatly exhausted. They caught a hospital train leaving Wafandian, which also brought a number of men wounded in skirmishes along the railway. Most of the wounded are recovering rapidly. Many of them have been awarded the St. George's cross.

Fortress Well Provisioned.

The refugees say that Port Arthur is well provisioned, the merchants having managed to get in large quantites of supplies before the railway was cut.

NIUCHWANG, June 13.—A Chinaman who was smuggled by the Japanese into Port Arthur to act as a spy and escaped from there seven days ago, was arrested here last night. He said that the Russians were working a large force of men day and night repairing the warships. They expect that the work will be completed in a fortnight. Four cruisers under Golden hill (at the entrance of Port Arthur) have their guns trained landward to assist in repulsing a land attack. The channel is partly cleared, but Admiral Togo's blockade is effective.

The spy estimates the total strength of the Russian forces, including the sailors, at less than 30,000 men. There are many wounded.

Two armored trains, on board of which are mounted guns landed from the Russian battleship Retvizan, recently ran to a point near the Japanese lines and opened fire. The Japanese replied and their shells badly damaged the train, though it managed to return to the Russian lines. The stern of the sunken battleship Petropavlovsk is visible at low tide.

The coal supply at Port Arthur is low. It is estimated at only 2,400 tons of Cardiff and 3,000 tons of Japanese coal.

MOODY'S NAME STILL STANDS

No Denials That He Will Succeed Knox in the Cabinet.

PREFERS PORTFOLIO

Attorney Generalship More to His Liking Than Navy Department.

DARLING MAY BE PROMOTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.

At the White House and elsewhere the suggestion that the president will appoint Mr. Moody, secretary of the navy, to succeed Attorney General Knox, who will become senator from Pennsylvania, in December, meets with no denial and with a little tacit encouragement in that the president has nothing whatever to say about it.

Everyone knows that Mr. Moody intended to drop what are for him not altogether congenial reins of administration at the navy department and return to law practice in Boston on March 4, 1905. The justice portfolio is much to his liking, either for a long term or for the few months between December and March. If at that date he adhered to a desire to return to practice at Boston, he could do so with the title of "former attorney general" tied to his name, and that would be many dollars in the pocket of his firm. He is now in Boston.

Who will be Mr. Moody's successor is an object of much speculation, but few are mentioned prominently. Around Washington and in New England the assistant secretary of the navy, Mr. Darling, has been much talked of. Despite his views in opposition to the creation of a general staff in the navy, Mr. Darling is popular among many naval officers, and his handling of certain questions has evoked the admiration of even those violently opposed to him on the staff question. The navy portfolio has been much held by New England men. Mr. Darling is from Vermont.

START WHEELS OF CONVENTION

Speaker Cannon and Chairman Payne Arrived in Chicago.

BUSY AT COLISEUM

Republican Leaders Inspected the Big Building and Talked Politics.

WISCONSIN PEACE OFFERING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 13.—Members of the Republican national committee and other leading party men are arriving in the city hourly. The Coliseum was a busy place today. The Republicans leading who came in during the night and today flocked to the big building, talked over convention prospects and inspected the platform and seating arrangements.

Speaker Cannon arrived from Washington with Postmaster General Payne at 9 o'clock. Mr. Cannon went at once to the Coliseum, while Mr. Payne, who is acting chairman of the national committee, sought out Secretary Dover for the purpose of a conference. It was practically decided that no meetings of the executive committee will be necessary as a prelude to the meeting of the full committee Wednesday.

Speaker Cannon, who will preside over the deliberations of the convention, had a long talk today with Committeeman Harry S. New of Indiana. "Uncle Joe" was particularly pleased with the arrangements of the hall. He left for Danville this afternoon to obtain rest.

The sub-committee on credentials, which will report to the full committee, will have a task on its hands with the 22 contests which are scheduled. The decisions in only a few of the contested cases are foregone conclusions. Most of the contests will need extended hearings. Chairman Payne was asked about the Wisconsin contest and dismissed it in these words:

Payne Silent on Contest.

"I can only say that there is a state-at-large contest, but as I have not been on the ground and have been so much occupied with other matters I am not in a position to discuss the differences reported in my state."

A dispatch from Milwaukee tonight says the anti-LaFollette men have framed up a plan for a compromise of the present situation in the Republican party based on the judgment of the national convention. It is said the "antis" will offer to leave the whole matter to the national convention for decision, with the understanding that whichever side is declared regular shall have the Republican column on the state ticket without further difficulty. Should such an offer be made there is little likelihood of its being accepted, according to well informed politicians, as the LaFollette men believe that the influence of Senators Spooner and Quarles and Congressman Babcock will be set to turn the scales against the LaFollette faction.

All of the members of the national committee will have arrived in Chicago by tomorrow night or Wednesday morning, and on Wednesday at 2 o'clock Chairman Payne will call the body in a large room walled apart from the general office on the second floor of the Coliseum annex. The committee is expected to be occupied with contests until the end of the week.

Turning Toward Chicago.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Special.)—With the arrival of Gov. Odell from Europe tomorrow and the tide of travel among Republican leaders turning toward Chicago for the national convention, the political pot will begin to boil this week. Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the national committee, and National Committeeman George R. Sheldon will lead the way to the convention city. They desire to be on hand early to assist in arranging the convention details, and to attend the meeting of the national committee on Wednesday. Charles A. Moore, president of the American Protective Tariff association, Wilbur F. Wakeman, secretary, and William Barber, vice president, will leave on Thursday.

The Republican big four—Senators Platt and Depew, Gov. Odell and ex-Gov. Black—will leave for Chicago on Friday. Several prominent Republicans will accompany them, including Col. George W. Dunn of Binghamton, William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, William L. Ward of West Chester and William E. Warren of Buffalo. They will stop at the Auditorium.

HEARST TO OUST "BOSS" HOPKINS

That Is Plan of New Yorker's Boomers at Democratic Convention in Illinois.

HOT FIGHT IS CERTAIN TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—Followers of John P. Hopkins of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois Democratic central committee, provoked by an attempt by adherents of William R. Hearst to secure control of the central committee, when the Illinois Democratic convention convenes tomorrow noon, may make an attempt to force Mr. Hearst to forego an instructed delegation to the national convention.

Hearst adherents purpose, it is said, to depose Mr. Hopkins and place Millard Dunlap, Hearst's Illinois campaign manager, at the head of the Illinois Democratic machine. At every recent state convention an attempt has been made to depose Chairman Hopkins, but each attempt has failed dismally.

The fight in the open will begin tomorrow, when a temporary chairman is selected. Hopkins' partisans hold that the party constitution gives the state central committee the right to select a temporary chairman. This constitution and the particular plank in which the Hopkins people take such a pride, were written by the men who are now managing the Hearst campaign, when they were in control of the party machinery. The writers of the constitution now say that the convention is sovereign in itself and that the plank was not intended for any such uses as that to which the Hopkins adherents now desire to put it.

Adherents of Mayor Harrison of Chicago are for Congressman Williams of Illinois for president. This makes the fight three-cornered. Hopkins and Hearst followers now admit that they are not sure how many delegates each secured at the primaries on May 6.

NOT PERMITTED TO SEE THE PHIPPS COMPLAINT

Dr. Gallagher's Attorney May Mandamus Court Clerk to Produce Papers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, June 13.—Attorney J. H. Pershing, who has been engaged by Dr. Thomas Gallagher to protect his interests in the Phipps divorce suit, has made several ineffectual efforts to see the complaint in order to satisfy himself as to the way in which his client's name is used.

The complaint was sealed in an envelope by order of the court and Judge Palmer has so far refused to allow Mr. Pershing to gain access to the document. There is some talk of mandamusing the clerk to compel him to reveal the papers to the attorney, such an action having been successfully prosecuted in the east.

Judge Mullins today granted a continuance in the Phipps case for at least 10 days.

NORTHERN SECURITIES DIVIDENDS PROMISED

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Special.)—President J. J. Hill of the Northern Securities Company today issued a circular to the stockholders of the company, in which he states that as soon as the distribution of the securities represented by their stock is accomplished and the legal owners are ascertained, they will get the dividends which have accrued and are on deposit in the banks.

FAIRBANKS SAYS NAY TO WOODRUFF

Hoosier Statesman Will Not Announce His Candidacy for Vice President.

HANDICAP TO HIGHER OFFICE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—United States Senator Fairbanks has said nay to the entreaties of Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff of New York, and has positively declined to announce himself or permit his friends to announce him as a candidate for the vice presidency. He told Mr. Woodruff that he did not want the place, that there are others who do want it, and that someone of the aspirants ought to be nominated.

He did not say he would not take it if the convention offered it to him without seeking on his part, but he did say that no such contingency is likely to arise when there are candidates before the convention whose states are working actively for them.

Out of Mr. Woodruff's visit has come a statement to the effect that Mr. Fairbanks would long ago have said that he would take the second place on the ticket if the president had stated that he would not again be a candidate, but no one has been able to get such a statement from him, and Mr. Fairbanks feels that should he desire to enter the presidential contest four years hence, he would be hampered rather than benefited by being in the vice presidential office, for he would be placed in the attitude of opposing his chief.

It is for this reason, it is said, that he does not want the second place, but if he knew positively that the president would not again be a candidate he would take it willingly.

ANCIENT CAPSTAN FOUND.

Archaeologist Directing Excavation of Forum Discovers Mechanism 2,000 Years Old.

ROME, June 13.—Signor Giacomo Boni, the archaeologist, who is directing the excavations of the Forum has found a heavy capstan with eight fixed levers of wood. The wood is perfectly preserved, while the iron fixtures have become oxidized.

The discovery is considered of the greatest importance as being the first known mechanical contrivance dating back 2,000 years. The capstan, which was found almost intact, has a diameter of over two yards. Signor Boni has ordered the capstan covered with a special preparation for the purpose of preserving the wood.

PERDICARIS' RELEASE EXPECTED TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Rear Admiral Chadwick, in a cablegram to the navy department from Tangier, says the mission to the bandit Raisuli left on June 12. If all goes well, Perdicaris will be released next Wednesday. It is estimated that it will require this length of time for the mission which has gone to his relief with the ransom demanded to reach the brigand's camp. The sultan will grant the brigand's terms and indeed some of Raisuli's men who were in prison have already been released as an evidence of the good faith in which the terms are being met.

NO VACANCY IN SENATORSHIP

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 13.

Senator Boies Penrose left for Chicago at 4:30 this afternoon. Before leaving Chairman Penrose said that he felt that there would be an amicable adjustment of all contests, mentioning those in particular in Wisconsin, New York, Ohio, Texas and the usual anti-Addicks fight in Delaware.

When asked about the vice presidential nomination, Mr. Penrose said: "In my opinion there is no doubt about the desirability of Senator Fairbank's selection. He comes from a state which ordinarily should command consideration. I believe that Senator Fairbanks is not an active candidate for the honor, but men active in the party organization have urged him to allow the use of his name, and we feel confident he will accede to the wishes of the party. Roosevelt and Fairbanks will make a winning ticket."

Continuing, the senator said: "There will be no senatorial interregnum because of the appointment of Attorney General P. C. Knox by Gov. Pennypacker. Newspaper statements to the effect that a vacancy would exist between the convening the legislature January 3, and the third Tuesday in January, when the balloting for senator takes place, are not founded on fact. The United States senate decided this question long ago and precedents are a matter of easy reference. The senate has decided that an appointment holds good only 'until' the legislature meets, but that, in case of a deadlock or failure to elect, it holds good until the legislature adjourns sine die, the paramount thought being to keep the office always filled in order to preserve the integrity of the senate.

"With this purpose in view, two methods are provided for filling vacancies: First, by temporary appointments by the governor, second, by election by the legislature, for the balance of the term, or the full term. Mr. Knox's appointment will hold good not only until the legislature meets, but also until the third Tuesday in January, or if an election does not then take place, until the legislature finally adjourns.

"In establishing this precedent, the United States senate interpreted the word 'until' in the interest of public policy, having in view, as I said before, the idea of giving to each state its full senatorial representation as well as keeping the membership of the senate intact.

"The one question which has not been settled, the issue never having arisen, is whether, in an instance like this, the governor would have the power to reappoint Mr. Knox, should the legislature fail to elect. Personally, I believe that he might be reappointed times innumerable, but others differ with this view. However, as there is no possibility of this question arising in the filling of the present vacancy, its disposition must be left to a future decision, should such a contingency ever occur."

Attorney General Carson, in an interview today, said there would be no senatorial hiatus by reason of the gubernatorial appointment of Mr. Knox.

Russians Make Concession to Jews.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 13.—The council of the empire has approved Interior Minister Von Plehwe's bill for the repeal of the law, under which Jews are forbidden to reside within 32 miles of the frontier. The emperor's sanction of the measure is expected shortly.

DYNAMITE CONCEALED UNDER CHURCH ALTAR

Fuse Attached to a Candlestick Was Discovered When House Was Crowded.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, June 13.—The unexplained inability of the lay brothers to light one of the candles on the altar of the Church of St. Anthony, a Franciscan institute in South St. Louis, led to the discovery of dynamite under the altar sufficient to blow the church into atoms.

When the explosive was discovered the lay brother had lighted all of the candles but one. He made several unsuccessful attempts to ignite the wick. He removed both candle and holder and then discovered a fuse fastened to the rear of the candlestick which was attached to dynamite under the altar.

The fuse was so arranged that when the candle had burned for a certain time it would have ignited and caused an explosion which, because of the crowded condition of the church at the time, would have caused a great loss of life. The lay brother removed the fuse and explosive and then informed his superiors. The police are at work upon the case.

DEATH BEAT EXPRESS.

Race With Grim Visitor Lost. Colorado Special Caught Too Late.

MARSHALLTOWN, IA., June 13.—Elias Kempner of New York, today made a vain attempt on a special train to reach his dying brother in Denver before death came. He received a telegram at Belle Plaine, Ia., this afternoon announcing his brother's death.

When Mr. Kempner reached Chicago this morning he missed connection with the fast Colorado special train leaving on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at 10:55 o'clock. He secured a special train on the Northwestern road at 12:46 p. m. This special had orders to overtake the Colorado special as soon as possible. The line was cleared, and the Kempner special sped away to the west.

The Kempner special averaged 60 miles an hour from Chicago to Marshalltown, 289 miles, where the Colorado special, due at 5:28 p. m., was held seven minutes to take Mr. Kempner aboard. Between Clinton and Belle Plaine, Mr. Kempner's train made 112 miles in 101 minutes.

TO SHUT OFF PASSES.

Railroads Propose to Issue No Deadhead Transportations to St. Louis After Aug. 15.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—(Special.)—Following closely upon the order issued by A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, that no free passes be issued to St. Louis during the time of the exposition, comes a request from all the railroads entering the world's fair city that connecting lines will not ask for deadhead transportation to St. Louis even for employes after August 15.

After the middle of August the railroads expect to have all that they can attend to in carrying persons to St. Louis who buy their transportation. The travel so far has been good, but a rush is looked for toward fall. St. Louis is a hot weather city, and everybody is planning to visit the exposition as late in the summer as possible. Moreover, the fair is still far from complete, and will not present a finished exhibit until after next month.

MISSION IS SECRET.

Catholics Believe That Cardinal Satolli Is Not Here for Recreation Alone.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—(Special.)—That Cardinal Satolli has come to the United States upon an important mission, is the opinion of many Catholics, in spite of the statement that the cardinal is here only for six months' recreation.

In speaking of the matter to a representative of The Gazette today, a prominent priest said:

"I have no doubt that the cardinal has another object in coming to this country beside recreation. It is preposterous to think of such a thing as a cardinal taking six months' vacation. No cardinal ever has done such a thing, for he has entirely too many important transactions for that. But he evidently wishes his mission kept secret, for it is possible that, were it made known, it might not be accomplished."

Cardinal Satolli, who is now in New York, will be the guest of Archbishop Ryan on Monday or Tuesday of next week, before he goes to Spring Lake, N. J., where he will attend the wedding of Miss Margaret Frances Maloney, daughter of Mr. Martin Maloney of this city, to Louis Carberry Ritchie of Washington, on June 22.

ARCHDUKE, ARRAYED IN SHIRT AND SWORD, CHARGES DINERS

Chorus Girls Make Spectacle of Drunken Nobleman in Vienna Hotel—King George Heartbroken Over Daughter's Unhappiness.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

DRESDEN, June 13.—The death of old King George of Saxony is now expected any day, and persons close to court say that the king, even if he is not unconscious, has lost all interest in everything, and in fact, has been that way ever since the death of Princess Johann George, born Duchess Isabella of Wurtemberg, who died suddenly at the age of 33. The king was always said to be heartbroken because his second daughter, Princess Maria Josepha, who was married to Archduke Francis Joseph of Austria, is very unhappy in her marriage. The dissipation of the archduke is daily growing worse, and all Vienna is speaking of his debaucheries, while his young wife is an object of sympathy to everybody.

Only a few days ago the archduke dined with a number of chorus girls in a Vienna hotel. When he was intoxicated the women undressed him, leaving him only his shirt, and handing him his sword pushed him into the public dining room, where he created a great commotion by trying to charge the numerous diners. Two men, who tried to stop him, knowing who he was, were struck down by his sword and are said to be in a serious condition. Several policemen had been called and they succeeded in arresting the duke, who was then placed in a cab and sent to the imperial palace, while the emperor was informed of the affair, and immediately banished him from Vienna.

COLONEL GUFFEY GOES TO ST. LOUIS

Will Not Tell What He Intends to Do With the Pennsylvania Delegation.

PARKER NEEDS MANY VOTES

Col. J. M. Guffey went to St. Louis last night to attend a meeting of the committee on arrangements for the Democratic national convention. He declines to say where the 68 votes from Pennsylvania will go, and there was a very strong intimation that no decision would be reached until the delegation is landed in St. Louis.

It is gathered that the Democratic leaders expect that it will take at least two ballots to decide who is to receive the nomination for president. The winner must have 667 votes, or two-thirds of the entire membership. It is also learned that if the nomination of Judge Parker does not come on the second ballot the opposition to him may be able to hold enough strength to prevent his selection. Everything possible is being done by the Parker agents to land the Pennsylvania delegation. Col. Guffey insists that his sole interest is to secure the nomination of a man who can win. He does not say whether or not he believes that Parker is the man.

Parker Needs Many Votes.

At present 742 of the 1,000 delegates have been elected. Of this number 260 are actually pledged to Parker. There are 248 uninstructed, 152 elected for Hearst and the balance are for favorite sons. By claiming the votes of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky and Virginia, Parker's total is swelled to 402, or 285 less than enough to nominate.

The following table shows how the delegates elected are apportioned:

The states and territories which have not elected are Arkansas, Mississippi, Indian territory, Illinois, North Dakota, Texas, Minnesota, Vermont, North Carolina and Missouri. Of these Mississippi is said to be certain for Parker and his chances in Illinois are good. They have a combined vote of 72. This would bring Parker's probable total to 474.

Think Citizens Are Bluffing.

The talk of a Citizens' ticket this fall is generally considered to be a bluff. It would be difficult to see how the Democrats could afford to combine with the Citizens in a presidential year, especially when Col. Guffey is likely to be made chairman of the Democratic national committee. City Chairman James A. Clark was asked yesterday if the Democrats would fuse with the Citizens in the naming of a legislative ticket. His reply was that it was difficult for him to see how they could.

Murry A. Verner yesterday said that the plan to put a ticket in the field is under consideration. It is probable that the scheme will be kept there. The prime movers in the fusion game are some county officials who would like to figure out a way of succeeding themselves. They were elected on the Citizens' ticket and realize that it will be necessary to have Republican nominations to win next year. By bluffing about making a fight this year, these men are credited with having the thought that the Republicans will take them into camp in order to prevent a contest. The Republican managers are enjoying the situation, but have no intention of taking the bait.

ENOUGH ANARCHY SAYS PEABODY

Governor of Colorado Explains Reasons for Calling Out the State Troops.

MINERS' ATTORNEY ARRESTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., June 13.—"I think the war is nearly over," said Gov. Peabody today. "I have news from Gen. Bell that the Cripple Creek mines are open and running today and there is comparatively little disaffection among the men. There is no news of further trouble or any likelihood of any."

Gov. Peabody today sent the following reply to a message from the industrial council of Kansas City, condemning his action in regard to military rule:

The fact that your council indorses the assassinations, train wrecking and dynamiting by the lawless element in the Cripple Creek district but proves the necessity for my present action in suppressing all such persons from the soil of Colorado. Become wise before you attempt to teach.

Gov. Peabody today sent the following dispatch in reply to a request from an eastern newspaper for a statement of his reasons for permitting Colorado troops to dump 91 union miners over the Kansas line, leaving them, it was alleged, destitute on the prairie, miles from habitation:

The reason for deporting strikers and agitators from Cripple Creek was the dynamite outrage of June 6, whereby 14 non-union miners were instantly killed and the subsequent street riots and killing of two non-union miners by the same element. Suitable provisions were sent on the same trains with the agitators. No cases of hunger or suffering are reported.

Strike Was Arbitrary.

The constitution of Colorado commands the suppression of insurrection by such means as are necessary. The statement published from the headquarters of the Western Federation of Miners to the effect that the present strike was called by referendum vote is erroneous and false. The strike was arbitrarily called by the executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners and protested against by three-fourths of the miners in the Cripple Creek district. The eight-hour day had been established and recognized for 10 years past, and employer and employe were satisfied and working in harmony. Rioting, dynamiting and anarchy has had its day in Colorado.

C. G. Kennison, president of Miners' Union No. 40 of Cripple Creek, was arrested this afternoon by City Marshal Moore of Goldfield as he was going to miners' headquarters in Denver. The charge against him is murder, alleging participation in the blowing up of the Independence station with dynamite. Kennison declared that he knew nothing about the explosion.

CRIPPLE CREEK COL., June 13.—A number of arrests were made today, the most important being that of Frank J. Hangs, attorney for the Western Federation of Miners. The arrest was ordered by Gen. Bell. Mr. Hangs was brought from Victor to Cripple Creek and placed in the "bull pen." Orders were given that he be not allowed to communicate with anybody.

Soldiers After Miners.

Gen. Bell said, in connection with the arrest: "It was necessary for the peace, quiet and good of the county of Teller and the state of Colorado."

The contemplated withdrawal of troops has called out a protest from the Citizens' Alliance and Mine Owners' association, and it is likely that Gov. Peabody will be asked to continue the soldiers in the field for an indefinite period.

Gen. Bell sent out soldiers on horseback this afternoon to capture about 40 armed men, who, the military authorities declare, are hiding in the mountains north of Cripple Creek, and are prepared to resist arrest. The searching expedition is equipped for four days' absence.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, an elderly member of the Victor Miners' Union, who has been imprisoned in the "bull pen" since June 7, has been removed to the county hospital. He is suffering with kidney and stomach trouble, resulting, it is alleged, from blows received in the riot in the streets of Victor. He formerly was sheriff at Plattsburg, N. Y.

WORKED HARD AT NIGHT, STUDIED DURING DAY

BALTIMORE, June 13. — (Special.)— Among the students who will be graduated by the Johns Hopkins university tomorrow with a degree of bachelor of arts is Charles H. Saylor of this city, who, during his course at the university, has performed the almost impossible feat of working eight hours each night as clerk in the registry division of the Baltimore postoffice, attending his classes at the Hopkins during the day, sleeping only about six hours and living on but two meals daily. Yet he has managed during his course to stand second on the class roll, and will graduate with high honors. He is 28 years old.

KUROKI DEFEATS REAR GUARD: LOSS IS EIGHT HUNDRED MEN

formation, but a non-commissioned officer told a correspondent that all the troops were retreating from Tsaichou. Before he could say anything further he was reprimanded by a captain. Stragglers are closely watched by non-commissioned officers to prevent them from talking.

A native messenger just in from the Russian camp east of here, reports that there are many wounded men there.

LIAO-YANG, June 13.—The Japanese are reported to be fortifying Laodun (which cannot be located on available maps) and along the railway from Fu-Lan-Tien to Tandzafan. A strong advance guard is occupying Siuyen, which is being fortified. Japanese scouts have been seen at Hai-Cheng and on the Kaiing road.

Kuroki Still Fortifying.

Gen. Kuroki remains at Fung-Wang-Cheng, where the fortifications have been strengthened. The Japanese have retired from Saimatze, which has also been abandoned by most of the inhabitants owing to the complete exhaustion of supplies. Japanese forces are also reported to be occupying Ai-Yan-Yamin.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 13.—(Special Cable.)—Unless there is a change for the better in the far east very soon the czar will himself go to the front and see for himself just what the situation is and why it is that his armies are being defeated. His majesty has since the first reverses to the Russian arms been disposed to go to the front, but has been dissuaded.

The general staff has received the following dispatch from Maj. Gen. Karkovitch, dated June 12:

"There was no change June 9, June 10 and June 11 in the position of the troops in the neighborhood of Wafangow station. Small outpost skirmishes occur daily. The attempts of the Japanese to drive back our posts south of Wan-Fang-Tien have been checked by the forward movement of our Cossacks.

Quiet on the Coast.

"All is quiet on the western coast of Liao-Tung. The enemy's ships appear from time to time, but do not approach near the coast. The Japanese have not advanced from Siu-Yen. According to intelligence received they are entrenching there."

No information reached the general staff tonight regarding the reported ambushing of Russians at Pu-Lan-Tien, as the result of which they were alleged to have lost 900 men. The only thing of the least significance in this connection is the short dispatch received from Maj.-Gen. Karkevitch, which was sent June 12, the day the battle is said to have occurred. Gen. Karkevitch does not mention the Pu-Lan-Tien fight, of which the authorities presume he would have heard had it occurred. His dispatch only covered events up to the preceding day.

Up to a late hour tonight nothing further had been heard from Port Arthur.

The reports of continuous skirmishing along the railway south of Wafandien are taken to show that the Cossacks are keeping the Japanese busy in protecting their rear. While heavy fighting is not regarded as being imminent, a more or less severe brush with the enemy is likely at any time.

Reserves Called Out.

One division of the army reserves of the St. Petersburg district has been called out. Half of this division goes to the front and the other half will be distributed among the garrisons in central Russia, replacing active troops ordered to the front.

Renewed skirmishing is reported in the neighborhood of Siu-Yen, but there is no other confirmation officially of the engagement reported last night as having occurred 30 miles southeast of Hai-Cheng, in the direction of the Fung-Wang-Cheng road, which was said to have resulted in the loss of two Japanese battalions. Should this report turn out to be true it would show that the Japanese are advancing toward Hai-Cheng by two roads, as the column reported engaged must have been different from the one which drove out the Russians from Siu-yen, on the road further south.

While the imminence of a decisive battle between the two main armies is distinctly discouraged, news of fighting of a rather heavy character is anticipated. The lack of official dispatches from Kuropatkin during the last 48 hours is regarded as significant.

The London Standard's St. Petersburg dispatch saying that a telegram had been received from Vice Admiral Skrydloff announcing that he recently left Vladivostok with the Russian squadron and engaged a Japanese squadron off Port Arthur is denied at the admiralty. No such dispatch has been received from Skrydloff, whose squadron, according to the last advices, is still at Vladivostok.

Russia will not heed the British representations in regard to the action of the Russian government in declaring rice and other foodstuffs to be contraband of war. The Russian position in relation to foodstuffs being contraband covers only full cargoes destined for Japan, where the assumption is that they are designed for the use of the enemy's army.

The Russian consul at Chefoo reports the persistence of rumors there of a sea fight near Port Arthur. His report is on a line with previous reports to the effect that two Russian and four Japanese ships have been lost. The ultimate result of the fight is not stated. As there is no confirmation of the report from any other source the authorities here express doubt as to its accuracy.

INDIANA NEWSPAPER MAN LOST AT CHEFOO

Hector Fuller Started for Port Arthur and Didn't Return. Secretary Hay Notified.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHEFOO, June 13.—Hector Fuller, a staff correspondent of the Indianapolis News, who left here recently to make a third attempt to enter Port Arthur, has not been heard of since Friday and grave fears are entertained for his safety.

Fuller was last seen Friday by Stanley Washburn, a correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, with whom he had arranged to communicate his movements. At that time Fuller was leaving the Miao Tao islands, 45 miles south of Port Arthur. It is believed that he has either entered Port Arthur, been captured or drowned.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Telegrams have been received at the state department from Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge asking the department to exert itself to find some trace of a missing American war correspondent, Hector Fuller, of the Indianapolis News, supposed to have been captured either by the Russians or Japanese. The state department is asked to request the Russian embassy and the Japanese legation here to cause their governments to make search for the man.

Capt. Lake Goes to Convoy Topepo Boat to New Owners.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Capt. Simon Lake, inventor of the submarine torpedo boat, Protector, and probably the one man living who is perfectly familiar with all of the machinery of the little fighting engine, has booked a passage on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., which sails from New York for Bremen, Germany, tomorrow. There is no doubt that Capt. Lake is to meet his boat at some point which has been designated, probably at some port on the Mediterranean. Although no definite statement will be issued by the Lake company, the stockholders have been made aware by informal communication that the Protector has been purchased by the Japanese government, and is now bound abroad lashed to the deck of the Norwegian steamship Fortuna.

BALTIC FLEET ACTIVE.

Forty Russian Warships Sighted Off an Island South of Sweden.

LONDON, June 13.—(Special Cable.)—The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Hamburg stating that a private telegram received there states that a large Russian squadron composed of 40 large and small warships, probably the Baltic fleet, passed the island of Bornholm to the south of Sweden, following a westerly course.

It cannot be ascertained whether this is a trial trip of the fleet or actual departure for the far east. Commenting on this, the Mail says, that in all probability, it is merely a practice cruise of the part of the fleet, as most of the battleships are known to be in too backward a condition to put to sea.

BLOODY BATTLE FOUGHT IN JUSTICE'S OFFICE

'Squire Needling Resents Remarks of Railroad Officers and Fierce Fight Results.

With the doors of his office locked, Justice August J. Needling of Millvale and Nicholas Wallish, an employe of the justice, fought a bloody battle in the office with Special Officers Caldwell and Mehan of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night. The justice and Wallish used their fists, while it is alleged the officers used a "billy" and a revolver.

While the battle raged a young woman employed as a stenographer by Needling screamed for help and her cries and the noise made by the men aroused the neighborhood and caused much excitement. It is alleged that while the men fought one of the railroad officers drew his revolver and pointed it at the justice. Needling's call for help was heard by Frank Elber and he broke a window and climbed into the office and the railroad officers, covered with blood, were ejected from the building.

Information was later sworn out by the railroad officers against Needling before Alderman Walter Wadsworth of Allegheny. Needling gave bail for a hearing tomorrow at 1 p. m. on a charge of assault and battery. Needling alleges the fight was the result of his refusal to hear railroad cases brought to his office. The fight was started when Needling attempted to put Caldwell and Mehan out of his office for using abusive language.

Justice Needling after the fight stated he intends to bring suits for assault and battery, pointing firearms and disorderly conduct against the officers.

COUNCIL MEETINGS.

Sensation Looked for at McKeesport Meeting Failed to Materialize.

The sensation expected last night at the meeting of McKeesport common council did not materialize. Councilman Daniel Stratton, who had previously talked of graft in several departments, only protested against the street and fire departments buying feed from dealers instead of advertising for bids annually. The city controller stated the city is saving money by doing so. Conference committees from both branches of council failed to award the contract for the new garbage furnace.

The resignation of William Orth, auditor of Etna borough, was accepted at the meeting of council last night. Plans for a new borough building were ordered.

Edgewood council last night dismissed Ordinance Officer Henry Simm, and refused to pay the Pennsylvania Water Company for four days during which the water was turned off.

The auditors' report presented to Wilkinsburg council last night shows a shortage of $3,656.87 in the accounts of Watson V. Jones, former borough clerk.

DROWNING MEN DRAG RESCUER TO DEATH

Three Young Fellows Perish in a Coke Plant Dam, Near Greensburg, Pa.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., June 13.—Locked in each others embrace, the dead bodies of three young men were tonight taken from the dam at the Mutual No. 4 plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, Mt. Pleasant township.

The dead:

NEWTON STUCHEL of Indiana, 24 years old and married.

CHARLES HOBURN of Kecksburg, 18 years old and single.

OSCAR NEWBURG of Greensburg, 17 years old and single.

All were employed by Jacob Stuchel in the operation of his steam saw mill near Unity. Hoburn and Newburg got beyond their depth, while wading in the old watercourse of a tributary of the Big Sewickley, which supplies the water for the dam. Both sank in 15 feet of water and in their frantic efforts to return to the bank they got farther out into deep water. Frank Stuchel, a 10-year-old son of the proprietor of the saw mill, gave the alarm. When Newton Stuchel reached the dam the drowning boys had gone down for the second time. He plunged in and grasping Hoburn by the leg, was making rapid progress toward the bank, when Newburn caught him about the neck. Hoburn then grabbed him. He fought to get loose, but the boys refused to relax their hold upon him and all three sank to the bottom of the dam.

It was not until four rescuers dived to the botton and placed ropes about their bodies that they were brought to the surface. Stuchel was a bridegroom of only a week, having married the daughter of a Unity township farmer. He was a foreman at the sawyers' camp. The bodies were brought to Greensburg and prepared for burial.

Committee Considers Demands.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, PA., June 13.—(Special.)—The wage committee of the Amalgamated Workers met in session this morning to consider the demand for a reduction of 15 per cent in the wage scale, asked for my the manufacturers. The conference lasted all the forenoon without the committee coming to a decision as to the portions of the foot notes of the convention scale, to be eliminated, so as to offset the reduction asked for by the manufacturers. There is no immediate hope of a satisfactory adjustment of differences with the manufacturers.

INDEPENDENT COAL MEN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Operators and Shippers Asked to Combine Against Railroads and Corporations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Independent bituminous operators and shippers of Pennsylvania will tomorrow receive a call to action from the Philadelphia committee which is directing the movement to effect a permanent organization. This association is to be known as the Bituminous Coal Trade League of Pennsylvania Operators and Shippers, and its object will be to protect its members from the "ruinous consequences of railroad discrimination on the one hand, and assisted competition of the gigantic corporate coal concerns on the other."

The call explains the necessity for the organization and extends an urgent invitation to all to participate in a meeting shortly to be held in this city. This meeting is to be called by former Judge J. B. McEnally of Clearfield, acting upon request for those concerned.

The purposes of the organization are briefly stated in the circular, as follows:

1. To take legal action to obtain redress for wrongs and losses caused by railroad discrimination in the various direct and indirect forms it takes against this small coal operator.

2. To have a permanent organization protective of the interests and rights of all its members, capable of representing them when injustice is done and strong enough to compel recognition and fair treatment.

3. To take measures calculated to prevent unfair competition from the big bituminous coal corporations, all of them now more or less identified with railroad interests, to the end that the independent operator shall not be crushed between the railroads and the soft coal trusts.

Such an organization uniting in its membership the independent bituminous coal operators and shippers of Pennsylvania will have an influence and power for good which must be felt from the start. Experience has taught the small operator that, acting alone, he can do little against the powerful combination of the railroads and the big companies.

William C. Bovard Dead.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 13.—(Special.)—William C. Bovard, aged 90 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. McCartney, wife of Dr. J. S. McCartney, today. He was one of the oldest residents of the town. He was born near Leechburg in 1814. He engaged in business in Leechburg and later went to Dubois, where he was prominently known in business and banking circles. He returned to Leechburg and was in the banking business, retiring nearly 20 years ago. He was married to Miss Jane Fitzgerald of near Leechburg. Three children were born of this union, but one, Mrs. McCartney, surviving. His widow is still living. For several years Mr. Bovard had resided in Washington. He was a Republican and a member of the Presbyterian church.

Police Took Charge of Child.

The East End police yesterday took from Mrs. Thomas Sprague, 627 Terrace street, her seven-year-old stepdaughter, who, it is alleged, she has been abusing. It is claimed that for several weeks past she has compelled the little one to sleep out of doors, and on Sunday last she is said to have struck her with a club. The Humane society was notified and Agent H. S. Shaw last night took action in the matter.

WANTS TO MARRY AGED MILLIONAIRE

Woman Sues Meyer Guggenheim for $10,000 for Breach of Promise.

ANXIOUS TO HAVE CASE TRIED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 13.

Meyer Guggenheim, aged 76, a multimillionaire and head of the American Smelting & Refining Company, is sued for $100,000 damages for breach of promise in an action brought by Hannah McNamara in the supreme court. Justice Clarke denied today the application to have the case placed on the preferred cause calendar.

The plaintiff alleges that about March 29, 1900, Guggenheim promised to marry her, and that they mutually agreed that the marriage should take place within a reasonable time. About February 1, 1901, it was arranged that the marriage should be celebrated on April 1 of that year. Before that time Mr. Guggenheim fell ill, and in consequence the marriage was postponed for a reasonable time. Finally, on February 3, 1903, she alleged he agreed to marry her April 1, but did not carry out the agreement.

The complainant made affidavit in support of the motion for preference on the calendar, in which she states that Guggenheim is 76 years old. She believes her cause of action is one that will not survive, but will abate with his death; that he is suffering from various physical ailments and infirmities, and that it is not likely that he can live any length of time. She states that she last saw Guggenheim on April 2 of this year, at which time he complained that he was in feeble health, and he advanced that as the reason why he had not carried out his promise.

She states she has, until this present year, been in constant association with Guggenheim for more than 25 years, and that since the date of their engagement, in February, 1901, she has looked forward to no means of support or maintenance except as he could provide for her. She further says that in the ordinary course of events the case would not be reached for two years, and that she is apprehensive that he will not live for that time.

Lawyer Edgar M. Leaventritt, of counsel for Guggenheim, made an affidavit in which he said that he had seen Guggenheim and that he is hale and hearty and that there is no foundation for plaintiff's allegation that he is feeble.

GUGGENHEIM DENIES WOMAN'S ACQUAINTANCE

Aged Millionaire Says Hannah McNamara Will Get No Money from Him.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 13.—Meyer Guggenheim, who is occupying with his daughters "The Loeb," in Pond avenue, West End, had just returned from a drive this evening when interviewed concerning the breach of promise suit instituted by Hannah McNamara. The old gentleman looked in perfect health and preferred having his lawyers speak for him. He declined at first to discuss the suit, but later interposed a general denial that he had ever promised to marry the woman.

In answer to a direct question, Mr. Guggenheim said he knew the McNamara woman by sight, "but not a living soul ever saw me with the woman. My lawyers are at liberty to talk if they will. I deny the charges. To think of me promising to marry a common woman is more than ridiculous. I know the woman by sight. She was also known by the name of Meyers. She brought a similar suit against me three years ago. At that time I was ill, and the judge would not accept her complaint."

Mr. Guggenheim said he was surprised when he learned of the suit, and smiled when his poor health was referred to as hinted at by the McNamara woman.

"I never felt better," said the aged millionaire, "and anticipate remaining so for years to come."

Mr. Guggenheim came to the seashore two weeks ago. Six of his children, two daughters and four sons, are occupying cottages either at West End or Elberon. They are Mrs. Albert Loeb and Mrs. Cora Rothschild, Daniel, Simeon, Sol and Benjamin. Two other sons are in Europe.

Mr. Guggenheim said the woman was evidently looking for money. "I never received a letter from this woman and was never in her company. Why she brings suit I am unable to say. If she ever lived in Long Branch I did not know it. It is said, however, that the woman summered here two seasons ago.

"She will get no money out of me."

AMERICAN RESTRICTIONS HURT BRITISH TRADE

Coastwise Regulations in the Philippines Are the Subject of Negotiations.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 13.—Lord Muskerry (Conservative), in the house of lords this evening questioned the government concerning the reservation of other countries of coastwise trade to vessels of their own nationality and especially to the proposed application to the Philippine islands of the coastwise laws of the United States. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne replied. He said the proposed restrictions in the Philippines seemed inconsistent with certain declarations of the United States government at the time of the drawing up of the treaty of peace.

The British representative at Washington the secretary added, had been asked to call the attention of the United States government to the matter and point out the detrimental effect of the restrictions on British trade. The discussion was still proceeding at Washington, and it would not be in the public interest to enter into details regarding the exchange of views. The new law did not take effect until 1906. Therefore there was plenty of time to consider the matter.

"PROFIT" DOWIE FLEES LONDON

Hotels Refuse to Accommodate Him, So "Elijah III." Goes to France.

HAD SLANDERED THE KING

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, June 14.—London has taken a leaf out of New York's book and Dowie, "the profit," as he is dubbed here, has fled from England and none too soon. His slanders on the king had closed every hotel to him and a movement was on foot for a protest against his use of the British lines whereon to cross the Atlantic. Another 24 hours in England and public opinion might have forced "Elijah III." to travel as a "two-pounder" emigrant. His flight was hurried and without dignity and his most important meeting—that on Zion finance—was addressed by another speaker.

There were mysterious happenings yesterday morning at the Hotel Cecil, where Dowie was staying. An intimation had been conveyed to him that his rooms were required. Thus two problems faced him—what hotel of repute would take him in and keep him and how could he then keep his whereabouts secret. Dowie had informed the congregation of the faithful that he would address them at Zion tabernacle at 10:30 a. m. The faithful waited in vain. The two problems were unsolved. Soon after 9 o'clock Mr. Cantel, the London overseer of the Zionist church, left the hotel to reconnoitre and to report. It transpired that further search had been made for a hotel that would open its doors to Dowie, and the search had been in vain.

A rumor now spread that the general overseer might not address the meeting that day and the rumor in this case did not lie. At 1:45 Mr. Cantel went away once more. He returned in a two-horse open brougham. "Elijah III" was at last going to leave, but he was going to France. Mrs. Dowie, "Dr." Dowie, Gladstone Dowie and Mr. Cantel entered the conveyance, which was now closed, and there was a rapid drive by a roundabout route to Charing Cross station. Tickets for the 2:20 p. m. boat express to Folkstone for Boulogne had already been taken and the party at once entered a reserved saloon carriage. The aid-de-camp, Stern, traveled third-class. One deacon only saw the general overseer off. There were no handshakes and no good-bys. Dowie's campaign was over.

LOOP RIDER FELL AND WAS BADLY HURT

Daring Bicycle Feat Will Be Done by New Rider at Labor Carnival.

With all the picturesque features of an international midway, and with, perhaps, the best "big show" that has been seen in this vicinity, the United Labor league carnival at Colosseum park, yesterday afternoon and last night, attracted almost 10,000 people. Some delays on Saturday prevented the performance of some of the more daring feats on the program, but everything was adjusted properly yesterday and last night things were running smoothly.

In all the events only one accident occurred. Tony Castalino, the Italian who loops-the-loop on a bicycle, fell in both the afternoon and evening performances. He appeared last night crippled from his two previous falls and was scarcely able to mount the incline, down which he dashes at terrific speed before entering the circle. This feat is made doubly hard by a gap of 14 feet at the top of the loop. In both trials yesterday Castalino missed the track after making the loop and fell heavily. The man was unconscious after both accidents and his place will be taken today by his brother.

Without doubt the most hair-raising act that is shown is the bicycle ride and dive of Marvelous Marsh, who, riding down a long incline on a bicycle, makes a flying dive of 85 feet into a tank containing six feet of water. This feat is rivaled by that of Dana Thompson, who dives from the top of a ladder 110 feet high. A back somersault in mid-air adds to the daring of this plunge. Another bicycle trick is that of Van Norman, who comes down a steep incline and shoots in mid-air through an open space of 32 feet. Harry Lustig rides down a long ladder on a wheel as though coasting down a hill. The Todd Judd family and the Dunbar family in their acrobatic and aerial performances are as good as any ever seen.

Passenger Train Runs Into a Freight at Crossing, Damaging Engine and Cars.

Passenger Train 216 of the Erie & Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania Lines ran into the middle of a freight train crossing over the tracks at Rochester, Pa., about 8:30 p. m. yesterday, smashing three hopper cars and slightly damaging the engine of the passenger train. No one was hurt seriously. A brakeman named Hunter, living in Island avenue, Allegheny, suffered a slight contusion of the leg.

The smallness of the damage was due to the fact that the passenger train was under orders to stop, and it is supposed that the failure to do this in time was caused by the sand not working. The freight train was west bound and was crossing over from the west bound freight track of the four-track system east of Rochester to the west bound track of the two-track system west of Rochester. The accident tied up three of the tracks for a short time.

SISTER'S TRICK

But All Came Out Right.

How a sister played a trick that brought rosy health to a coffee fiend is an interesting tale:

"I was a coffee fiend—a trembling, nervous, physical wreck, yet clinging to the poison that stole away my strength because for a fleeting moment it stimulated my weakened powers. I mocked at Postum and would have none of it.

"One day my sister, Mrs. U. S. Showalter, substituted a cup of crisp, hot Postum for my morning cup of coffee, but did not tell me what it was. I noticed the richness of it and remarked that the coffee tasted fine, but my sister did not tell me I was drinking Postum for fear I might not take any more.

"She kept the secret and kept giving me Postum instead of coffee, until I grew stronger, more tireless, got a better color in my sallow cheeks and a clearness to my eyes, then she told me of the health-giving, nerve-strengthening, life-saver she had given me in place of my morning coffee. From that time I became a disciple of Postum and no words can do justice to the good this cereal drink can do, I will not try to tell it, for only after having used it can one be convinced of its merits." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days' trial shows Postum's power to rebuild what coffee has destroyed. There's a reason.

Wanted Quiet and Got It in a Police Dungeon

John Thompson of Roberts street, while intoxicated yesterday afternoon, took possession of the corridor of the Passavant hospital and announced that all the patients must be turned out at once as he intended to take up his abode in the institution and wanted quiet. Policeman Clarence Forbes lodged Thompson in the Center avenue police station, where his demands for quiet met with little response.

DENY CHILDREN SUFFER WHO ARE EMPLOYED

Parents in Some States Assert Little Toilers Are Enjoying Better Health.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A bulletin on child labor was issued today by the department of commerce and labor. Of children under 16 years employed in the textile industries there are 1087 in Massachusetts, 254 in Rhode Island, 223 in New York, 457 in New Jersey, 1,160 in Pennsylvania, 425 in North Carolina, 830 in South Carolina, 1,193 in Georgia and 223 in Alabama.

In regard to the health of working children the bulletin states that very few of the parents of the children reported for Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri admitted that the health of their children has suffered from the labor required, many claiming that they were in better health than before they went to work.

More than half the children reported for Pennsylvania and Maryland had worked more than one year, but not more than two years. Very few parents admitted that these children had suffered in health. Nearly one-fourth of the Pennsylvania children had worked from two to five years. Many of these were mere boys employed in the breakers, of whom a majority were undersized.

CITY WILL HAVE FERRY AT POINT

Contractors Refuse to Allow Foot Traffic Over Bridge During Repairs.

BIGELOW HIRES TOW-BOAT

Director Bigelow has ordered the Point bridge closed to foot as well as vehicle traffic, and in a few days the city will have a ferryboat running across the river at the Point for the accommodation of West End residents who will be excluded from the bridge until it is completed. This action is made necessary by the refusal of the Pittsburgh Construction Company, which has the contract to rebuild the bridge, to allow any person to cross unless the city gives the company $5,000 to keep the bridge open.

The contract with the company contains no provision regarding traffic on the bridge and the company claims that if traffic is maintained it will be at some expense, as a sidewalk would have to be provided all the time. The contractors claim this arrangement would be at great inconvenience to them. Director Bigelow has rejected the offer of the contracting firm.

A suitable towboat, which is newly built and large enough to accommodate a couple of hundred persons handily, has been found and it has been offered to Bigelow at $2,500 for use until the end of the year, when the Point bridge repairs are to be completed, according to contract. The parties owning the towboat are to operate it.

The landings will be at the north end of the Wabash railroad bridge, on the Monongahela wharf, about 1,500 feet above the Point bridge, and at Nimick's mill on the south side of the river below the Point bridge. On the south side of the river the passengers from the ferryboat will cross the double tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, but the city will keep a watchman at this point to prevent accidents.

In addition to the thousands of people who cross by trolley from the West End and lower districts over the Smithfield bridge, there are hundreds who walk over the Point bridge and have continued to use the bridge since it was closed to vehicles. Many of these are employed in the Allegheny mills, and the ferryboat would be a short cut for them as well as save them the expense of getting across the river by paying street car fare.

The workmen from the West End employed in the mills in Lower Allegheny have been using the Point bridge and crossing to Allegheny over the old Union bridge. If they used the trolley cars and came around by the way of the Smithfield bridge, they would have another long walk from the terminus of the car line down to the Union bridge, or would have to pay another nickle to ride to Allegheny.

WILL MEET TODAY.

Special Session of Presbyterian Presbytery Called—Ministerial Meetings.

Announcement was made at the Presbyterian ministerial meeting yesterday morning that a special meeting of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church would be held this morning in the Second church, Penn avenue. The Rev. Dr. J. A. Aiken of Siam addressed the Presbyterian clergymen on the missionary work being done in that country. An interesting point of information was the fact that the country never had a national debt, paying cash for all improvements.

The Methodist Episcopal ministers were addressed by the Rev. C. W. Smith, the Rev. David Flanigan and the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle. A paper on "Mechanics or Dynamics, Which?" was read before the Baptist association by the Rev. M. E. Hare. The Methodist Protestant ministers discussed the Sunday observance question and suggestions were offered that each association contribute $1,000 towards enforcing the Sabbath law in the two cities.

The Rev. Dr. S. A. Hunter, former pastor of the South Side Presbyterian church, has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Sheraden.

SCHOOL OF METHOD OPENS.

This last department was to have been in charge of the Rev. L. W. Hainer, but he is suffering from an affliction of the throat and his physician has forbidden him to speak. He was also to have delivered a lecture on "The Land and the Book," which was to have extended throughout the week. This lecture has been abandoned. In its place Mrs. Kennedy will conduct a course every morning at 11:05, on "Illustration," and Mr. Phillips, who is a member of the county board of managers, will take charge of Prof. Hainer's classes in the afternoons.

OLD SOLDIERS STILL HOPEFUL

Will Go Into Common Pleas Court No. 3 With Petition for a Memorial.

MAY ASK LEGISLATURE TO AID

The old soldiers have not given up hope of securing the county memorial. Last week, when Judge Macfarlane decided that he would not reopen the case, the veterans set to work to bring the proposition to the attention of the court in a new way.

Under the law two successive grand juries must affirmatively recommend, and the court approve, before the county commissioners can build the memorial. This formal action has been gone through with once, but Judge Macfarlane refused to approve.

The grand jury is now in session and the old soldiers will petition it to recommend that the county build some suitable memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the civil war. If the recommendation is secured similar action will be requested at the hands of the September jury. The veterans are confident of success with both juries.

The petition will come before the judges of common pleas court No. 3 for approval. The members of this bench are Judges Kennedy, McClung and Evans. The soldiers are hopeful that they will look with favor on the project.

In case there is another unfavorable decision from the courts, the legislature will doubtless be appealed to. The relief to be sought at Harrisburg is an amendment to the act which will strike out the section of the law making it necessary to secure the approval of the court. As no money can possibly be appropriated for the memorial until the commissioners fix the tax levy for next year, there will be plenty of time to carry the matter to Harrisburg.

TAKES EXCEPTION.

Director Rynearson of High Schools Thinks Prof. McAndrew Erred.

Director Edward Rynearson, of the Pittsburgh High school, when asked regarding remarks made by William McAndrews, of New York, to the effect that Pittsburgh is at least 10 years behind the times so far as certain aspects of its educational condition are concerened, said that results disproved the statement.

Director Rynearson, while not discussing the teacher's salary controversey, called attention to the case of Sidney J. Watts, a graduate of the High school class of 1901, who is a candidate for a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, Eng., with good prospects of securing the honor. Five boys, graduates of the Pittsburgh High school, have taken honors in their class at Harvard this year, and the director pointed with pride to testimonials from heads of many eastern universities lauding the calibre of material that has been sent forth by the local High school.

THESES WERE READ.

Members of Senior Class, W. U. P. Will Hold Class Day Today.

The 22 graduates of the engineering department of the Western University read their theses in chapel yesterday morning. The entire morning was devoted to this.

Class day exercises will be held this afternoon and the faculty has prepared to put a stop to any attempt at riotous conduct. Dean Carhart said yesterday that a squad of police would be in the hall and that order would be maintained. Members of the junior class are silent as to what they proposed doing, but it is understood they have planned some pranks that will make the afternoon lively.

Evangelization Union to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Allegheny City Evangelization union will be held this evening in the Buena Vista Street Methodist Episcopal church. Reports of officers will be read and new officers will be elected. Addresses are to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Terbush and the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, and by A. M. Schoyer and Albert A. Horne.

Priests Hold Conference Today.

A clerical conference of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the episcopal residence, Congress street. Conferences will be held simultaneously in St. Peter's rectory, Butler, Pa., and St. John the Baptist's rectory, Scottdale.

The Price of Pleasure.

It is hard for a lovely woman to forego the pleasures of the life which she was created to enjoy and adorn. She may have to be busy all day in office or in store, yet she cannot deny herself the social pleasures which are offered her.

But the fatigue is often too great for her, and she suffers from headache and backache as a consequence of over-exertion. Women who are tired and worn out will find a perfect tonic and nervine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures headache, backache and the other aches and pains to which women are subject. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what thanks to give you for your kind favors," writes Mrs Milo Bryant, of Lota, Thomas Co., Ga. "I suffered so much with great pains in my back and the lower part of my stomach and palpitation of the heart, that at times I could hardly lie down. Could hardly get up in the morning, but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I am like a new woman."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Felt Hats for Mountain and Beach Wear.

We have just opened a new line of light felt hats for women—they are summer felts—in light shades, pearl gray and white. They have ever so slight a touch of trimming—just ready to wear.

Women who spend the entire hot season away from the city always have a pretty felt hat by them, no matter how many straws they are owners of.

Although the showing this year is an unusually charming one, the hats are by no means expensive. $7.50, $10.00, $12.00, $14.00 and $16.00.

The Perfect Corset—La Vida.

La Vida is a handsome corset.

Produced with all the painstaking exactitude characteristic of the most expensive custom-made corset.

Every material entering into its construction is the best of its kind. Coutils, lasting batistes and silks—plain or richly embroidered in exquisite color effects and further ornamented with fine lace.

All the boning is of selected pure whalebone, and an absolutely exact fit is attained with La Vida where other corsets fail.

The designers of La Vida have a special system, with curving bias lines which follow the modeling of the figure.

Numerous gores, both at hip and bust, further accentuate La Vida's fit-perfection.

Another point in favor of La Vida is the great choice of style. Some corsets are best for stout women, others for slender, and again, others for the average figure. But among La Vida's many models there is one for every figure.

Among the newest numbers are the long hip effects, which are necessary for wear with the closely fitted skirts now in fashion.

If you cannot decide on the particular corset that best suits your figure, consult our corsetiere—she will be only too pleased to assist with her advice.

Iron and Brass Beds.

To begin with, we carry none but the best—the best iron beds and the best brass beds. Some dealers talk about solid brass beds. They are not practical. The best brass beds we know of have an inner casing of steel covered by an outer casing of solid brass.

So, if you come here to look at brass beds, we'll tell you exactly what the article in question is, and not overcharge you as to price, either.

Our prices on iron beds begin at $2.00 and run along to $25.00.

Brass Beds begin at $25.00 and run up to $100.00.

After you've decided the momentous question as to the best bed, then arises the problem as to the best spring and the best mattress. Well, that, too, is easily solved. We can sell you a neat, serviceable spring for $2.50, or the best National Linked Wire Spring at $6.50. Or, if you think you'd like a Box Spring, we will show them to you at $11.50, $16.00, $20.00 and $25.00.

Mattresses of mixed husk with cotton top at $3.75, and from that price go along easily to $45.00 for the finest gilt edge hair mattress weighing 45 pounds.

The Yaprak Mattress and De Luxe Spring. This is a luxurious combination, indeed. If you toss and are restless o'night, try it. It induces the soundest kind of slumber.

The Yaprak Mattress costs $11.00, the Le Luxe Spring, $11.50; the combination will cost you only $21.00.

Time to Think of Preserving.

Lots of women like to "put up" their own fruits for the winter season, just as many like to bake their own bread, etc. And in the end it's the most satisfactory way, for then you have things just to your taste.

It is to these women that our list of today appeals—we think we have everything ready for the preserving season.

Lightning Fruit Jars—they withstand heat—they preserve the fruit, they are easy to operate. Pints, $1.10 a dozen. Quarts, $1.25 a dozen; Half Gallons, $1.50 a dozen.

Pure Rubber Jar Rings, 10c a dozen.

Fruit Jar Funnels, 10c each.

Preserving Kettles. We recommend aluminum kettles—they are light and easy to handle, and the contents will not "catch." Another great point in their favor is that one does not have to stir the fruit when cooked in aluminum. 12-quart size, $1.80.

Paring Knives, 10c and 25c.

Fruit Presses, $1.50.

Small Fruit Presses, 25c.

Scales, 75c.

If we have overlooked any of the essentials for canning or otherwise putting up fruit, don't think we haven't it in stock, but come to the West Basement and ask for it.

$1.25 Lawn Waists 75c Each.

These waists are of sheer white lawn—they have a pleated front, further trimmed with hemstitching—pleated back and full sleeves. The stock is hemstitched to correspond.

White Persian Lawn Waists, trimmed with tucks and bands of Swiss inserting, full sleeves—a perfect-fitting waist. $1.25.

Silk Gingham Waists in daintiest colors, tailor made—a serviceable waist for traveling. $2.00 each. These have sold all along for $3.00.

Linings for Summer Dresses.

Lawn is the fabric most used for the lining of Swiss, Organdie, Mull, Tulle and other sheer dresses.

At our Lining Counter, first floor, West, we have all colors, including black and white in lining lawn at 18c a yard. This material is 40 inches wide.

SPECIAL—We have a supply of 40-inch lining lawn—the quality that people hereabout ask 15c a yard for, but our price is only 12½c.

Not Much Hot Weather Yet, But Imported Shirts Getting Low.

Never sold so well as this year. Men like them.

But they ought to sell twice as fast, for they are absolutely exclusive patterns, brought over by us from Paris, and duplicated nowhere in this country.

Pleated, white fancy; cuffs attached, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

Tuesday, June 14. 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 16 of this issue.

A. H. Leslie, former director of the department of public safety of Pittsburgh, was yesterday elected superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse to succeed William Hill, resigned. This is a good choice. Mr. Leslie has the executive ability to continue the effective administration of Mr. Hill, and his knowledge of men and affairs will be a great help to him. There is probably no corrective institution under our penal system more difficult of management than the workhouse. It receives a wide variety of inmates, requiring different treatment, and the more efficiently it is conducted the less popular it becomes among those who enjoy its shelter. If conducted like a penitentiary it would soon become a favorite resort for vagrants and need an addition to its capacity every year.

Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge have appealed to the government at Washington to look into the case of Hector Fuller, a war correspondent from Indiana, who was last seen trying to get into Port Arthur. Of course, the government will make inquiries of the Russian government, but beyond that it can do nothing. If any harm has come to Mr. Fuller the responsibility rests with him, because his duty to the public did not demand any such hazard as an attempt to enter a besieged port without a permit. The Russians may have annihilated him and his boat, under the impression that he belonged to the enemy. If, on the other hand, they captured him they are fully justified in holding him indefinitely, or until there are no strategical secrets to expose.

In another column we print from the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association the editorial appreciation of the services of Senator Quay to the industries of this country. Editor Swank knows whereof he speaks and he presents an accurate record of Senator Quay's public service in one cause. It is but a fragment of the dead statesman's work during the period he sat in the senate, for he was active in behalf of the Indians, the public lands and other matters of equal import. He served well the interest of state and nation before his election to the senate. That promotion simply enlarged his sphere of action and influence, and he was tireless in the study and consideration of the great questions of legislation and administration with which congress had to deal.

The pathetic appeal of aged James H. Tyner, former attorney general for the post-office department, to President Roosevelt will hardly be allowed to go without a reply. We think Mr. Tyner unconsciously exaggerates the importance of the president's official proclamation concerning his case when the investigation of the postal scandals was warm in the making, for the public understands that Mr. Roosevelt spoke at that time less with reference to Mr. Tyner individually than by way of expressing his deep feeling upon the subject generally. For the same reason, however, the public will appreciate the depth of feeling of Mr. Tyner that magnifies his perception of the import of the president's words. It is not an occasion, though, that need throw any one else into a fever of excitement.

Gov. Simeon Luz, chief of the board of Filipino commissioners, speaking for himself and associates, declares their visit to this country has been a revelation to them. They now realize what a magnificent country this is and are satisfied that its entrance into their life and history was not prompted by lust of conquest. Had they known years ago what they know now there would have been no war against American occupation of the islands, or the extension of American authority over them. The Filipinos have seen enough in crossing the continent from the Pacific to the national capital to know that the United States has territory of its own to exploit without going over seas for more, and they have seen enough of the results of beneficent government here to know that the Philippine islands are not likely to suffer from its extension to that quarter.

With only nine state conventions yet to be held, and having barely 200 pledged votes, the friends of Judge Parker of New York are making desperate efforts to gather in some of the uninstructed delegates. Especially are they working on the Pennsylvania delegation, but without much promise of success. Col. Guffey and his friends will hold out a few weeks longer and throw their votes to the man they consider the best choice for the party. The Virginia Democrats are in the same position, to the disappointment of the Parker forces. The great majority of the uninstructed delegations are admitted to be "not unfriendly" to Judge Parker, but such negative support is not altogether satisfactory, and that is why the Belmont-Hill combination is expending so much energy before the convention meets.

The Colorado Tyranny.

Under the sharp criticism of press and publicists, Adjt.-Gen. Bell of Colorado has felt called upon to make a statement. He has put the best face possible upon his arbitrary action, but his apology falls short of complete justification. Proceeding upon the assumption that the dynamite outrage at Independence was committed by a union man and with the knowledge that the attack upon the mass meeting at Victor was by members of the union, he has put every member of the union under suspicion of complicity in the crimes of murder and arson.

Supposing that his premises are sound, he would be justified in putting every member of the organization under arrest and in detaining them pending trial. A precedent for such action is found in the case of the "Molly Maguires," who infested the anthracite coal region in Pennsylvania nearly 30 years ago. But Gen. Bell has not held his men for trial. Assuming they are dangerous to society at large, he has simply ordered them to leave Colorado, permitting them to go where they will to prey upon other communities, an act that has no warrant in law, martial or civil.

Then there is the case of the workmen at the Portland mine. The manager of that mine always ran it "open." He never asked whether or not a man belonged to a union and he never permitted a union to dictate terms to him. He selected his miners for qualifications of sobriety and competence. Because some of them were union men Gen. Bell ordered the mine closed and sent an officer and squad to arrest all men found there who were "dangerous to the community." Not a man has been arrested, but the mine is not permitted to resume work because Manager Burns, when requested to discharge all Federation miners, replied: "I will not discriminate. So far as the Portland mine is concerned I am satisfied with the treatment accorded it by the Federation. I am trustee for the stockholders of the company, and it is my duty to them to operate the mine to the best advantage, and that I propose to do."

This is not justice, and nothing that Gen. Bell can say will make it look like justice. It is the same sort of intolerant arrogance that has led the Federationists and their sympathizers to declare that none but union men shall work in mines or mills, and the deportation of men simply because they belong to the Federation is an offense against the principle of liberty underlying all of our institutions. If it had been proven that the Federation as an organization had concocted a conspiracy to commit murder and destroy property and that its members were pledged to that villainy, then it would be Gen. Bell's duty to arrest every member and hold him for punishment. But even then it would not be his privilege to order them deported from Teller county or from the state.

A Social Experiment Station.

Australia has been aptly termed a social experiment station. As usual in socialistic legislation, what is done whets the appetite for more and matters have arrived at a point at which the old party machinery is no longer able to meet the demands made upon it. The regular process of parliamentary government is to carry on the administration through a government party and an opposition party, changing places at intervals. In Australia the Labor party has been making such progress that it is now on a par in parliamentary strength with either of the old parties, so that neither is able to command a majority and the administration of the federal commonwealth recently passed into the hands of the Labor party, although it has only about a third of the membership of the federal house of representatives, which, under the parliamentary system, is the seat of political authority.

This situation is too great an anomaly to continue. The leaders of the old parties agree in declaring that constitutional government cannot be carried on while there are three parties in the house practically equal in strength and with rival programs. The only way out appears to be a coalition of the old parties, and negotiations to that end are now going on. The result will be an obliteration of present party lines and instead of the old competition of Liberals and Conservatives, the new party lines will be drawn between the Labor party, with a policy of state socialism, and a conservative party striving to maintain the old standards of individual liberty and circumscribed state action.

The immediate effect of such a new division of parties will be to displace the Labor party from the balance-of-power position which it holds at present, and which has temporarily thrown the administration in its hands. Its definite recognition as the regular opposition party insures its eventual succession to administrative authority in the ordinary working of the parliamentary system, so that the opportunity will be afforded to see what a Labor party will do when it has custody of the resources of the state. Socialistic aims are frankly admitted by the party leaders. They contemplate the nationalization of industry and a realization of the Utopia described in Bellamy's "Looking Backward." The result of the experiment will be at least intensely interesting and instructive. It will be tried under the most favorable circumstances and if the consequences should happen to be disastrous they would not be irremediable. Australia is so situated that it can afford to concentrate its energies upon internal affairs and social problems. The British empire protects it against foreign foes and it thus has the exceptional advantage of being relieved from the burden of national defense. Its greatest risk is therefore simply that of business embarrassments. If the scheme is a failure the country will go broke, but so long as the British empire stands behind it, it cannot become a lost nation. The social experimentation so far carried on has avoided disasters predicted for it, but ultimate success is still questionable. Admitting everything claimed as regards the benefits of the social legislation enacted in Australia, the obstinate fact stands out that the country does not make the progress it should with its natural resources. Both as regards increase of wealth and population there is a singular lack of harmony, and the public debt is increasing at a dreadful rate. There is something wrong with Australia; something that weakens the springs of action and produces social stagnation. What it may be is now a matter of controversy, but time will tell.

The Bloody Turk.

Reports of the massacre of 2,000 Armenians by Turkish troops come as a reminder of the one real service to the cause of civilization Russia has been wont to perform. When not occupied with other foreign complications Russia has held the iron hand over Turkey and prevented the slaughter of the sultan's non-Mohammedan subjects. True, the bashi-bazouks occasionally did their bloody work before Russia could interfere, but at this time they apparently have no more fear of Russia than of the Armenians themselves.

That these massacres were perpetrated with the sanction of Abdul Hamid and the sublime porte is attested by the irade issued, declaring the Armenians should not be permitted to occupy the villages in the mountains, previously destroyed. The irade did not bid the Turkish soldiers to go forth and slay the villagers, but the sultan and his advisers well knew that would be the result. When Turkish soldiers go to order a village evacuated they esteem it their privilege to murder, outrage and plunder the inhabitants, and if any questions are asked they have always the excuse ready that the villagers resisted eviction.

There are few things imaginable that are more horrible than a raid of Moslem fanatics upon unprotected Gentiles. There is no wonder the shuddering missionaries are sending out appeals to the civilized world to take action to stop this terrible work before it goes farther. The duty belongs primarily to Europe, but the United States may take a hand for the sake of humanity. If it be true that the fleet at Morocco has orders to proceed to Turkey and attend to some pending business with the sultan's government, its timely arrival may assist in preventing the issue of other irades licensing wholesale murder. As for the alleged protest of Russia against the appearance of an American fleet in Turkish waters, it is not worthy of serious consideration. Russia would hardly presume to dictate as to the movement of the American navy upon the business of the United States, even though it might affect the sultan's decision concerning the passage of the Bosporus by the Black sea fleet, and if it did so presume that would be another reason for sending the fleet as an indication that its movements are controlled by no other power.

If it takes "several days" for the visiting Filipinos to see the industries of Philadelphia, how long will take them to see those of Pittsburgh? No allowance made for the difference in speed in the two cities.

As soon as the Japanese heard the rumor that two battalions of their forces had been trapped, they proved that two could work the game and trapped a bunch of Russians, costing the czar 800 men.

An official of the Pennsylvania says "as soon as it is assured that Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated and elected, business will improve." As it is only necessary to count the vote, there's no need to wait.

Western Pennsylvania business pre-eminence is proven again. Sixty per cent of the charters issued by the state during the first three months of 1904 belong within 20 miles of Pittsburgh.

Just now the sweet girl graduate
Doth tell in accents strong
Just what's the matter with the world
And how she'd right the wrong.

London seems to take so kindly to Elder Dowie that a scheme to send Carrie Nation over would doubtless find numerous adherents in this country.

If the gate receipts are pretty large at the world's fair today Uncle Sam may be able to collect that little $500,000 installment that is due tomorrow.

The Democrats are said to entertain "high" hopes over the result next fall. It has long been observed that the party is up in the air.

The latest from Oregon is that the state went Republican by 22,000 majority. And some back counties are yet to be heard from.

Champion Jake Schaefer has cured M. Cure of the idea that he can play championship billiards, though it was a close shave.

Adjt.-Gen. Bell of Colorado should remember that "military necessity" does not excuse disregard of law in time of peace.

The Illinois Democratic state convention meets at Springfield today. Mr. Hearst hopes to be selected as circulation manager.

The weather man has so far recovered confidence in himself as to give us three bright, rainless days in succession.

Between harvesting its wheat crop and engineering a Miles presidential boom Kansas will be quite busy this summer.

Senator Lodge is preparing the outline for the platform. He should remember that "Brevity is the soul of wit."

According to St. Petersburg reports, Gen. Kuroki has the Russians guessing. Evidently the same old guess.

The "Anything to beat Dave Hill" slogan has so far not received an answering flutter from "Wolfert's Roost."

There's one consolation in Judge Parker's silence, Dave Hill isn't saying a word, either.

Two thousand Armenians massacred! The sick man of Europe seems to be looking up.

The missing link in the Wabash has been found and spiked in.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—Something like a panic has been created among the immigration authorities by the present rush of aliens into this city through the cut rates for steerage passage. There was more than the capacity of Ellis island on the hands of the officials today. The total number that can be accommodated without overcrowding is 2,000. This was said to be exceeded by 100 today, with 1,000 more likely to come tonight.

Allowing for a percentage of exaggeration in the reports made by those who desire a restriction of immigration, it looks as if there might be peril of an epidemic on the island if the overcrowding should continue through the hot weather. So far nothing worse than measles has appeared in bulk among the voyagers, but if a more dangerous sickness should break out there might be difficulty in dealing with it under the conditions that would prevail in the immigrant pens.

There is the advantage in the hands of the authorities of being prepared for such a visitation, and the closest watch is kept upon the health of the men, women and children gathered in the detention building while it is settled whether they shall be sent on their way into the interior of this country or shipped back to Europe. There has been no official complaint of overcrowding. It is possible that the men in charge of the reception of immigrants have the work well in hand, even with a $10 rate bringing strangers in much larger proportion than usual. Indeed, there have not been wanting assertions by people who have kept a close eye on the immigration movement in this city that the cut rates have not made matters any worse than they are likely to be at this season in any year.

Seth Low May Take a Hand.

Some speculation is rife as to the possible influence the presence of ex-Mayor Seth Low may have on the political situation when he reaches New York at the end of this week. He has sailed for home on the Oceanic and his friends think that he may take a hand in the campaign, in spite of the understanding that he has never regarded himself as an active worker in politics. The fact that he has been mayor of Brooklyn and Greater New York has never been admitted by him as proof of his taking more than a good citizen's interest in public affairs. Still, when he finds the battle in full swing it may awaken the fighting spirit in him, and cause him to mix in. You never can tell.

Death Must Have Been Pleasant.

Although a man died of spinal meningitis immediately after eating a plate of strawberries and cream today in this city, there is not likely to be any general prejudice against that delicious mixture. Considerable criticism of strawberries have been heard in New York this spring, but mainly because fruit of unpleasant appearance, caused by the rains, has been seen in the markets. It is only fair to the strawberry to say that the individual who died today had been more or less out of health for some time. The strawberries and cream merely finished him.

Poolrooms at It Again.

The merry poolroom gambler is having his innings again, according to general, but indiscreet, report. The "tip" said to have been sent out by someone higher up was taken advantage of and there is no reason to doubt that business has been rushing today in the Tenderloin district. While no one supposed that the recent raids would stop the industry altogether, or that even the withdrawal of the Western Union telegraph service would do worse than administer a casual jolt, it was not expected that the "lid" would be shaken off as thoroughly as seems to be the case.

Telephone service for getting information about the races has superseded the telegraph, and the only individuals to suffer seem to be the telegraph operators who lost well-paying jobs. There may be more raids when the police realize that the poolroom people are operating again, but it is doubtful. The fuss seems to be over for the present.

Don't Mention "Reggie."

No one dares mention the name of Reginald Vanderbilt to a headquarters detective today. The way the young multi-millionaire fooled the vigilant officers at his mother-in-law's house, in Fifth avenue, is something they cannot understand. They do not want to talk about it. It is a blot on their collective escutcheon that only a prompt service of the subpoena on "Reggie" can wipe out. But, as the young man is safe at Newport, that remedy for their wounded pride seems to be far away, indeed.

Hadn't Forgot His Cunning.

When you buy an old fire horse, it is well to know that he has quite dropped all desire to take part in the excitement and bustle of dealing with a fire. "Old Bill" used to be a member of the fire department, but now pursues the more humdrum occupation of hauling a milk wagon about New York. He was moving soberly along Broome street this morning when an alarm was rung in the engine house, and a moment later out came the engine, with the clanging of gongs and general hubbub of a "run." It was too much for "Old Bill."

He threw up his head as he sniffed the battle of fire afar off, and bolted after the engine, taking his milk wagon with him and causing his driver to bump all over the hard wooden seat while he held on with both hands. The excursion ended with "Old Bill" plunging through a show window, and his driver, bruised and frightened in the gutter. The wagon was demolished. The worst of it all was, from the point of view of "Old Bill," that he did not get to the fire after all.

An Awful Reminder.

The murder of a young man by a ruffian who had knocked down the victim's little daughter in his haste to get off a crowded ferryboat is one of the most awful reminders New York has had that the crush on public conveyances, whether on land or water, may at any time lead to a tragedy. The Italian who shot the young father probably had no murderous intent before he found himself shoved about in the crowd hurrying from the boat. It would not surprise New Yorkers to hear of such a crime at the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn bridge at any time.

Hearts on the Right Side.

So many cases of persons with their hearts on the right side have come to the notice of medical men in the last few years, that the discovery of such a freak in Brooklyn awakens hardly a casual interest. The Brooklyn man has a tumor or cancer where his heart ought to be, and the heart is on the extreme right of his chest. The doctors think he will die.

Just to Lighten the Gloom.

Just to lighten up a very gloomy day in New York, word came down the river from Sing Sing early this morning that two murderers had been electrocuted. Both seem to have deserved their fate. There was no fuss made over their taking off, which was accomplished in a workmanlike manner. Over in Hackensack, N. J., there is likely to be the execution of a woman on Wednesday. She committed one of the most horrible murders heard of in this part of the country for many years. There is a sentimental effort under way to save her from the gallows because she is a woman, but in New Jersey they have a way of setting the law above everything, even the natural repugnance of humanity to the strangling of a woman at the end of a rope by a professional hangman.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

That while I live or when I die,
To know my happiness was no one's misery,
That no one's loss did ever swell my gain,
My pleasure never came from other's pain,
My joy was never sorrow to another;
That all should feel I ever was a brother
(So brotherly that it was sure to spoil
My rest to feel it came from other's toil—
Or that my strength was weakness to a neighbor's frame,
My honor purchased by another's shame;
Or that my home or church or land was blest
By what had other hearts and homes depressed).
My wish is this—to only hear the call,
To bless the Hand, the Hand that gives to all.
—Robert Spears in Christian Register.

Only another version or form of the golden rule.

We can't get away from it, try as we may. It is written everywhere, and so ground into us that we can't forget it.

But we may ignore it.

And that is a whole lot worse than acknowledging it and trying to live up to it—trying to live up to it, not acknowledging it and failing to make an attempt to observe it.

Nor do some of us stop here, but do worse by not even doing unto ourselves as we would have others do unto us.

We hear a great deal about the way some people treat others over whom they have some authority, or whom they control in a measure, for that, at very worst, is not to be compared with the shameful manner in which so many treat themselves—their own bodies and souls.

* * * * *

There is scarcely a sickly, homely or disagreeable woman anywhere who isn't mainly, or altogether, to blame for her condition of mind and body.

True it is that she may have been brought up that way, but it is just as true that she might have changed to a better way of living and thus become healthier, happier and handsomer.

Even the girls who go through colleges and finishing schools know hardly anything about themselves—not half as much as they do about golf. Maybe they think that to know themselves would be selfishness, which they are taught to believe is bad form.

Nor do they seem to care to know anything about themselves except as regards their good looks, or the stunning effects they are able to flash up. Instead of inquiring for the reasons why they are nervous, or not feeling well, or their appetites are not good, they run to the doctor, or go visiting somewhere.

They might know why their complexion is sallow or muddy, or why their faces are rough or pimply, or why their teeth ache or have to be scrubbed often in order to keep them clean, but they don't.

Why they are not so taught that they may know all this, and more, is one of the wonders of the age.

* * * * *

There is a lot of talk just now about the higher education of women and its influence on the race and on society. Higher education should and does not injure man or woman, but ever tends to make them better.

Unfortunately, however, that which is so much vaunted as higher education is not the real thing, and that is why it is not fulfilling the promises made for it. Instead of being made acquainted with themselves, and taught how to develop their better qualities, they are taught much concerning things in which they have no personal interest, and which can be of no use to them unless to talk about when they want to impress others with the highness of their learning.

Instead of being instructed in human physiology in such manner that they become interested in themselves as human beings—the most God-like of all created things—they are permitted to skim over it so lightly that they forget the lessons as fast as they learn them.

Great stress is laid on psychology, and much time is devoted to it. They are told that it is great because it treats of the soul, and of things about which so little is known that no one knows whether he knows anything right or not. This makes it a great field for study, but results are nil.

* * * * *

Physical training is another big thing in schools for young ladies. They are given class drills and urged to exercise according to the book, told to expand the chest and toe out.

And the dear creatures take to this sort of thing because they are told that it will give them fine form, good complexion and proper style.

But when the course is finished they are hardly as well equipped for the journey of life as are the girls who took physical training in the kitchen, laundry and sewing room.

Physical training, the study of psychology, a bit of French and a dash of music, may be better than novel reading, loafing around home, or working in an office for a pittance, but they are hardly worth while, because they do not tend to develop girls into the sort of woman demanded by the times.

There is no gymnasium that can beat a well-ordered home. It affords just the sort of exercise that a girl needs, besides giving her a practical training that will make her a most desirable and efficient helpmate for an industrious, enterprising man.

* * * * *

Now comes the sweet girl graduate all dressed in muslins, decorated with diplomas and garlanded in flowers. Her coming is heralded by little brothers, and sisters, proud parents and kind kinsfolk.

Let her come, and show her a good time, for she soon must needs get busy. To long remain idle and inactive will cause her to deteriorate, which is worse than the wear and tear of active life.

What can she do?

That's the question.

Has her physical training fitted her for becoming assistant to her faithful mother, who, though tired and worn, has never faltered once in all her long years, when her children needed either service or sacrifice?

Will she turn in and take a post-graduate course in practical domestic arts?

Or will she give the piano fits, likewise those within earshot, talk French, walk Spanish and do a few Delsarte stunts for the edification of those who haven't enjoyed the advantages of higher education?

Handsome she may be, even stunning, and generally attractive, but what is to become of her unless some rich man concludes to give her his name and his fortune?

Are there enough such men to provide for all the highly educated girls?

* * * * *

Give the girls a practical education first, and if they show an aptness for it, and desire a higher education, then help them to it.

The usual method of giving them the higher education before the practical is like placing the cart before the horse. The horse and the cart are there, and that is about all there is to it.

It is generally conceded that the girl of today is not nearly as proficient in the domestic arts, nor as well qualified for home building and home keeping as were the old-fashioned home reared, home schooled girls whom we now address as mother, aunt or grandmother.

And why is this thus, particularly at a time when we are loudly boasting of our wonderful advances along the lines of civilization and social improvement?

And why are so many of our young women puny, delicate and nervous? And why so many wearing spectacles on their noses, gold in their teeth and store hair on their heads?

But there are just lots of girls who are the real thing.

Are you one of these?

Men who are fit to become good husbands are looking for girls who are the real thing from top to toe.

M. S. Quay's Services

By JAMES M. SWANK.

We copy the following tribute to Senator Matthew Stanley Quay from the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association. It was written by James M. Swank, the editor, who speaks with full knowledge of the facts.

Senator Quay died at his home in Beaver, Pa., on Saturday, May 28, 1904, and was buried on Tuesday, May 31, in the Beaver cemetery, where rest the remains of his father and mother and of other members of his family. He was born at Dillsburg, York county, Pa., on September 30, 1833. At the time of his death he was not 71 years old. He died literally worn out with official cares and responsibilities. A pathetic interest attaches to some remarks which he made a little more than three years ago, in which he seems to have contemplated the early termination of his earthly career. On May 14, 1901, after his last election to the senate, his political friends honored him with a banquet at Philadelphia, at which he delivered an address. He said 'At three score and ten the world grows lonely. Through wilderness almost desolate the stream of life glides darkly toward the eternal gulf. The associations of early existence are gone. Its objects are gained or lost or faded in importance, and there is a disconnection with ideas once clamped about the reason and dissolution of feelings once melting the heart. Occasions like the present stand in pleasant relief—green patches on the sandy delta—and are especially attractive and welcome. My political race is run. It is not to be understood that God's sword is drawn immediately against my life, nor that my seat in the senate is to be prematurely vacated, but that with the subscription of my official oath on the 18th of January my connection with the serious labors and responsibilities of active politics ceased. I have many friends to remember; I have no enemies to punish. In this regard I put aside the past."

Senator Quay did not live to serve out the term for which he had just been elected, dying at three score and ten. In the spirit of the address from which we have quoted almost the last request he made before his death was that the inscription, "Implora Pacem," (pray for peace,) be placed on his tombstone.

Beyond the expression of our sorrow over the loss of a personal friend, whom we have known for more than 50 years, and of a public servant whose wise counsels will be greatly missed in the near future, we make today no further comment on the deceased senator's personal history or public services than to briefly sum up his record, as a United States senator and as chairman of the Republican national committee, in advancing and defending the policy of protection for our home industries. We ask attention to this record. The people of Pennsylvania especially should know it and remember it.

In December, 1887, a crisis in the industrial history of the country was precipitated by the annual message of President Cleveland, in which he advocated a revision of the tariff on lines favorable to the policy of free trade; in other words, he recommended at great length a reduction of duties. In the following month of January Mr. Mills introduced in the house a tariff bill embodying Mr. Cleveland's recommendations, and in July of that year, 1888, this bill passed the house by a vote of 162 yeas to 149 nays, the Democrats having control of that body. The senate, being Republican, declined to consider the Mills bill, and subsequently, on January 22, 1889, passed a substitute for it by a vote of 32 yeas to 30 nays—a close vote. The house never considered the substitute. In June, a few weeks before the passage of the Mills bill through the house, Mr. Cleveland was nominated at St. Louis for re-election upon a platform specifically indorsing the Mills bill, and in the same month Gen. Harrison was nominated for the presidency by the Republicans at Chicago upon a platform in which the Mills bill was denounced by name. The issue between protection and free trade was thus fairly drawn.

Soon after the nomination of Gen. Harrison in June, 1888, Senator Quay, who had entered the senate in March, 1887, and whose reputation as a wise political manager had preceded him, was made chairman of the Republican national committee. The task set for him was the election of Gen. Harrison and a Republican house of representatives. He accomplished both these objects. The country rang with his praises. Everybody conceded that without his skillful leadership the battle for protection would have been lost, for New York, the pivotal state, was carried for Harrison by only about 13,000 plurality. If Mr. Cleveland and a Democratic house had been elected the Mills bill would have been indorsed and tariff agitation on free trade lines would have continued. Mr. Cleveland had already practically destroyed the protectionist sentiment in his own party and Randall was on his deathbed. But Harrison's election, made possible by Senator Quay's generalship, put an end for four years to all free trade hopes. As a logical sequence of the Republican success in 1888 the house of representatives, when it met in December, 1889, undertook the revision of the tariff of 1883 on the lines of the senate substitute for the Mills bill. This revision became a law in October, 1890, and is known as the McKinley bill.

An important service was rendered by Senator Quay in connection with the enactment of the McKinley tariff bill. The bill was jeopardized in the senate by the federal elections bill, the so-called "Force bill," which many Republican senators were determined to pass and which Democratic senators, who were in the minority, were determined to defeat by obstructive tactics, or, in other words, by talking the bill to death. If this scheme of the Democrats had been carried out they would not only have succeeded in defeating the "Force bill," but they would also have prevented the passage of the McKinley tariff bill through the senate, as the time consumed in killing the "Force bill" would have prevented the consideration of the McKinley bill. Senator Quay had the skill and adroitness to rescue the McKinley bill from this serious dilemma by securing the adoption of an order of business which gave it the right of way over the "Force bill." Thenceforward the bill had plain sailing.

Senator Quay's part in securing the defeat of the original Wilson tariff bill in 1894 and the substitution of higher rates of duty for hundreds of its practically free trade provisions cannot be overlooked by the impartial historian. It was of inestimable value to the country. Both branches of congress were now Democratic. The senator did not need to convince Senator Gorman and four or five other Democratic senators of the destructive character of the Wilson bill, but it was vitally necessary that about 30 other Democratic senators should be convinced that, if they did not vote to give at least partial protection to the industries which had been so seriously threatened by the Wilson bill, the bill could never become a law; with the assistance of other Republicans he would deal with it as the Democrats had proposed to deal with the "Force bill." This threat, which was partly carried out by the delivery of the senator's obstructive speech, occupying 12 days in April, May and June, 1894, had the effect that was desired. The tariff bill which became a law was not the original Wilson bill at all. Many of its worst features were eliminated.

In the Bulletin for August 1, 1897, we thus referred to Senator Quay's part in the passage of the Dingley tariff bill of that year: "It only remains for us to express the thanks of our iron and steel manufacturers to the Republican members of the house ways and means committee and the senate committee on finance for the patient consideration they have given to the tariff interests of our vast iron and steel industries. Nor do we forget the valuable aid freely and intelligently given by Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, first, in counseling a wise policy of moderation by our iron and steel manufacturers, and second, in carefully guarding every needed iron and steel provision while the bill was under consideration in the senate. In this latest service Senator Quay has fitly crowned his great achievement when the Wilson bill was shorn of many of its worst features through his efforts."

With this record of unflinching devotion before us it will be seen at a glance how great is the debt of gratitude that the whole country owes to the memory of the Pennsylvania senator whose remains now rest in Beaver cemetery.

PERSONALS

G. D. Shannon, state fish warden, with headquarters in Harrisburg, stopped over in the city last night. Mr. Shannon, who is almost continually running down violators of the fish laws, made 25 arrests during the last two months, the prisoners getting fines of from $25 to $300 each, the last arrest being made Saturday in Ormand, Fayette county. The use of trot-lines, a line with from 20 to 50 hooks, which is set out hours at a time, and the use of dynamite in destroying fish in great quantities are evils that the department has to combat almost continually, especially in the coal mining camps where foreigners depend largely upon fish as a cheap mode of sustenance. The fish wardens, of which there are six in the state, turned in $11,000 in fines during the past year, which were applied toward the maintenance of the fish hatcheries.

J. L. Muncie of Crestline, O., is in Pittsburgh on a business trip. When seen at the Hotel Lincoln last evening he spoke entertainingly on the future prospect of Crestline. He said: "About 20 years ago the town of Crestline, then about 2,000 population, arranged to get its supply of water from a heavy flowing spring five miles east of the place. The borough spent a large sum of money to lay pipes from the spring. Wooden pipes were used and the natural course of the stream was abandoned. This resulted in the farmers claiming damages. Suits were entered against the borough and the case taken to the supreme court. The farmers won and the borough had to pay heavy damages. The water question has been occupying the attention of the borough officials for some time. The supply is insufficient and the Pennsylvania railroad has agreed to install a large roundhouse and repair shop providing the borough officials would guarantee a sufficient supply of water. This will be done. The wooden pipes will be supplanted by steel ones of a much larger dimension and other streams will boom for Crestline."

Herman F. Dillon of Beaver Falls, register and recorder of Beaver county, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. He said that the selection of Attorney General Knox to succeed Senator Quay was giving general satisfaction in Beaver county.

An Italian arrived at the Union station from Cleveland last evening. When the conductor asked him for his fare he produced a steamship ticket and claimed that was all he had. Knowing no agent would sell a steamship ticket without a railroad ticket, the conductor brought him to Pittsburgh. He was turned over to Detective Swinehart and searched. The railroad ticket was found sewn up in a sack which he had placed in his coat pocket. In the sack were drafts to the amount of $4,000, and $100 in bills.

C. Matthews, for the past 10 years a clerk at the Monongahela house, left last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for Wyoming. His health has been failing for some time past.

HOT TIME OVER BRIDGE MEASURE

Administration Councilmen Deprive Twenty-Third Ward of Necessary Improvement.

MEMBERS WERE SWITCHED

The administration decided last night, in common council, that the Twenty-third ward shall not have a foot bridge over the railroad tracks at Melancthon street, although it was shown that a bridge there would prevent many accidents and might save many lives. A bill authorizing that $5,000 be transferred from the Point bridge fund for purpose, and authorizing that a contract be let, was defeated because the bill amanated from the Republican side.

It was presented by C. C. Kohne, one of the common council representatives of the Twenty-third ward, who, unfortunately for the improvement, happens to be a Republican.

The sum of $25,000 had been previously transferred from the Point bridge fund for the Schenley park race track and artesian wells, but the same members who were the authors and chief advocates of the race track and artesian well schemes, were the first last night to oppose the use of any part of the surplus in the Point bridge fund for a bridge in the Twenty-third ward.

First Vote Was Tie.

A. G. Roenigk of the Twentieth ward was the author of the artesian well scheme, but last night he protested against spending any more money from the Point bridge fund, claiming that the balance would be needed for repairs to the bridge.

Although the Republicans insisted their opponents were inconsistent, the latter managed to change the votes of A. V. Simon of the Sixteenth ward and J. J. McKelvey of the Tenth ward, who had previously favored the Melancthon street bridge and succeeded in defeating the project so far as the present term of councils is concerned.

The Melancthon street bridge ordinance was part of the unfinished business. The administration sought to kill the measure by moving an indefinite postponement. The vote on this was a tie, and the motion, therefore, was defeated. The vote was as follows:

Ayes—Bright, Dengler, Frankel, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Meyers, McNally, Porter, Rapp, Roenigk, Shenkan, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger and President Ward—20.

Noes—Bailey, Bergmann, Brand, Collins, Cronmiller, Gibbon, Girdwood, Gulland, Johns, Joyce, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKelvey, McKnight, Perley, Semmelrock, Simon—20.

Changes Were Made.

As soon as the vote was announced the opposition began working with McKelvey and Simon, and the next vote showed they had been pulled into line. The ordinance was then on second reading and open to debate. C. C. Kohne of the Twenty-third ward offered many arguments why the bill should pass, and showed that a failure to pass it would further seriously endanger lives.

W. A. Martin of the Sixteenth ward became incensed at the arguments of the opposition and made a remark that aroused the ire of the other side.

"A writer has said that ingratitude is one of the basest sins," said Martin, "but I believe that its sister sin is inconsistency. These members who voted away $25,000 of the bridge fund for luxuries are tonight opposing the transfer of $5,000 from the same fund for something which is an actual necessity, and the only reason for opposing this bill is that it comes from the hell-hounds of the opposition."

J. W. Rapp and John Hogue replied to Martin, but they were laid low, amid the laughter of the other members and the lobby by Martin's remark that their "judgment was bad." William Brand also took a hand in the debate, and but while he and his colleagues were debating, the other side was lining up the votes to kill the bill. The result showed that they had succeeded. On the motion to pass the bill on second reading the vote was 23 to 17, divided as follows:

Transfer Was Defeated.

Ayes—Bailey, Bergmann, Brand, Cronmiller, Gibbon, Girdwood, Gulland, Johns, Joyce, Kohne, Lewis, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Semmelrock—17.

Noes—Bright, Collins, Dengler, Frankel, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Meyers, McKelvey, McNally, Porter, Rapp, Roenigk, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, Ward—23.

A resolution to transfer $15,000 from the Point bridge fund for the reconstruction of the Schenley park racetrack failed of final passage in common because of the lack of the necessary three-fourths vote to suspend the rules. The Republicans succeeded in preventing the suspension of the rules with the aid of a few Citizens. It was reported at the City hall yesterday that Director Bigelow was opposed to the artesian well scheme.

Ordinances were introduced last night providing for a public comfort at the south end of the East Diamond market, the cost not to exceed $2,000. An ordinance was also introduced authorizing the director of public works to purchase another lot of the C. B. Seeley plan, Nineteenth ward, from Joseph Burchell, at $1,500, the lot to be added to Highland park.

ABNER M'KINLEY RESTS IN WESTLAWN CEMETERY

Funeral Services at Residence of the Late President's Widow, in Canton, O.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANTON, O., June 13.—In the presence of hundreds the funeral services for the late Abner McKinley were held at Mrs. Ida S. McKinley's residence at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A quartet sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The Rev. Dr. O. W. Holmes, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered the funeral address. Dr. Holmes paid a tribute to the dead lawyer and gave a review of his life. After the prayer for the dead the quartet chanted the Lord's Prayer and sang "Come, Ye Disconsolate." The remains were then borne to Westlawn cemetery and interred in the McKinley family lot.

The body reached here this morning, accompanied by Mrs. Anna McKinley, the widow, Dr. and Mrs. Hermanus Baer, Mrs. Endsley, Dr. H. L. Baer, Mr. and Mrs. Schill, Mr. and Mrs. Mathews, William Endsley and H. F. Endsley, all of Somerset; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Duncan, Miss Helen McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. W. Duncan, Maj. and Mrs. Charles R. Miller, Frank Osborne, A. Campbell, Dr. William Moore, Mrs. Daniel Stambaugh and Mrs. Bowman of Cleveland joined the Somerset party at the McKinley home. Senator Fairbanks of Indiana attended the funeral. Many viewed the remains in the historic front room of the McKinley home. There were many beautiful floral tributes. President Roosevelt sent a large wreath of roses, woven with lilies. Secretary of Commerce and Labor Cortelyou gave a large wreath of American beauty roses, carnations and cypress and galax leaves. A beautiful offering was a wreath of roses and galax leaves from Mrs. Ida McKinley. There were clusters and wreaths from Justice and Mrs. William R. Day and from William Siegel of New York. The Stark County Bar association, William Hawk of New York and William McKinley Lodge of Masons sent beautiful tributes.

SELECT HOLDS UP FAVORITE BILLS

Set-Back for Schenley Park Race Track and Artesian Well Plans.

DEFEAT FOR ADMINISTRATION

Two favorite measures of the city administration were held up by select council yesterday. The ordinances transferring $10,000 from the Point bridge fund for the drilling of artesian wells, and $15,000 from the same fund for the reconstruction of the Schenley park race track were both stopped. The race track aroused bitter opposition, particularly from the West End members, who objected to any money being transferred from the Point bridge fund, claiming that the entire appropriation would be needed for the bridge.

Leslie objected to the artesian well appropriation. A. G. Roenigk, the author of the bill, was present and Leslie called upon him for information. Roenigk said it was intended to drill wells in front of the public school houses, also 10 wells in the downtown district and 10 more in the parks. He said the estimated cost of each well was $200, and that $10,000 would be sufficient for 50 wells, or only about half enough for the school houses, but it was the purpose to make a start and to get the money for the remaining wells next year.

Leslie moved that further consideration of the bill be postponed until councils were furnished with information showing the location of the first 50 wells, and this motion prevailed.

H. B. Burns moved that the Schenley park race track appropriation be reduced from $15,000 to $5,000. He said $5,000 would be sufficient for the race track alone, but the administration intended to use the remaining $10,000 to rebuild the grandstand. West and Wainwright spoke in favor of the ordinance.

John J. Shenkel of the West End objected to taking a cent from the Point bridge fund. He said $150,000 had been appropriated for the bridge and that he had ascertained that the whole amount would be needed, although the contract for the structural work alone was only $92,000. Test wells are being drilled to ascertain the condition of the piers, and additional money would probably be required to make the stone piers more substantial. Shenkel moved the indefinite postponement of the ordinance. His motion was lost by the close vote of 14 to 15.

Then Charles Cavett moved that action on the ordinance be postponed until the next meeting of council. Costello declared that if the bill passed the West End people would go into court and get an injunction to prevent any of the Point bridge fund being used for any other purpose. The motion to postpone action was carried by a vote of 17 to 12, the members voting as follows:

Ayes—Armstrong, John Barry, Burns, Casserly, Cavett, Costello, Frederick, Howarth, Lang, Leslie, W. H. McKelvy, Thomas O'Brien, W. D. O'Brien, Schierntitzauer, Schneider, Shenkel, Zollinger—17.

Noes—P. J. Barry, Booth, Edwards, Friedman, William McKelvey, Manion, Ruhlandt, Upperman, Wainwright, Walters, West, Wightman—12.

The resolution directing the city solicitor to exonerate tax liens prior to 1887, because the expense of collecting and advertising would exceed the amount of the taxes, was held up until the next meeting, with instructions that each member of councils be furnished with a list of the names and properties exonerated.

Shenkel, from a special committee, reported affirmatively the ordinance granting the Fischer Foundry and Machine Company the right of way to lay a switch in Edwards alley, South Side, but Shenkel said the ordinance was not satisfactory to any person interested, and moved that it be returned to the general corporations committee, which was done.

Dr. Walters introduced an ordinance prohibiting spitting in public conveyances, public buildings, theaters and railroad stations, and prescribing a fine of $5 for violation thereof. An ordinance was introduced authorizing the employment of a permit clerk in the bureau of building inspection at a salary of $75 a month.

An ordinance further amending the ordinance authorizing the bond issue of $1,122,278 for the payment of judgments, claims and assessments against the city was introduced. This is the third ordinance that has been introduced in councils amending the original ordinance.

The ordinance increasing the salary of E. J. Phelps, the chief clerk or bookkeeper in the controller's office, from $2,000 to $2,500, was passed finally, also the ordinance authorizing the building of a pavilion in the Lawrenceville park, and a large number of street and sewer bills.

PENNSYLVANIA RED MEN GATHERING AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, June 13.—The 45th annual session of the state council of the Improved Order of Red Men in Pennsylvania, will open tomorrow in this city and close on Friday. A district council was held this evening in charge of the great chiefs, for the admission of past chiefs to membership in the great council and for the exemplification of degrees and instruction in unwritten work.

Glass Manufacturers to Meet.

Pittsburgh window glass manufacturers left last night for Niagara Falls to attend a meeting of all window glass manufacturers throughout the country. An effort was made during the past few months to form a selling agency, and was in part successful. At the meeting today it is expected all manufacturers, not already members, will affiliate. The new association will control the starting and closing of the plants, regulate prices for the goods and deal collectively with the labor organizations.

Interesting Paper to Be Read.

The Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania will hold its June meeting this evening in the superintendent's office at the Pittsburgh Carnegie library. This will be the last meeting before the summer vacation. All lovers of the early history of Western Pennsylvania are invited. City Clerk E. W. Hassler, secretary of the society, will read a paper descriptive of the sites in Fayette county where Washington fought his first battles.

Glassworkers to Consolidate.

Another effort is being made to amalgamate the three window glass workers' organizations. The United States Window Glass Workers, which is the third organization, formed in Cleveland recently, will hold a convention, July 12, and the other organizations are asked to send delegates with a view of agreeing upon a plan to consolidate and restore harmony.

Roosevelt Will Not Attend.

Chairman John W. Robinson of the Col. James Anderson monument committee of Allegheny councils yesterday received a letter from President Roosevelt, in which the latter expresses his regret at being unable to attend the unveiling ceremonies of the Anderson monument tomorrow. A letter was received also from Andrew Carnegie, which will be read by Mr. Robinson tomorrow.

Alleged Deserter Is Returned.

LESLIE WILL SUCCEED HILL

Select Councilman Defeats W. W. Murray for Superintendent of the Workhouse.

PLACE PAYS $10,000 A YEAR

A. H. Leslie has been elected superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse, to succeed William Hill, resigned. The new official will take charge as soon as his bond for $20,000 is approved. The position is worth about $10,000 a year. He has not decided when he will retire as a member of select council from the Seventeenth ward.

The board of managers met at the institution yesterday afternoon and elected Mr. Leslie. He received the votes of John A. Bell, George A. Chalfant and Senator John W. Crawford. W. W. Murray, ex-county commissioner, was supported by John F. Steel and Thomas B. Riter. Ira Williams of Bellevue was a candidate, but received no votes.

Mr. Steel said last night that Mr. Murray was the only candidate to ask him for his vote, and, as he knew Mr. Murray better than he did Mr. Leslie, he supported him. He says that Mr. Murray received the vote of Mr. Riter on the same basis. Col. W. E. Thompson, ex-Sheriff H. A. Lowry, ex-Treasurer John M. Anderson, J. Smiley Wightman, Dr. George M. Kelly, D. L. Wright, Dr. D. F. McIntosh and ex-Mayor William McCallin, were mentioned for the place, but they did not allow their names to go before the managers.

Murray's Action a Surprise.

There was considerable surprise in Republican circles yesterday when it was learned that Mr. Murray had allowed the Citizens members of the board to present his name, especially when it was certain that he had no hope of winning. Yesterday afternoon he told some people that he would be a candidate for county commissioner at the Republican primaries next year. He remarked that the Citizens would all vote the Republican ticket this fall and be in shape to participate in the primaries.

Mr. Bell and Senator Crawford, who voted for Mr. Leslie, live in the same legislative district with Mr. Murray. There has been a story going the rounds that as a result of their support of Mr. Leslie, certain interests in Pittsburgh will aid George W. Foster of Carnegie to secure the Republican nomination for county treasurer and Senator Crawford the nomination for county recorder. This reported deal is denied by all of the interested parties.

Mr. Hill is retiring from the workhouse because he has grown tired of the work. As a manager and superintendent he has been connected with the institution for over 17 years.

Successor Not Known.

Mr. Leslie says that he does not know when he will retire from select council. He took his seat in April of this year and has been one of the leaders on the Republican side. So far there has been no decision among the leaders of the Seventeenth ward as to the successor of Mr. Leslie. Common Councilman Brand was asked if he would seek the seat in the upper branch and replied that he had not given the matter sufficient consideration to give a definite answer.

Mr. Leslie has long been prominent in public life in this city. In 1880 he was elected alderman of his ward and served until 1896, when he was appointed superintendent of the bureau of police. Soon after his appointment he was offered the superintendency of the workhouse, but declined, as Director J. O. Brown desired him to remain at the head of the police bureau. In 1901 he was director of the department of public safety and held the position until Mayor Hays went into office. In February he was elected a member of select council. Mr. Leslie is 51 years old.

The new superintendent will have much work to do. The institution is now overcrowded, there being 1,100 prisoners confined there. The managers have about decided to make some extensive improvements in order to take care of the inmates. Supt. Leslie will have to oversee this work, in addition to his many other duties.

He is said to be an agent for a Milwaukee publishing house.

Drury-Dowd Case to Be Appealed.

United States District Attorney James A. Young received a letter from Washington yesterday, directing him to take an appeal in the Drury-Dowd habeas corpus proceedings. The order is the result of the conference Mr. Young had with the officers of the department of justice a few days ago. The appeal will be presented the latter part of next week.

Fined Seventy-five Prisoners.

At the South Side police station yesterday morning 75 prisoners taken in the five raids on alleged speakeasies on Sunday were fined. Will Gott, charged with being proprietor of the place at 2925 Larkin's alley, was fined $100 and each visitor $25. In the other four raids the proprietors were each fined $25 and the visitors each $3 and costs.

STATE MAY HELP ITS GUARDSMEN

Committee Appointed by Governor to See What Others Are Doing for Troops.

IN NEW YORK THIS MONTH

Organized effort to secure for the National guardsmen of Pennsylvania the comfortable quarters they so richly deserve is now being made under the direct supervision of Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker as commander-in-chief of the state militia.

A committee comprising representatives of each of the three brigades of the troops will meet in New York on June 21 to start there a series of visits to the armories in New York, Boston and other eastern cities. The committee was appointed by Gov. Pennypacker and the member for the Second brigade is Gen. Willis J. Hulings of Oil City, commander of the Sixteenth infantry.

This committee will report to Gov. Pennypacker the results of its investigations into the aid other states are giving their troops. The committee's ideas will be formulated into a bill to be presented at the forthcoming session of the Pennsylvania legislature, providing for the state giving to its troops the aid which is necessary to bring them to the highest efficiency, and also to attract to the ranks men who are often kept out now by the inferior accommodations provided.

Gen. Hulings is very earnestly interested in this matter. "We feel the need of better accommodations in the country districts even more than in the city," he said last evening. "Take the Sixteenth regiment, for instance. It is scattered over nine mountain counties. The state allows but $200 a year for quarters to each company. There is not a company which does not exceed that for its rent. The balance the members must make up.

"In the cities the companies can overcome this in part by several of them making joint use of the same quarters. This is impossible, however, where there are wide stretches of territory separating the various companies."

Gov. Pennypacker's interest in the guard which is manifested again by this committee being set to work has been one of the most striking features of his administration. The fact that the governor in person looked over every member of every company in every regiment, saw that the gun of each man was in good shape, that his uniform was as immaculate as it should be, etc., was noted with much interest last summer during the encampments of the various brigades. The unusual care he took was believed at that time to presage good intentions on his part and this belief is being proved correct now.

During the Hawkins memorial ceremonies here last Saturday it was frequently commented upon that Pittsburgh probably has the most inferior accommodations for its troops of all cities of its size in the United States. The Fourteenth regiment occupies the cheapest and least advantageous and attractive quarters imaginable, above the market house. The Eighteenth, by a superhuman effort, has secured the Charles J. Clarke property, at Craft and Forbes. Battery B, by virtue of the same sort of an effort, has obtained an armory in the East End. All could be benefited greatly by state aid.

PEOPLE FROWN ON CONSOLIDATION

Sentiment on Proposed Greater Pittsburgh Shown by Audience in Calvary Church.

BOTH SIDES ARGUED AT LENGTH

Under the auspices of the Young Men's guild of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, an interesting debate was held last night on the question, "Resolved: That the Cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny Should Be United." B. G. Fitzgerald, W. C. Conroy and J. C. Thoburn took the affirmative side, while G. F. Freed, F. J. Beck and J. C. Carr had the negative. The arguments on both sides were intensely interesting and demonstrated that the citizens of Allegheny are more than a little concerned over the prospect of annexation to this city.

It was maintained by those in the affirmative that the consolidation of the two cities would result in better police protection to the North Side. Mr. Fitzgerald openly declared that scores of notorious thieves lived in Allegheny and plied their trades in Pittsburgh. This would be stopped and the thieves driven out of the vicinity, he said, if the two cities were united and the police were under one head. It would not be necessary for Allegheny to assume any part of Pittsburgh's debt, and the millage on the North Side might be lower than it is now.

In rebuttal Mr. Freed declared that consolidation would in no way benefit Allegheny. The public utilities, he said, would remain the same; the removal of the hump would not help Allegheny a particle, and the Carnegie Technical school will be just as open to Alleghenians as to residents of Pittsburgh. Street car service would not be improved any, he said; the water system and supply would remain the same; and the big manufacturing establishments in Allegheny, but whose location is advertised throughout the country as Pittsburgh, would do business at the same old stand. Further Mr. Freed said that there would be more opportunity for "municipal leakage" in a larger city than there is in Allegheny.

Chairman A. M. Schoyer appointed Albert Horne, William Hamilton and John Carr a committee to decide who had won the debate. They brought in a verdict for the negative side. In reviewing what had been said Mr. Schoyer added that while one of the big circuses traveling through the west last season 69 thieves remained with the show. Of this number Mr. Schoyer said he was informed through reliable sources, 56 had permanent residences in Allegheny.

Senator John M. Goehring was asked to talk on the subject. He stated briefly that his position in the senate was to see that no coercion nor any ripper features be introduced into the bill for Greater Pittsburgh. Personally, he said, he favored annexation. After the verdict of the judges was made known Mr. Schoyer asked for a vote of the audience on the question. More than two-thirds of those present voted against consolidation.

Entertainments Arranged for Those Attending Congress. Americans Cared For.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, June 13.—The international women's congress opened this morning in Philharmonic hall. Frau Marie Stritt of Dresden, president of the German league, opened the congress with an eloquent address, to which the countess of Aberdeen, president of the international council, responded.

The congress was then divided into four sections for the delivery of addresses and discussions. Mrs. Lydia Aider spoke on "Education and Motherhood;" Mrs. McTerrel of Washington, honorary president of the National Association of Colored Women, on "The Situation of Colored Women as House Servants;" Mrs. Louisa Thomson of Canada, on "District Visiting in Canada," and Mrs. Blankenburg of Philadelphia, on "The Evolution of American Laws Concerning Women."

The American delegates were impressed by the excellent organization of the congress and the great interest shown by the German women, who are attending in large numbers. The Americans were also impressed with the great deference shown the United States as the leading country in the world in the women's movement. This feeling cropped out in the ovations given to Miss Susan B. Anthony and in the speeches of the German and other women.

Chancellor von Buelow and Interior Secretary von Posadowsky-Wehner will each give a reception in honor of the members of the congress and the empress tomorrow will receive a delegation, in which the United States delegates will be well represented. The municipality of Berlin has voted money to defray the expenses of a farewell banquet to the delegates.

VARSITY EVENTS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Many Pittsburghers Going East for Commencement Exercises and Races.

BIG PARTY LEAVES FRIDAY

Pittsburgh will be well represented at the commencement exercises this month of the various eastern universities, either by graduates or alumni. The chief events of the season, however, are the varsity contests and class reunions. On Saturday, at New York, Princeton and Yale will conclude the series of three ball games, and as the race is now neck-and-neck much excitement is promised. The Princeton club of Pittsburgh will be represented by over 75 men, while Yale will have nearly as many ardent rooters from this city. Arrangements are now being made for the contingent to go from here en masse Friday evening.

Cornell's Pittsburgh alumni are preparing to cheer the varsity crew at the intercollegiate rowing races, which will take place at Poughkeepsie on June 28. The other colleges represented will be University of Pennsylvania, Georgetown, Wisconsin, Syracuse, Columbia and possibly California. Last year Cornell's varsity succeeded in winning all three races and establishing a varsity record of 18 minutes, 57 2-5 seconds, for the eight-oared race with coxwain. In this race Georgetown came in second and the others in the following order: Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Columbia. The races at New London, between the varsity crews of Yale and Harvard, which will occur immediately after the commencement exercises at Harvard, will also draw a number of Pittsburghers, as well as the Harvard-Yale ball game on Thursday, June 23, at Boston.

Princeton this year will graduate about 25 Pittsburghers, among the graduates being J. H. Reed, Jr. The exercises will be held tomorrow, the class exercises having begun last week. The following Pittsburghers have been attending the reunions: Warren I. Seymour, assistant district attorney; Wilson S. Arbuthnot, J. H. Lockhart, George R. Kelly, W. M. Hall, Jr., Howard S. Fischer, J. S. Guffey, George D. Edwards, David Aiken Reed, A. Blair Robinson, William Robinson, A. A. Speer, Dr. J. P. Shaw, L. C. Woods and Benjamin Dangerfield. Alexander R. Peacock is also at Princeton taking in the festivities. His eldest son, Clarence Peacock, now at Lawrenceville, will enter that university the coming session.

Yale's annual exercises will begin the week of June 27. Clinton Childs and Southard Hay with a party of Pittsburghers, will go on. They will also likely attend the rowing races at New London.

Among those who will attend the commencement exercises of Cornell will be Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Buchanan and W. W. Patterson and a party. A member of the graduating class is Graham C. Patterson, a nephew of Mr. Buchanan. These Pittsburghers will remain over for the Poughkeepsie events. Christian McKee Dravo and Howard W. Douglass of Pittsburgh are also members of the graduating class of Cornell this year. Others who will go from here will be Charles M. Thorp, E. P. Young, Thomas McNeal, III., and Neil Andrews.

Harvard can always be counted on to have a few Pittsburgh boys among its graduates. F. L. Arensburg and Charles Arensburg of this place will receive diplomas from Harvard, the week of June 27. Neither J. E. McCloskey, Jr., secretary, nor Dr. J. P. Eaton, president of the Harvard club, were able last night to give the names of any Pittsburghers who will attend the commencement exercises.

TRAVELED MANY MILES.

Balloon from St. Louis Fair Finally Finds Resting Place at Philadelphia Bourse.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—(Special.)—A silken balloon, believed to have traveled nearly 1,000 miles from the St. Louis fair, descended upon the steps of the Fifth street entrance to the Bourse early this morning.

Night Watchman Hagan was standing on the steps when the apparatus sailed down from the clouds. He fell back in alarm, believing at first glance that a mighty bird was swooping down to attack him. He stooped to pick it up, when about 40 boys, perspiring, breathless and speechless, fell upon him, crushing him to the earth and grabbing frantically at the balloon. But Patrick Hagan held it fast. The lads from various parts of the city had seen it descending and each ran to recover it. The party converged at the Bourse.

The balloon had been kept afloat for days by heat from a series of cups, in which were set sponges containing alcohol. This fluid had burned out, leaving the balloon, which is about four feet high, intact. Encircled around the balloon were the words: "St. Louis exposition."

¶ Do you ever think your boy plays too hard?

¶ I tell you a boy that knows how to play has good stuff in him. He'll work all the better for it bye and bye.

¶ But remember, he's burning up a lot of energy.

¶ Give him plenty of "FORCE."

Sunny Jim

A boy can easily grow thin and starved and anæmic, even if he does stuff his stomach three times a day—unless the food is the right sort.

It isn't what you eat that counts—it's only what digests—the part that is absorbed and builds up muscles and nerves and brain.

"FORCE" is the ideal food for growing children, because it not only digests itself but helps to digest the other food substances that are eaten with it.

JUDGE M'KENNA BACK FROM WASHINGTON

Says Talk With President Was Most Pleasant—Leaves for Post in September.

Judge Charles McKenna of the United States district court in Porto Rico has returned from Washington, where he went to consult with President Roosevelt and Gov. Wintrop, recently appointed chief executive of the island.

Judge McKenna describes his interview with the president as being a most pleasant one. Gov. Winthrop will be inaugurated on July 4, when he succeeds Gov. Hunt, who goes to the United States district court in Butte, Mont.

Judge McKenna will not be handicapped by lack of knowledge of the Spanish language, as the act of congress requires that proceedings be conducted in English. All papers and pleadings are in English and jurors are expected to have a knowledge of the English language. Judge McKenna leaves for Porto Rico in September.

MRS. KOUNTZ MARRIES WELL-KNOWN BROKER

One of Principals in Walsh Tragedy Quietly Wedded to Hunter Miller.

Mrs. Margaret Kountz, who was one of the principal figures in the Walsh tragedy of nearly a year ago, was married last Saturday to Hunter Miller, a well known broker and son of former Clerk of Courts George W. Miller. The wedding took place in Youngstown, O., and the couple is now in the west on their honeymoon.

Miller is Mrs. Kountz's fourth husband and she is credited with having a daughter by her second husband, the child now being in a school in Arkansas. Mrs. Kountz first became prominent in the city in April, 1903, when she sued her husband, Dr. Walter P. Kountz, for non-support.

While this suit was pending the woman went to live with Contractor John P. Walsh at his residence in Northumberland avenue. A few weeks later as Walsh and Mrs. Kountz were leaving the house, her husband stepped from behind a tree and shot Walsh dead. Mrs. Kountz was shot through the cheek and lung.

Kountz was convicted but pardoned within a few months owing to the many extenuating circumstances. While he was incarcerated Mrs. Kountz secured a divorce. Since then the woman has lived at several downtown hotels, but finally took up her residence in Penn avenue.

The wedding was entirely unexpected. Mrs. Kountz, when asked if she had been married before, produced her divorce papers and laughingly declared that the ink was hardly dry upon them. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for the west and nothing has been heard from them since.

Taylor of Centre county is the informant and alleges that Wachob, who is a cattle dealer, purchased live stock valued at $1,500 in that county and failed to make returns. It is said that 12 informations have been made by farmers of Centre county charging embezzlements of sums from $60 to $600.

CHURCH PROVIDES NURSES FOR BABES DURING SERVICE

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison Devises Plan Which Is Put Into Operation—Playhouse in the Basement.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ORANGE, N. J., June 13.—Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the inventor, has devised a scheme by which the impatient men of Orange will no longer be compelled to forego the pleasure of going to church on Sunday morning. No more will they be compelled to "mind the baby" while their wives sing hymns and gather spiritual strength for the coming week. The Rev. Frank MacDaniel, pastor of the Orange Methodist church, concurred with Mrs. Edison in the practicability of the plan. Hereafter the babies will be brought to church, though not to the service. The parents will leave them in a room downstairs with volunteer nurses. The scheme is, in fact, a Sunday nursery plan.

Mrs. Edison laid her proposition before Mr. MacDaniel. He was enthusiastic. Next, the scheme was suggested to the young women of the church, and they at once volunteered to look after the details. Sets of blocks, indestructible picture books and other things which delight the infant mind, were bought. A room downstairs has been fitted up and announcement of the plan was made by Mr. MacDaniel from the pulpit. Now each Sunday three of the young women appear shortly before the services are scheduled to begin. No one girl has to serve oftener than once every three Sundays.

No one has yet learned the exact degree of joy which is felt by the husbands, now that the kind churchgoers have arranged things so they can come to church. It is currently reported, though, that they are repressing their transports of joy.

BEAVERS IS ARRAIGNED.

Commissioner Overrules Objections to Indictment and Warrant.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Special.)—George W. Beavers, ex-superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances in the postoffice department, came before United States Commissioner Benedict in Brooklyn today for a hearing in connection with the warrant served on him last Wednesday, based upon the indictment found in Washington last October, charging him with conspiracy in connection with the purchase of book typewriters.

Two motions by Mr. Seabury, counsel for Beavers, one objecting to the Washington indictment as being insufficient, and the other asking for the release of the defendant on the ground that the warrant was illegal and void, were overruled by the commissioner.

Witnesses then testified that Beavers had no connection with the Eliot-Hatch Book Typewriter Company, and had received no money from them. The hearing was continued until next Monday.

Charged With Larceny.

E. G. O'Conner and Frank Tucker were yesterday held for court by Magistrate Stewart on charges of larceny on the information of John and Mrs. Frank L. Eble of 710 Watson street. It is alleged the men entered that house last week while the inmates were out and took about $1,200 worth of jewelry. Both men denied all knowledge of the robbery.

CHARTERS ANNULLED.

Gompers Rules That Tuck Pointers Must Join Bricklayers' Union.

The settlement of the strike of the bricklayers on account of workmen doing "tuck pointing" who were not members of the union, was due largely to the interference of Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. He was advised by telephone of the dispute and at once canceled the charters of the Tuck Pointers and Front Cleaners' unions, the members of which were doing the work the bricklayers claimed.

The charters canceled are 10,382 at Buffalo, 10,384 at St. Louis and 10,804 at Pittsburgh. The action of Gompers makes non-union men of all tuck pointers not affiliated with the bricklayers' organization.

The agreement reached by the contractors and bricklayers stipulates that the contractors employ Bricklayers and Masons' International union men for new work, as long as the union is able to furnish competent men: old work may be done by any person chosen by the contractor, and the Bricklayers and Masons' International union members may follow tuck pointing exclusively.

The principal feature of the settlement was a promise that at the next convention of the bricklayers, to be held next January, the organization will make provision for the tuck pointers maintaining a local and permitting all to affiliate whether they can handle brick or stone. This will recognize tuck pointing as a separate trade from brick and stone work.

PUBLIC NOT ALLOWED TO WITNESS CLEANING

High Board Walls Surround Highland Basin While Filth Is Removed.

Director Bigelow of the department of public works has seen fit to shroud the cleaning of the Highland reservoir with mystery. No person is allowed within 100 yards of the reservoir under penalty of arrest. The fact that the cleaning is taking about six weeks longer than was originally estimated may have something to do with the establishment of the trocha which surrounds the basin.

When the work was begun the director stated that it would take about three weeks to get the deposits of filth out of the larger basin of reservoir No. 1. The work was started and at the end of three weeks so little had been done that a night shift was put to work in an attempt to fulfill the original estimate.

Then it was decided that no one outside the official circles must know what was being done or what the filth contained. To make this certain the walks around the basin were boarded off and details of park police placed on guard to prevent people from getting near the work unless they have a special pass from the director. This is the first time in the history of the city that it has been necessary to get a permit to wander through the public parks.

WANT HELP FOR MINERS.

United Labor League Will Call for Funds for Men in the West.

A meeting will be held at 210 Fourth avenue, this morning, by a committee appointed by the United Labor league to arrange for a mass meeting to be held in the Avenue theater next Sunday afternoon. The committee consists of Thomas Blackburn of the painters; William Boate, president of the United Labor league, and John Fernau, master workman of the K. of L. They are arranging to have several prominent speakers present.

A resolution will be adopted at the meeting petitioning President Roosevelt to intervene in the strike of the coal miners in Colorado. An appeal will also be made for money which will be forwarded to the striking miners.

Meat Dealers to Be Prosecuted.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner B. H. Warren of Philadelphia will arrive here this week and be a witness in about 50 suits entered against meat dealers in this city and Allegheny, charged with using preservaline. The samples were secured by the meat and milk inspectors connected with the health bureau of both cities, and were forwarded to Philadelphia where they were tested by Commissioner Warren. Director Moore says the quantity of preservaline used by butchers and meat dealers of this city is surprising.

FLASH OF DARK LANTERN REVEALS SAFE CRACKERS

Citizens Discover Burglars in Turtle Creek Offie—Escape Exchanging Shots.

Attracted by the flashing of dark lanterns in the office of R. H. Cunningham & Co., dealers in building supplies, Ninth street, Turtle Creek, early yesterday morning, passing pedestrians discovered three burglars attempting to blow open a safe. One of the citizens ran to Turtle Creek borough for a policeman, while two others stood guard. The burglars, learning they were discovered, broke through a rear door, and firing three shots at the watchers, who returned the fire, escaped.

The safe in the office was bored and three holes had been filled with nitroglycerin, which failed to explode as intended. The safe contained valuable papers, but only about $40 in cash.

A man who gives his name as William Brooks, aged 27, of San Francisco, was arrested near the scene shortly after on suspicion. He was committed to jail for 30 days in order that his record may be looked up.

VAUDEVILLE IN PARKS.

Many Artists Give Crowds Amusement During the Evenings.

Kennywood and Southern parks had vaudeville bills last evening, the opening night of the week's engagement for both places. At Kennywood the Harmans, in their sensational revolving ladder act, were the center of attention. In the arena was an aerial act that called forth lots of applause. In the vaudeville theater Clinton and Wilson sang a number of illustrated songs and Levine and Alma had a comedy acrobatic turn. The Great Rictor was a ball juggler and Hattie Fielding was generously applauded for her song and dance act.

The Southern park bill included Emerson and Omega, in a comedy sketch entitled "Don't Notice It." Van Brothers had a musical act that was appreciated, and May Evans, with her whistling and imitations, came in for a good share of applause. Jennings and Renfrew have a singing and dancing act that is a good feature, while Marie LeRoy, balladist, sang in a pleasing manner.

CATARRH ROBS WOMEN OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Pe-ru-na Makes Women Healthy and Beautiful.

Women All Over the United States Praise Pe-ru-na for Diseases Peculiar to Their Sex.

Miss Florence Miller.

Miss Florence Miller, 402 Alabama St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"I am proud and happy that I am able to praise Peruna as it deserves, for a better medicine I do not know for the ills so many women suffer from and do not know which way to turn for help. If all women who suffer as I did with periodical backache, headache and all worn out feeling would take Peruna they would soon find that it put new life into the body and took away all the aches and pains and weariness.

"That has been my experience, and I greatfully acknowledge the blessing Peruna has been to me."

MISS FLORENCE MILLER.

Disguised Catarrh.

There are a great many people who are actually invalids from chronic catarrh of some internal organ who have not the slightest suspicion that they are victims of this universal disease.

This is especially true in cases of chronic catarrh of the organs in the lower part of the abdomen or pelvic organs.

There are a multitude of women, especially housewives, and all other women obliged to be on their feet continually, who are wretched beyond description, simply because their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges.

Peruna is such a specific for such cases that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the patients are gradually cured. These results certainly follow a course of treatment with Peruna.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the one given above. We can only give our readers a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited indorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic and grateful letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

MINISTERS WATCH BEILHART'S PLACE

Unable to Secure Sufficient Evidence to Proceed Against "Spirit Fruit" Colony.

JACOB SENDS OUT LITERATURE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LISBON, O., June 13.—Human ingenuity has been almost exhausted in the effort to obtain evidence on which to base prosecutions of Jacob Beilhart, head of the "Spirit Friut Farm," with a view to breaking up that institution. Rev. J. P. Anderson of the Presbyterian church at Salem is among those who have devoted time and labor in an attempt to unmask Beilhart and expose the corruption at the farm. "I have done everything in my power to rid the community of Jacob Beilhart," said Mr. Anderson. "From the tops of stables overlooking the grounds another minister and myself watched the inmates of the 'farm' for days, but we failed to secure evidence enough to convict. We tried various other means, but futilely. We all believe the 'spirit farm' is rotten to the core."

Fresh rath has been arouse by the latest step of Beilhart in flooding the country with a publication, which he calls the "Spirit Farm," together with an exposition of the alleged doctrines of association. This statement of the sect's creed is in part as follows: "We beleive there is one universal spirit, which pervades all things. In studying nature we are studying universal spirit, which is the essence of all wisdom, love and intelligence. Man is the highest external expression of this universal spirit. But man is simply an undeveloped plant, which has not manifested the final fruit he is to produce. As the plant is not the grain or fruit, which is to bear, so man is not, in his present unfoldment, what he is to be when perfected. In his stage of unfoldment man is selfish, emotional and religious by nature. This world is a school to teach man all he should know while in the world. If he is true to nature, he will reach the fountain of all wisdom and power, which will bring him to full fruitage. Man should obey the laws of justice on all planes of life and should do unto his fellows as he desires that they do to him, because no one can get away from the laws of life, which compel a man to reap just what he sows. So really all we do another we do unto ourselves. Man, in a low state of unfoldment is not able to counteract his tendencies, which cause him to obey passion and impulse. We believe in punishment for those who do not obey their highest sense of right. The social laws are adapted to the needs of society. The marriage law is wise, and so long as man will not master his animal nature he should be compelled to obey external law. The laws as they stand today are, as a general thing, good for those who live under them. As man unfolds, these laws will be modified to suit his growth. Joy consists in the amount of joy one can produce for others. It is according to the law of universal spirit to have all things in common and be free to obey the divine spirit within."

The requirements of membership in the association are set forth as follows: "Any male or female over 16 years of age who believes in the constitution of the society and has read 'Spirit Fruit' for one year or over and is in accord with its teachings shall be eligible.'

Probationary members are admitted if they are "willing to trust the highest sense of justice and rights and not hinder experience which tends to cut off selfishness."

Enough has been learned of the practices of the "spirit farm" to convince hundreds that Beilhart's creed is a cunning juggling with words through which one may discern revolting customs and utter disregard of the marriage tie. That part of the creed which says that "the laws are good for those who live under them" and that it is proper "to have all things in common" is especially pointed out as indicating the nature of the "spirit farm." It is hinted that a sensational exposure is forthcoming at an early date from a man who has been looked upon as a devout follower which will create consternation in the "spirit camp" when they are made public. The promised exposure will, it is said, wipe out the "spirit farm" plague spot.

NAN PATTERSON HELD FOR MURDER

Indicted in the First Degree for Killing of "Caesar" Young in a Cab.

PRISONER FAINTS IN COURT

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—Nan Patterson, the pretty young actress, was indicted today for murder in the first degree for the killing of "Caesar" Young, the horseman, who died by shooting while riding with her in a cab.

When Miss Patterson is arraigned tomorrow before Judge Newburger to plead, her attorneys will demur to the indictment on the ground that it was returned on hearsay testimony and evidence insufficient to make a legal case. A further step will be a motion for an examination of the grand jury minutes in order to furnish a basis for a motion to dismiss the indictment on the ground of insufficient, illegal and incompetent evidence.

"We intend fighting every step of the way," said her lawyer. "The names of the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury indicate that only the flimsiest evidence, hearsay stuff and matter that would be incompetent before a court of law, was presented. It is an outrage to think that this young woman, innocent of crime, will be kept a prisoner all summer until we can get this indictment dismissed."

Miss Patterson Fainted.

Miss Patterson swooned when she heard of her indictment. She had two shocks after she was led from the Tombs to the coroner's court. In the ante-room, where a court attendant seated her, she was brought face to face with Mrs. "Caesar" Young and the latter's sister, Mrs. McKean. Miss Patterson was in good spirits until she caught the angry glance Mrs. Young flashed at her. Then her lawyer entered, and, sitting beside her, told her she had been indicted.

The girl looked at him in amazement. Her cheeks blanched and her whole frame trembled. She pitched forward and would have slipped to the floor, but the lawyer put his arms about her. Placing her in the care of court officers, he rushed from the room and brought in Dr. Moses Jackson. The coroner administered stimulants and revived Miss Patterson, but it was several minutes before her faintness passed away.

Picture of Object Misery.

Mrs. Young and her sister, Mrs. McKean, looked on icily while the young woman leaned back in the arms of a court officer, her face deathly pale, her eyes closed and lips twitching with pain. Dr. Jackson said Miss Patterson's illness was due to sudden shock, following prolonged nervous strain. Long after she had recovered from her swoon she sat trembling by her attorney's side, a picture of abject misery, quite different from the quiet, self-possessed girl who has faced unflinchingly the curious court room throngs in the various proceedings following the death of Young and her arrest.

"J. Morgan Smith is in a sanitarium within 50 miles of New York," Counsel for Nan Patterson made this statement today before coroner's jury. "Information has been brought to me," he continued, "that Smith is a mental and physical wreck. He was in a bad way before the death of Young, and the notoriety brought upon his sister-in-law in connection with the cab tragedy completely upset him. His wife took him away when she saw his condition. She is now nursing him, and he knows nothing of the stir his absence has created."

This spoon is three feet in length and is engraved with the numerals of each class that has gone out of the historic old institution. Its presentation was the feature of the class day exercises today. David Stonecipher of Clinton was the spoon orator for the senior class and W. S. U. OF P. GRADUATES HAVE MERRY CLASS DAY

Many Hits Scored by Craig Mitchell When He Made the Presentations.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The graduating class of the University of Pennsylvania had its day today. There were events in the morning, in the afternoon and at night, and in none of them did the faculty have any share.

From the "1904" point of view, the class day exercises were the most important. These were held at the Garrick theater in the morning. The entire class was there in cap and gown, and the past, present and future of the men of 1904 were dealt with in a way that put everybody in a good humor. Even the victims got lots of fun out of it.

The president of the class, Joseph W. Swain, Jr., delivered the salutatory, while Edwin Bateman Morris reviewed the history of the class. William Otto Miller was the poet. The futures of the graduates were disposed of by Samuel S. Herman in the class prophecy.

It was the presentations, however, that aroused the greatest interest. These were made by Craig Mitchell, who gave the spoon to the first honor man, Ralph R. Zane; the bowl to Marshall S. Morgan, the cane to William O. Miller and the spade to William H. Porter. One graduate received a suit of armor and another a liberal supply of dyspepsia medicine.

Glenn Folger delivered the valedictory and the exercises closed with the transfer of the president's gown to H. Burchard Taylor, president-elect of the class of 1905.

UNITED STATES AMAZES FILIPINOS

Gov. Luz Says His People Had Mistaken Ideas About Americans.

DEEPLY IMPRESSED BY VISIT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.

"What we have seen in the United States has amazed us. Washington is the most magnificent capital in the world." This is how Gov. Simeon Luz, the chief of the board of Philippine commissioners to the St. Louis exposition, sizes up this country and its capital. In giving his impressions Gov. Luz continued:

"We Filipinos were entirely mistaken in our ideas of the people of this country before we came here. We had been led to believe that the Amricans were filled with ambition for conquest and that they were selfish and designing. We have been convinced by our experiences here that they are prompted by no such motives and that it was not a sinister design that impelled them to enter our lives and history.

"Washington is a grand city. Its buildings are wonderful, and we have been amazed by such displays of intelligence and constructive power. Of all your buildings the capitol and the Congressional library have made the deepest impression upon us. The factories, the shipyards and docks and the achievements of American financiers suggest your commercial success.

"I have not words to express my admiration of the American women. The Spanish women who visited the Philippines never associated with or recognized the Filipinos. They were too proud of their superiority. How different is the attitude of the women of America. Their courtesy to us is above all praise."

L. W. STRAYER.

WIVES TO ACCOMPANY THE FILIPINO GUESTS

Wives of a number of the members of the Philippine commission are accompanying their husbands on the tour of the American cities, and the Pittsburgh councils committee last night made provision for their entertainment at the banquet to be given in honor of the distinguished guests at the Hotel Schenley on the evening of Monday, June 27.

It was decided that the gallery of the banquet hall should be open to the ladies of the commission and other ladies whom the committee might invite. The number of guests to the banquet was limited to 375, which will include the mayors of the two cities and their directors, members of the Pittsburgh council to the number of 89, other city officials, 50 members of the commission, leading local manufacturers, business men and judges of the United States and county courts.

Judge Joseph Buffington will probably be chosen toastmaster, Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., being appointed a committee of one to tender this honor to Judge Buffington.

It was decided to limit the number of persons on the boat excursion to 300, although the number invited may be considerably smaller.

The boat excursion will be on the second day of the visit of the commission. Upon the arrival of the commission and party they will be taken to the Hotel Schenley for breakfast and afterward will leave on a train over the Pennsylvania to see the industrial establishments.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, June 13.—Pittsburgh made it three straight and kept Boston's record of not winning a game from the Champion's this season virgin. The game was a little closer than the others played here so far. Boston actually took the lead at the outset. But Clarke and his men were just playing and by dint of touching up Wilhelm at the proper moments when hits were needed, passed the locals and won easily.

Boston played a patched up team, but even with the regulars all in line it was a hopeless proposition and all the players all knew it. "We'd just as soon beat the Bostons three straight as eat," said Clarke, as he chased a long fly clear to the corner and pulled it down easily with one hand in practice. "We're after every game in sight, and must have this one with the hubs. Sorry for 'em, but we're in our stride and will soon be at the heels of those pesky New York Giants as well as Selee's Chicago Cubs. We don't fear Cincinnati a little bit."

In the fifth inning Kruger was knocked unconscious by one of Wilhelm's wild pitches. A doctor was summoned to the place, and Kruger revived, but he retired from the game, Smith going to right.

Scoring began without delay. After Leach was out, Beaumont doubled over first base. Cannell picked the ball up close to the right field fence and threw it to the left field bleachers; Beaumont, by fast running, got all the way home with the first run. Clarke hit and easy roller to Geier, who kept the wheel going with a wild throw to Tenney, Clarke being safe at first. Clarke tried to steal second and was thrown out, Moran to Raymer. Wagner made good with a tremendous home wallop over the garden wall the round house in left field. It was the longest and hardest belt seen on the South End grounds this season. Bransfield hit to Geier, who held the ball too long, and "Kitty" beat the throw to first. Two runs.

Geier was hit with a pitched ball and took a first. Beatty singled over Ritchey's head, sending Geier to second. Cannell fanned, missing a fast drop for the third strike by a mile. Cooley flied up to Clarke in far left field. Tenney doubled against the left field fence, scoring Geier. Moran smashed a ringing single to middle, scoring Batty and Tenney. Three runs.

Pittsburgh evened it up in the third when Leach worked around to third, and the reliable Wagner brought him in. Boston's last tally came in the same inning by fast base running. But the visitors were in the game for keep. Kruger walked, Ritchey bunted, sending Kruger to second. Batty over-ran Phelps' sharp hit to short. Kruger moving over to third. Philippe flied out to Cannell and Kruger scored the tying run.

The Pirates forged to the front in the fifth. Leach's daring sprints from bag to bag being responsible with the bases full, consecutive batting in the seventh sent in the sixth and last tally. Score:

Notes of the Game.

Barney Dreyfuss was expected. He telegraphed his congratulations instead.

President Ban Johnson of the American league and ex-Magnate Killilea saw the game.

Leach's base running during the present series has been something phenomenal. He had an off day in the field today.

Phillipe kept the hits well scattered except in the first inning, but the outfielders on both sides were kept on the run. Some brilliant catches were made.

The attendance at the Pittsburgh-Boston series has been the largest of the season, despite cold, raw weather. Last year's world's championship series made the name of Pittsburgh one to be respected and admired by Boston fans.

Hans Wagner has been the center of much admiration at the Hotel Vendome, where the Pirates have been stopping. Withal he is modest and retiring and doesn't pretend to notice the many eyes that pierce him through and through.

BOSTON, June 13.—(Special.)—The Pittsburghers left for Philadelphia tonight in a tranquil and happy frame of mind. Kruger is not badly injured. He has a mighty bump on the left temple where Wilhelm's lively inshoot hit him. He will be in the line-up as usual.

Suthoff's Wildness Lost Game.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—It looked like an easy victory for Cincinnati today, but in the locals' half of the eighth inning Suthoff lost control, giving three bases on balls and forcing in a run. Timely hitting aided the home team in winning out. Attendance, 1,852. Score:

HOMESTEAD SHUT OUT.

Moren Pitched Fine Ball, but Risher's Men Could Not Hit.

GROVE CITY, June 13.—(Special.)—In a brilliantly fielded contest and pitchers' battle Grove City college shut out Homestead today. Moren was on the rubber for Homestead and allowed but three hits. But the locals scored the only run of the game on a base on balls, an out and Galbraith's single. Sensational catches were made by Kennedy and Morris, that of the latter resulting in a double. BRADDOCK TEAM BEATEN.

O'Neil Started Well, but Gave Out in the Final Innings.

YOUNGSTOWN, June 13.—(Special.)—The Ohio Works' team found it easy to defeat the Braddock team here this afternoon 9 to 2. For awhile it looked as if the visitors would win, as O'Neil started in fine shape and until the seventh inning only allowed one hit. Then he and the men back of him took a balloon trip, and it was all over after that, the locals winning as they pleased. McKee's hitting and a catch by Ward in left field were the features. The score:

BITTER BATTLE CALLED A DRAW

O'Keefe and Mellody Went for Twenty Rounds Without a Let-Up.

BOTH WERE BADLY PUNISHED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTTE, MONT., June 13.—This afternoon 3,000 miners and Butte sports saw Jack O'Keefe of Chicago and William "Honey" Melody of Boston fight 20 of the fastest rounds to a draw for the white welterweight championship of the world ever witnessed in the northwest.

From the tap of the opening gong until the finish it was a gruelling match between the two men. While O'Keefe displayed the greater science and cleverness, it was offset by the bulldog tenacity of the Boston man, who bore in at every opportunity, raining volleys of blows upon O'Keefe's body. At no time did Mellody appear in distress, while O'Keefe in the eighteenth round appeared groggy and saved himself only by desperately clinging to Mellody. Mellody made frantic efforts to finish O'Keefe in the nineteenth round, but O'Keefe's cleverness saved him.

Perhaps never in the history of the ring has a fight been seen where from start to finish there was not a moment's rest. Each round began with close slugging, continuing to the tap of the gong without a let-up, both boys at times fighting after the round had ended.

From the fifth to the twentieth round there was a continuous roar from the spectators, the Bostonian appearing to be the favorite with the crowd. Four times one or the other of the fighters fell, but never from a clean knockdown. It was either from the force of a missed swing or being backed into the ropes.

Once Mellody fell through the ropes and almost off the platform in a rush of vicious close range exchanges. "Honey" recovered and came back, boring in and slugging.

Referee Duncan MacDonald was kept busy watching for fouls, so low was the body fighting of the two men. O'Keefe was quicker on his feet, receiving a draw only through his outpointing of the Bostonian. Mellody was aggressive throughout, backing O'Keefe all around the ring.

Both men seemed satisfied with the decision, Mellody saying that in 25 rounds he would have put his man out. The referee's decision was a popular one.

POSTPONED THE FIGHT.

Champion Jeffries' Knee Is Bad and He Asks for a Week's Delay.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—(Special.)—Jeffries asks for a week's postponement of his fight with Munroe and makes the following signed statement:

"We gave my bad knee a test in the gymnasium this afternoon and found it painful. Exercise irritated it, and after a conference with Delaney after supper, I telegraphed to Coffroth asking for one week's postponement of the fight, to June 25. I am sorry to disappoint the public and the club, but under the circumstances I was compelled to ask for the time."

Manager Coffroth of the Yosemite club announced that the fight would take place June 30.

WILL BE FAST BOUT.

Solly Stroup and Al Martin Meet to Night at Charleroi.

Lovers of the fistic game are assured of a good program tonight at the Opera house of Charleroi, when Solly Stroup and Al Martin meet in a 10-round contest. Both fighters have records that put them in the same class, entitling each to a claim of supremacy that only this meeting will determine.

Both have met the cleverest men in their class, and often have gone out of their class to get matches. Jimmy Simister of Philadelphia, who has draws with Terry McGovern and Harry Forbes, was defeated by Stroup and Martin. Martin's draw with Eddie Burns of Detroit is also looked upon as a great record for him. The preliminaries will be of the best 138-pound amateurs.

NOT A HIT OR RUN.

Pitcher Mueller of Sharon Duplicated Great Feat of Cy Young.

SHARON, June 13.—(Special.)—Mueller duplicated Cy Young's great feat today by shutting out Monongahela without a hit. He had fine control and but two balls were hit to the outfield. He did not give a base on balls and only 29 men were at bat, one reaching first and the other second base on errors. In the ninth inning Clayton made a sensational one hand pick-up which prevented the visitors getting a hit. McIlvain was batted hard and Sharon scored ten runs in the second, after which they eased up. Score:

A Tonic for Old People

Adds Years to Life, Puts Life Into Years—Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food, the Great Blood and Flesh Maker, Brain and Nerve Tonic

Keeps you from growing old by keeping up your vital forces. When the human machinery begins to wear out, people grow old and go into decline and decay, the blood becomes thin and watery, the circulation poor, and the nerve forces shattered and weak, showing that certain essential elements of life are being exhausted from the blood and nerves. The exhaustion usually begins with cold and numb hands and feet. The stomach, bowels and bladder lose their power, often becoming partially, if not wholly, paralyzed. You grow weak and feeble and your vital forces so low that you begin to see that your health is being undermined. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food increases the action of the heart and the circulation of the blood, and builds up the system by replacing the same substances to the blood and nerves that have been worn out. JAMES K. CLARKE WEDS ONCE MORE

The Former Husband of "Violet Bride" Married to Miss Willoughby of Philadelphia.

CEREMONY LAST THURSDAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWPORT, R. I., June 13.—The cottage colony learned today of the quiet marriage, for family reasons, in Philadelphia on Thursday last, of Miss Katherine Harrison Willoughby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. Willoughby, one of the Newport-Philadelphia social set, to Mrs. James King Clarke, nee Willoughby.

James King Clarke, formerly of Pittsburgh, but now of Bryn Mawr, whose father's death a few years ago resulted in the son becoming possessed of a large estate.

The wedding was as quiet as possible, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present at the ceremony at the Willoughby residence.

Mrs. Clarke is popular with the younger Newport set and is now but 18 years of age. Owing to the divorce of the groom, it was decided to keep the marriage as quiet as possible, and it was only announced today by the bride's parents.

James King Clarke sued his first wife for divorce. She was Miss Esther Bartlett, daughter of William G. Bartlett of Washington, D. C., and during the progress of the suit she came to be known in the newspapers as "The Violet Bride." Mr. Clarke named McIntosh Kellogg of New York as co-respondent.

Mr. Clarke's suit failed, but four [illegible] later his wife divorced him in [illegible]gh. She married Lyman T. [illegible]ead of Erie, Pa., in 1902.

[illegible] and Mrs. Clarke are now on their [illegible]moon trip.

WANT MORE PAY.

Army Officers Not Satisfied With 50 Per Cent Increase for Work in Panama.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Secretary Taft today decided that the army officers serving on the Isthmus of Panama in the construction work of the canal shall receive 50 per cent additional from the canal commission over the pay they are entitled to under the law. In many cases this is not satisfactory to the officers, and it has been suggested that men serving in important positions should receive compensation such as would be paid to civilians doing the same character of work. The matter is not entirely settled and may be again considered.

Crown Prince Receives Riis.

COPENHAGEN, June 13.—Jacob A. Riis, the author, and Mrs. Riis of New York, were received today by the regent, Crown Prince Frederick, who expressed much interest in American affairs. He said Europe was entirely satisfied that President Roosevelt's influence was strong for international peace.

Former Williamsport Man Recovering.

BRISTOL, TENN., June 13.—C. H. Randolph, president of the Glade Mountain Lumber Company, injured in a wreck on the company's railroad near Atkins, Va., has been taken to his home at Atkins and will recover. His home before coming to Virginia was Williamsport, Pa.

SOCIETY

AN unusually interesting engagement which has just been made known is that of Miss Isabel Cooper, daughter of Mrs. William Cooper of Edgeworth, and John S. George of Sewickley. No formal announcement has been made of the engagement and no date has been spoken of for the wedding. It will not take place this summer, as Mrs. Cooper and her daughter will leave next week for Beaumaris, Canada, where they will open their summer cottage.

Mr. George is a son of Mrs. John L. George of Sewickley and is a member of the firm of George Brothers. He is a brother of William D. George, who was married last summer to Miss Eleanor Van Court Willard, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Willard of Western avenue, Allegheny. That wedding was a particularly interesting affair at the summer home of the bride's parents in Beaumaris. Until last week Mr. and Mrs. George made their home with Dr. and Mrs. Willard, but they are now established in the Aiden house, which they have rented in Shields. Dr. and Mrs. Willard will, as usual, open their Canadian home this summer, going up about the middle of July. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George, will accompany them. There will be no entertainments given for Miss Cooper, as the family of her fiance is in deep mourning.

People Coming and Going.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Allen Birge of Sherman, Tex., arrived in Pittsburgh on Saturday and are now the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Liggett at "Springwood," their home in Walnut street.

Mrs. Charles McSherry and Miss Jennie McSherry of Walnut street will leave for Chicago in a few days for a visit of several weeks. Miss McSherry was a graduate of the Pennsylvania College for Women, class of 1903.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Caton of Maryland avenue and Howe street will spend the summer at Mrs. Caton's home in Wooster, Mass., to which they expect to go about July 1.

Mrs. Joseph Schwab of Allenhurst, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Marshall R. Ward of Wallingford street, Shadyside. Mrs. Schwab came to Pittsburgh to attend the funeral of her father, Capt. John Munhall.

Miss Elsie M. Anshutz of McKee place, who won first prize for her artistic ability at Lasell seminary, will return to her home in Oakland this week.

Mrs. E. K. Morse and the Misses Edwina and Lucille Morse of North Craig street left yesterday for Blairsville, Pa., the birthplace of Mrs. Morse.

Where Some Artists Are Going.

Miss Frances McCreery of the Pittsburgh School of Design, is going to North East on Thursday and will be accompanied by a class of young women, most of them students in the school, who will spend a couple of weeks sketching on the shores of Lake Erie. After their return to Pittsburgh Miss McCreery will remain at North East for the greater part of the summer.

Miss Olive Turney, teacher of oil painting in the Pittsburgh School of Design, has gone to California, where she will spend the summer sketching and painting in the neighborhood of Los Angeles.

Miss Anna Woodward sailed from New York a week ago last Thursday and is going direct to Paris to visit the salon. Later she expects to go to Holland, where she will finish the picture she was working on a year ago when recalled to this country by the death of her mother. The locality to which she is going is the same which George Hitchcock and other well-known American artists frequent.

Miss Dewing Woodward, who has two paintings in this year's salon, will spend the summer on the coast of France and will not open her cottage on Cape Cod, Mass. She intends selling her cottage and will spend the most of her summers in foreign countries hereafter.

Drinking the Health of the Bride.

A beautiful silver loving cup, a gift of the bride-elect, was used last evening to drink to the health of Miss Clara Barnes Wilson, whose wedding to Aaron Calvert Chesbrough will take place today. The occasion was the rehearsal dinner given by the mother of the bride, Mrs. James Robb Wilson, at her home in St. James street, Shadyside. In addition to the members of the bridal party the guests included C. M. Murray and John T. Wilson, a brother of the bride, who will give her away. The decorations were of pink roses and peonies. The bride's gifts to her attendants are little bar pins of amethysts and diamonds. Mr. Chesbrough presented his ushers and best man with silver-topped canes. There will be several out-of-town guests at the wedding today, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chesbrough of Bay City, Mich., the brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Hill of Cleveland, O., a brother-in-law and sister; Mrs. Anne Moses and Harold Chesbrough and Milton Chesbrough, sons of Mr. Chesbrough, from Toledo.

Home From Their Wedding Trip.

"Clover Rest," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis F. McCook in Swissvale, was the scene of a happy little reception last evening, when the members of their bridal party, together with several relatives, gathered to welcome Mr. and Mrs. W. Edgar Reed from their wedding trip. Mrs. Reed will be remembered as Miss Elizabeth Ahl McCook, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCook. They arrived in Pittsburgh late last evening from St. Louis, and immediately after their home-coming Mr. and Mrs. McCook gave an informal supper. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schmid of Havre, France, Mr. Reed's brother-in-law and sister. Mrs. Schmid was in Pittsburgh for the wedding and was joined at the Hotel Schenley, where she has apartments, by Mr. Schmid last Saturday. During the latter part of this month they will go to St. Louis, and after their visit there will make an extended tour of the different watering places of the country, the tour including the northern lakes, the resorts on the Hudson and in the Adirondacks. They expect to return to France in September.

Renewing Old Friendships.

The visit in Pittsburgh of Mrs. Newton Large of Florence, Col., will serve to renew many old acquaintances and to form new ones. Mrs. Large is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles F. Wells, Jr., of Maryland avenue, and is accompanied by her son, Wayne Large. They will spend July and August in the mountains near Somerset with Mrs. Large's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Van Kirk, who are also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wells now. They closed their home in Eustis, Fla., only last week, reaching Pittsburgh on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Wells will remain at their home in the East End until August, when they will spend a few weeks in Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Sr., of Shady avenue expect to close their home in the East End the latter part of this month and go down to their farm below Beaver.

Bowman-Bouck.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season in Leetsdale was the marriage yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, of Miss Edyth L. Bowman of Leetsdale and Theodore Bouck of Schenectady, N. Y. The ceremony was performed in the First United Presbyterian church of Leetsdale by the pastor, the Rev. John A. Gregg. The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid, Miss May Bouck, a sister of the bridegroom, wore pink silk and carried pink roses. William Bowman, brother of the bride, was best man. After a reception at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Bouck left for Schenectady, where they will spend a month. After July 5 they will be at home in Leetsdale in a splendid residence which is now being completed.

Interesting Wedding in Washington.

An interesting wedding in Washington, Pa., on Wednesday, June 22, will be that of Miss Bessie Dunkle and Chauncey Irwin MacDonald, which will take place at the home of the bride. After an extended wedding trip through Canada, Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will make their home in Ambridge, Pa., where Mr. MacDonald holds a position with the American Bridge Company. They will be at home after July 15. Mr. MacDonald is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college of the class of 1902. He is a son of C. I. MacDonald, a well-known contractor of this city, whose summer home is in Woodlawn, Beaver county. Miss Dunkle is a very popular Washington (Pa.) girl.

Will Summer on Their Farm.

The wedding of Miss Catherine Pauline Reel, daughter of Mrs. Catherine T. Reel of Bellevue, and Robert Lee Matthews will be an event of tomorrow. The Rev. Father I. McGovern of the Roman Catholic Church of the Assumption will perform the ceremony at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, the attendants including a sister, Miss Stella Reel, as maid of honor; Dr. Robert T. McElroy, best man, and Dr. Edward McGuire and Frank Dougherty as ushers. After the wedding dinner and reception the bride and bridegroom will go east, returning to make their home in Grant avenue, Bellevue.

Reception for Lady Durand.

Mrs. George Westinghouse gave a large reception and tea at "Erskine Park," her delightful Lenox country seat, yesterday afternoon in honor of Lady Durand, wife of the British ambassador, and Miss Durand, her daughter. The hours were from 5 till 6. There were beautiful decorations of cut flowers about the house. Mrs. Westinghouse was assisted in receiving by her nieces, Miss Catherine Westinghouse of New York and Miss Wadsworth of Albany. A very large number of the Lenox cottagers were present, and the affair was in all ways a most delightful one.

Wedding in Bellevue.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McClements of Liberty avenue, East End, will take possession of their new farm near Sandy Lake during the early part of July. The farm, comprising 72 acres, was recently purchased by Mr. McClements and Thomas Moreland, who will occupy it jointly during the hot months. The owners have planted a number of trees on the grounds and on the day they take possession will have a flag-raising and will also name the place, which will be the scene of many gay little social affairs and house parties during the summer.

Dinner at Economy.

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circle of class 84 of the Emory Methodist Episcopal church Sunday school had a chicken and waffle supper at the Hotel Economy Saturday evening. The affair was most enjoyable. Among the members of the class present were the president, H. W. Dubbs; Miss Ruth Evans, Miss Grace Evans, Miss Marion McEwan, Miss Pearl Stewart, Miss Elizabeth Smiley, Edward Eyman, Blair Davis, Thomas McEwan and Jay Fisher.

Former Pittsburgh Girl Engaged.

An announcement of interest to friends in Pittsburgh is that of the engagement of Miss Jessie C. Bullock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bullock, formerly of this city, but now of Glen Flora, Tex., and Horace B. Setzler of Coraopolis, Pa. The wedding will be an event of the coming fall.

The Cecelian orchestra will furnish music.

Mrs. Decker's Bridge Whist.

Mrs. John Joy Edson, Jr., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bennett, was the guest of honor at the bridge whist which Mrs. Omar Scott Decker of St. James street gave yesterday afternoon. Five tables were in use and the prizes were won by Miss Elizabeth Hanna, Mrs. Osborne Heasley and Mrs. Louis Brown.

Will Summer Abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines Allen Machesney left on Saturday for St. Louis, where they will spend 10 days. They will sail for Europe June 29, intending to spend the remainder of the summer in the suburbs of London and Paris.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Story of Braddock's Defeat.

The Keystone chapter, Daughters of Pioneers, met yesterday afternoon at the home of the state regent, Mrs. James Graham Chalfant, in the East End, when arrangements were made for an outing at Kennywood park on Thursday, June 30, which will be the final meeting this season. Kennywood was selected as being the most convenient point near the site of the battle in which Braddock and his soldiers met defeat. An address on "Braddock's Defeat" will be presented by Mr. Lamb, librarian of the Braddock Carnegie library.

The Keystone chapter was recently organized, and is the only chapter in this state. Yesterday a copy of the charter, received from the president-general at the headquarters of the society, in Parkersburg, W. Va., was read, and the aims of the society explained. They consist in perpetuating the memory of the valor and deeds of the men and women who were the pioneer settlers of this country, and in collecting data and relics of that period, and in aiding historical societies in preserving such records and relics.

After the business of the chapter was disposed of, Mrs. Chalfant read a paper descriptive of the progress of Braddock's army toward Pittsburgh and of the hardships and final defeat which it met within a few miles of the site of the present city. Mrs. Chalfant was appointed state regent for Pennsylvania, and the officers of the Keystone chapter include Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, regent; Mrs. James Patterson, vice regent; Mrs. Alfred E. Clarke, recording secretary, and Mrs. Albert McCloy, treasurer.

Staking Out Their Booths.

The entertainment committee of the New Era club spent yesterday afternoon on the old Charles J. Clarke place, Forbes street and Craft avenue, Oakland, the present armory of the Eighteenth regiment. The arrangement of the various booths for the garden party which the club will give next Friday afternoon was determined upon and the location of the arc lights which will illumine the grounds decided. The booths will be grouped along the driveways before the house and, if the weather be good, the euchre in the afternoon will be conducted out of doors in one of the tents which were occupied last week by the visiting soldiers. The game will commence promptly at 2 o'clock and no places will be reserved after that hour.

The drill hall will be reserved for the various forms of entertainment which the amusement committee will provide. There will be a vaudeville show, Miss Locke will have a display of fine art glass, R. H. Geiger and the Knoxville quartet will provide music and there will be a street piano and a hurdy-gurdy; Vasco and Fayette will present an entertainment of magic and the Eighteenth's bugle corps, led by a son of Col. F. I. Rutledge, will appear. There will also be many fancy dances and a contest over the most popular woman will be carried on. The interior of the drill hall will be arranged much like a "pike" or "midway."

Summer Playground in Homestead.

Under the auspices of the club women of Homestead a summer playground and vacation school was opened yesterday morning in the Second ward school of that borough. There were 50 children enrolled. At present there are two teachers, Miss Fowler and Miss Bertha Thomas, Miss Fowler having charge of the industrial work, while Miss Thomas is director of the kitchen-garden department. The class in kitchen-garden yesterday included 22 of the girls. Mrs. Dallas Albert and Mrs. Samuel Harper, the director and assistant director of the kitchen-garden schools in this city, under whom Miss Thomas studied last winter, were present and assisted in inaugurating the work. Under the care of Miss Fowler the classes in sewing and basketry were started.

The summer playground in Homestead will be open for six weeks and will be conducted under the direction of the members of the Woman's club of that place. The club women have been raising money for its support during the winter and spring, and $125 of the total amount needed—$150—has been secured already. Among the club women present yesterday morning were Mrs. H. de la Cossitt, the president of the club; Mrs. Charles U. Ashley, Mrs. Jesse Williams, Mrs. W. E. Underwood and others.

Flag Day at the Golf Club.

This will be a busy day in club circles. This afternoon the Colloquium club will give a military euchre in the new Bellefield clubhouse, Craig street and Center avenue, for the benefit of the Soho public baths.

Mrs. B. H. Gilliford, the delegate from the Travelers' club to the biennial meeting of the general federation of Women's clubs in St. Louis, will make her report.

The Lawrenceville New Century club will hold its annual election of officers this afternoon. Today is president's day in the Woman's club of Wilkinsburg.

A picnic in Riverview park will be the occasion of a last rally of the members of the Colonial club this season.

A Busy Day in Club Circles.

Today is Flag day, and the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will celebrate it at the Pittsburgh Golf club. The hours of the reception will be from 3 o'clock until 6, and at 3:30 Miss Sara H. Killikelly will give an address on "The Louisiana Purchase."

June-Time Amusements

Avenue—Charles Abbe in Vaudeville.

The popular comedian of the Grand Stock Company for several seasons took his initial plunge into vaudeville as the headliner of the Avenue bill yesterday. Mr. Abbe's welcome was a most cordial one at both performances, as much for his personal popularity as for the expectations which his present sketch creates. It is an original monologue act, called "The Old Maid's Doll," and recites how a doll which an old maid has invented for the purpose of making a fortune for certain dancing patents gradually passes from a doll to a live dancing child in the person of Mr. Abbe's sweet-faced little daughter, Olive, who introduces, incidental to the act, some very clever and graceful clog dancing. The act is crude in form and the monologue contains some lines that will need to be toned down a bit, but it serves a laughable purpose in giving us Abbe in a sort of "Charley's Aunt" role, while the central idea of the evolution of the doll is quaint and well worked out. Moore and Littlefield (with a new Littlefield) do their popular act, giving an inside view of a vaudeville stage. It is an excellent turn, and Mr. Moore is an actor of more than ordinary cleverness. The Wilsons do a turn that is one of the best of the various negro acts on the stage. They are talented colored people and have the good sense to act according to their racial peculiarities and not attempt to imitate "white folks." Techow's performing cats are as wonderful as ever and pleased the audiences yesterday immensely. Will H. Fox repeated his former hit here as a trick pianist. One of the best acts on the bill is the singing of Winona Winter, a charming little local favorite. Miss Winter is a good ventriloquist and her imitation of Vernon was a fine exhibition of ventriloquial power. The Quigley brothers made good in an old-fashioned Irish dialogue act. The bill is amusing throughout and ought to please the warm weather audiences who like straight vaudeville without extra frills.

Nixon—Iroquois Club Concert.

One of the most delightful post-theatrical season entertainments that the city has known for a long time was the concert given by the Iroquois club at the Nixon theater last evening, under the management of Mr. W. H. Totten and the musical direction of Mr. Thomas F. Kirk, Sr. Society was out in a considerable force, and the beautiful evening gowns of the ladies formed a conspicuous addition to a scene of animation within the cool auditorium prior to the beginning of the unusually excellent and varied program. Miss Katherine Vilsack sang several delightful selections in a voice of great sweetness, strength and purity. She was recalled again and again and was the recipient of some lovely flowers. Mr. James P. Dunlevy's recitations were very greatly enjoyed. The pathetic little story of the fiddle was especially well rendered and fully sustained Mr. Dunlevy's excellent local reputation.

One of the most enjoyable numbers on the program was a vaudeville sketch by Moore and Littlefield, kindly loaned for the occasion by Manager Harry Davis of the Avenue theater. It is intensely humorous and the audience enjoyed every moment of it. The splendid music by Lignante's Royal Neapolitans is already well known, while the singing of the leaders of this truly fine orchestra added a vocal sparkle to their act. The one-act sketch, "Old Love Letters," was very finely played by Mrs. Lizzie Hudson Collier and Mr. William Beach. It is a half humorous, half pathetic little story, and the players gave admirable emphasis to its spirit and purpose. Mrs. Collier was seen to particularly good advantage, and played the little role with charming grace and naturalness. The Nixon orchestra, under Mr. Faeder's leadership, furnished the entire act music.

Altogether, the occasion was a truly delightful one, and reflected great credit upon the excellent taste of those who managed it.

Bijou—"Escaped from Sing Sing."

Venerable melodrama, with a pugilistic prop in the redoubtable Jimmy Britt, pleased two big audiences at the Bijou theater yesterday. "Escaped from Sing Sing" used to thrill the patrons of sensational melodrama nearly 30 years ago, and it has lost none of its vim on the present generation. The piece is head and shoulders above any of the output of contemporaneous playwrights who are turning out stuff for the entertainment of the popular priced houses, and in the hands of a number of good actors it makes one of the strongest attractions the Bijou has had for some time. The realism is real realism and is not manufactured especially for stage purposes. Consequently the characters are not marred by grotesque exaggeration. Frederick Montague and Walt Whitman do some high class work and are ably supported by Fanny McIntyre. The action in the fifth act lost nothing by the boxing bout between Jimmy Britt and his brother. Britt has been hailed as the featherweight champion of the world since his victory over "Young Corbett."

ON GUARD.

ON THE BANKS OF THE YALU.

THE Russians have a strong guard along the banks of the Yalu, and have Cossacks scouring the line of the Siberian railroad to protect the main army and the main line from detachments of Japanese. Although the Russians can throw a half million men into Manchuria or Korea, yet large numbers may only be a detriment as they cannot live on the country which will have been swept of all provisions, and it is a question whether the Siberian railroad can keep them supplied with food stuffs. Thus the Japanese will have the advantage of a near food supply. Just as the Cossacks guard the main body, so does the gastric juice of the stomach guard the human body. The gastric juice acts as an antiseptic, preserving the stomach contents from putrefaction during digestive process. The stomach is, in fact, a sort of disinfecting chamber in which germs are destroyed by the gastric juice, thus preventing fermentation and putrefaction, and protects the body from such disease germs as bring on typhoid fever and other sicknesses which develop in the alimentary canal. The pepsin as well as the acid of the gastric juice is destroying to germs, and the stomach mucus protects the stomach against the action of germs and germ poisons. The mucous membrane of the stomach eliminates certain poisons from the blood. This all goes to show how important it is for the main bodily health that the stomach be in strong, vigorous action. Our life is vigorous and full of vitality, our spirits exuberant and bubbling over if our blood is fed properly by the stomach. A dyspeptic does not have good blood because his stomach does not furnish to the blood the proper elements. When the stomach does not properly take care of our food poisons accumulate in the blood and we get spring fever, a general lassitude or weakness and despondency. The only real way to get at such difficulties is to treat the cause of it all—the stomach.

We all know that sweet butter cannot be made in a sour churn. The stomach is a churn. A foul stomach fouls the food put into it. When the food is foul the blood made from it is foul also. Foul blood means disease. Cleanse the churn and you have sweet butter. Cleanse the stomach and you have pure blood. The far-reaching action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach. There is an arrangement in the human body by which the supply and demand of food materials is adjusted. All the blood that comes from the stomach and bowels during the digestion of a meal, passes first through the liver and certain food matter is extracted. The starchs, sugars and fats are stored up by the liver and issued to the system as needed by the tissues, and certain poisonous matters of the food are taken out and gotten rid of by the bile. If the liver becomes torpid or diseased all these functions are interfered with. Poisonous matters are thrown back into the blood, causing headaches, bowel irregularities, and often severe illness, as jaundice, wherein these liver poisons are so abundant as to give a yellow color to the skin. A bilious spell is simply the result of an effort made by the liver to catch up when over-worked and exhausted. The "Discovery" is a liver regulator and rich blood-maker unsurpassed.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, when preparing the formula of the "Golden Medical Discovery," was well aware of the objections to sugar and alcohol and carefully eliminated them from his medicine.

Years ago, when he was in general and active practice, he found that a combination of certain herbs and roots made into an alterative extract, without the use of alcohol would always put the stomach into a healthy condition, nourish the tissues, feed the blood and nerves and put healthy tone into the whole system. This "Discovery" makes rich, red blood, and is a powerful tissue-builder, gives the tired business man or woman renewed strength and health. Rapidly growing schoolgirls and boys often show impoverished blood by the pimples or boils which appear on face or neck. To eradicate the poisons from the blood, and feed the heart, lungs and stomach on pure blood, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing spoils the red corpuscles of the blood and causes such paleness of the face as malaria, this is also true of the grip. If you "put your house in order" by making the blood pure you will not be subject to such troubles. This "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce is just the thing for those who are recovering from attacks of the grip, malaria, or typhoid. It is a reconstructive tonic whose effect is to increase the red blood cells rapidly and bring back color to the face.

We guarantee that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does not contain alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. It is a pure compound of medicinal plants scientifically combined. Persons making false statements concerning its ingredients will be prosecuted.

R. V. Pierce

ROBBERS CHASE FARMER; HE SHOOTS THROUGH DOOR

Frightens Away Thieves Near Greensburg, Pa.—Safe Blown Near Wampum, Pa.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., June 13.—Jeremiah Clark, a rich farmer of Millwood, was returning from a pasture field last night when three masked men ordered him to hold up his hands. He eluded them and ran half a mile to his home, shots being fired at him. Later the robbers attempted to batter down the kitchen door. They were frightened by Mr. Clark shooting through the door. By the accidental discharge of his shotgun the farmer shot off the index finger of his right hand. Millwood has been harassed by robbers. During the winter a vigilance committee was organized and depredations ceased for a time.

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 13.—In broad daylight a safe at the home of John Marshall, near Wampum, was blown open yesterday afternoon while the family was at church. About $50 in cash and valuable papers were stolen. The latter were recovered today. The house was badly damaged by the explosion. Huge holes were torn in the ceiling and the floor and the furniture was demolished. Tracks were found in the soft soil and officers in surrounding towns have been given the measurements.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., June 13.—Mrs. M. T. Corbin was attacked and robbed of a pocketbook by three negroes last night in South Connellsville. She is in a serious condition today from the shock. The negroes escaped.

MONONGAHELA, PA., June 13.—Chief of Police Leo Logan was notified by John Solomon of Donora, this morning, that he had been waylaid and robbed by two negroes near Black Diamond, late last night. The robber took Solomon's watch and about 80 cents in change and then beat him into unconsciousness. John Whitlock was arrested later on suspicion and was held for court.

ITALIAN ATTACKS CHILD.

Fellow Countrymen Threatened to Lynch the Man After Capturing Him.

MANOWN, PA., June 13.—(Special.)—Joseph Gerbarvitz, an Italian, narrowly escaped lynching this morning at Axleton, the new town opposite Monongahela. He is now in the jail at Monongahela charged with attacking Rosella Devall, 12 years old. She had been sent to a store and was returning home by a lonely path when she met Gerbarvitz, who is said to have thrown his arms about the girl. When she struggled to free herself, the Italian choked her nearly to death. He took her pocketbook, containing 63 cents, and then, after beating the prostrate girl till she was unconscious, fled. She recovered sufficiently to reach home.

A posse of Italians organized, and within a few hours captured Gerbarvitz. Hotheaded members of the posse urged that the fellow be lynched, but the counsel of cooler heads prevailed, and the prisoner was turned over to the police at Monongahela.

It is supposed the house was set on fire by someone who objected to having a colored family in the neighborhood. State Fire Marshal Hollenbeck has been sent for.

Koepping was only 22 years old. He murdered John Martine in Port Jerviss, February 19, 1903, after having been ejected for non-payment of his board bill. Previously he had served six months in prison for robbing a woman with whom he had eloped from New York.

Borgstrom, a Swedish gardener, murdered his wife by cutting her throat in a jealous rage in their home at Mount Kisco. A 14-year-old step-daughter tried to interfere and narrowly escaped the same fate.

The fatally wounded:

LEVANT S. NUTTING, upper part of body crushed, arms broken; cannot live.

Lawrence and Nutting, both carpenters, had been employed to repair the interior of the Sheckels house, at No. 6 Water street. One was under the building, and it is supposed that he accidentally broke the gas pipe connections. Gas accumulated and exploded with terrific force. The house immediately collapsed and flames sprang up in the debris, communicating with the storage house of J. J. Cole, adjoining, which was destroyed. Cole found Nutting some distance from where the explosion occurred. His shoulder was crushed and his arms broken. Nutting had been blown through the two walls. Miss Emma Sheckels was in the dining room when the explosion took place, but escaped serious injury. The flames soon completely destroyed the Cole establishment.

The body of Lawrence was found beneath the wreckage, after the flames had been subdued. The building was valued at $9,000 and the contents at $20,000. The Sheckels house and contents were valued at $2,000, and an adjoining building, No. 8 Water street, was damaged $500. Lawrence leaves a widow and family.

POLICEMEN ON TRIAL FOR JOHNSON KILLING

The Affair Grew Out of the Strike at Rochester, Pa., Glass Works.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, PA., June 13.—What promises to be the most stubbornly fought criminal case in the annals of Beaver county began this morning before Judge J. Sharp Wilson, when two coal and iron policemen, Joseph Finler and Charles H. Patterson, were placed on trial on a charge of killing Frank Johnston, a glassworker, near the Rochester glass works on the night of April 10. The glass company is said to have saved no expense in preparing for the defense of the men. Attorney John Marron of Pittsburgh and Attorneys John M. Buchanan and A. E. Barnett are defending the prisoners. District Attorney D. K. Cooper is assisted by ex-District Attorney John S. Robb of Pittsburgh and E. S. Weyland.

Johnston is alleged to have been with a crowd of striking workers who refused to move when ordered to do so by the officers. The latter approached the men where they were congregated on the Pittsburgh & Ft. Wayne tracks, and in the altercation that followed Johnston was shot.

It took until 3 o'clock this afternoon to select the jury, all but 10 of the panel being exhausted. The testimony this afternoon was devoted to gaining information from the physicians regarding the death of Johnston and a description of the ground where the shooting took place.

DARBY'S DEATH AIRED IN COURT

James P. Brennan, a Braddock Liquor Dealer, Is on Trial Charged With Crime.

MISS M'LEAN FILES ANSWER

James P. Brennan was placed on trial yesterday, before Judge Frazer, charged with the killing of Thomas Darby, a constable, on February 9 last. Brennan is a wholesale liquor dealer in Braddock, and the killing was said to have occurred during a fight over political matters. Manslaughter is the crime charged. Brennan is represented by ex-Judge Edwin H. Stowe, Edwin W. Stowe and William J. Brennan, while Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb and John C. Haymaker represent the commonwealth.

Mrs. Margaret A. Darby, widow of the constable, testified she saw her husband dying on the floor of the basement of Louis F. Holtzman's house. She could not look at the sight and left the room while the doctors were working with him. The steel ink eraser, which was shown her, she said her husband had carried for 15 years in his upper left vest pocket.

Mrs. Mary Holtzman gave details of the fight between the men, which she witnessed from the basement windows of her home. She went out into the alley after the fight had progressed.

"Mr. Brennan had Mr. Darby down," she said, "and was striking him in the face. I went out and lifted up Mr. Darby's head, and every time I lifted up Darby's head, Mr. Brennan struck him in the face again. One of the blows struck me on the cheek."

"What did you say to Brennan?" was asked.

"I said, 'You would not kill a cripple, you coward.' Mr. Brennan kept on striking him while Darby was trying to get up. Mr. Rosenbaum finally separated the men."

"What did Darby say when you took him into the house?"

"He asked for a drink of water, and said: 'I am all in.'

A number of other witnesses were called to prove parts in the affair. The commonwealth will resume its case today.

C. H. McDonald pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and one of false pretense, made by C. A. Filson, representing a downtown department store. The check was one for $75 and was passed at the store. On each charge the court sentenced the defenant to serve a year in the workhouse, the sentences to run concurrently.

Harry Lewis was convicted of a charge of larceny from the person, made by George F. Neebling. Earle Burlington was tried on the same indictment, but was acquitted. The boys were alleged to have picked pockets.

John Witts was charged with burglary by William C. Grubbs of 819 South Canal street, Allegheny, and was convicted. He is alleged to have entered Grubbs' home but did not secure anything. He will be sentenced later.

In the equity suit of Ella M. Brown, executrix, against Nattie W. McLean to recover West Virginia oil property alleged to belong to the estate of J. O. Brown, the denfendant yesterday filed answer. She claims the property in her own right, setting forth assignments to her by J. O. Brown, which are a matter of record in West Virginia. On June 15, 1900, she says he made an assignment of his interest in the White farm to her; on December 15, 1902, he assigned his interest in the M. L. Gorrell farm to her, and on January 9, 1903, in the Elroy Wagner farm. Copies of the assignments, made a part of the answer, show one dollar was the consideration in each instance. She asks that the bill be dismissed at the plaintiff's cost.

A hearing was held before Judge Buffington in the United States district court yesterday in the bankruptcy case of Nathan Schwartz, a merchant of Homestead. The receiver charged that goods owned by Schwartz had been stored in the name of Julius Caplan. Schwartz filed an answer, asserting that he had sold the goods to Caplan for $643, and an answer was filed by Caplan, stating that he had bought and paid for the goods, and that he did not know when he purchased them that Schwartz contemplated bankruptcy. The attorneys in the case made opposite assertions to the court. The representative of the receiver said he had witnesses who would swear that Caplan said he never purchased the goods, and the attorney for Schwartz said he had heard Caplan say he bought them.

Attorney E. R. Edmundson said he had filed the answer for Caplan, using the statements his client had made to him. It was suggested that the answer be withdrawn, but the court would not allow this and several witnesses were examined.

Louis Gordon testified that last Saturday night Caplan said he had not purchased the goods, did not own them and did not want them. He added that he did not know the goods were stored in his name until told about it. Schwartz had asked him to say he had bought the goods, bue he refused. The witness asked Caplan to come into court and tell his story, but he would not agree to do so.

E. Stein and E. Frank gave similar evidence, and A. O. Thompson, a teamster, testified to hauling goods from Schwartz's store to the storage house.

Judge Buffington ordered that Caplan and Schwartz be brought into court Thursday morning, and adjourned the case until that time.

FIVE BILLS FOR MURDER.

Grand Jury Makes a Record for One Day's Indictments. Other Returns.

For the first time in years the grand jury passed on five bills charging murder yesterday and all were returned true counts. Those against whom the bills were returned are Minnie Bendinger, Martin Stone, Huey McMawn, John Margita and Charles M. George.

The bill against Minnie Bendinger charges her with killing Laura E. Rubright of Pitcairn on Airbrake avenue, Wilmerding, on April 16, this year. She is said to have met the deceased about 9:40 o'clock in the evening and to have drawn a revolver and fired. Death was instantaneous. Jealousy is said to have been the cause. Mrs. Rubright was 28 years old.

Martin Stone is held for the death of his brother, Joseph, of 333 Thirty-third street. A quarrel between the two on the night of April 16, this year, is said to have resulted in Martin Stone drawing a revolver and firing the shot which caused his brother's death. Joseph Stone was 35 years old and single.

Huey McMawn is charged with having killed Edward C. Duggan in Baldwin township on April 12, 1904. He is alleged to have struck Duggan and knocked him down, the effect of which was a fractured skull, from which he died two days later at the Homeopathic hospital.

John Margita is said to have pushed his fist through the window of the home of Mrs. Catherine Papney of 17 Irwin street. In doing this he struck a lamp which exploded, burning Mrs. Papney so badly that she died two days later at the Mercy hospital. She was 49 years old. The alleged murder occurred on April 2, 1904.

Charles M. George is said to have shot George W. Downing, a carriage trimmer, of 619 Kirkpatrick avenue, on April 11, this year. The bullet took effect in the head and death followed shortly afterwards. The deceased was 45 years old and married.

It will be noticed that all the alleged murders occurred in April of this year. The other true bills returned by the grand jury are as follows:

SUSPECTED OF BURGLARY.

Pittsburgh Constable Arrested in Wheeling for Steubenville Robbery.

James Holland, who was arrested in Wheeling yesterday, suspected of burglary committed in Steubenville, O., is well known in this city. He is a constable employed by Alderman Thomas Edgar on the South Side. Posing as an officer, Holland is suspected of going to various cities and towns in Ohio and West Virginia and committing robberies.

Recently Holland accompanied a foreigner to a Wylie avenue pawn broker where the foreigner pledged a watch. Holland vouched for the foreigner's identity. The watch had been stolen in Steubenville. Later the foreigner was found and he told Detectives Cole and Eagan that Holland had given him the watch on condition that he was to pawn it and turn half the money over to Holland.

TYNER ASKS VINDICATION

Aged Former Postoffice Official Writes to Roosevelt.

APPEAL IS PATHETIC

Says the President Was Mislead and Deceived by the Bristow Report.

HE REVIEWS THE TRIAL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 13.—James N. Tyner, who was removed from office as assistant attorney general for the postoffice department during the investigation of the department and who recently was tried and acquitted by a jury, has addressed the following letter to President Roosevelt:

Washington, D. C., June 11, 1904.

The President:

Sir—In November, 1903, on the strength of certain charges contained in a report by Mr. Bristow, the fourth assistant postmaster general, you gave to the press of the country a statement to the effect that "gross corruption in the case of Assistant Attorney General Tyner has gone on for a number of years," and after referring to me as "the chief offender," you say that in my case "the corruption took the form of favoring get-rich-quick concerns and similar schemes; in other words, the criminals, whom it was (my) sworn duty to prosecute, paid (me) for permission to fleece the public unmolested." After thus giving your official opinion as chief magistrate of the nation as to my guilt, you referred to the fact that there were three indictments pending against me, and you called upon a jury to do its duty.

No verdict of jury nor sentence of judge could have had such far-reaching or irremediable consequences for me as this extraordinary official proclamation of guilt by you, and the ordinary machinery of justice is probably powerless fully to rectify the injustice done. Immediately upon seeing your charges in the press I addressed you a letter protesting that on the mere say so of Mr. Bristow you had no right, without at least first giving me a chance to be heard in my defense or without confronting me with the charges or the evidence, thus prematurely and rashly to prejudge me and perhaps forever blast the good name and character which for nearly 80 years I had endeavored to establish.

Expected Death Before Trial.

When I wrote this letter I had little hope that a merciful and just God would spare my life long enough to enable me to face a jury of my peers, and I wished merely to record what I believed to be a deathbed protest against your unusual, unjust and arbitrary action. Fortunately, I have now had my day in court, and according to the law of the land, I have established my innocence of any crime or of any misconduct in office. I instructed Messrs. Worthington and Hershey to lay fully before the court and jury every act of my official and private career and to take advantage of no legal technicalities. The jury were asked by me and by my counsel and by the court to ignore my age and physical condition. I asked not for an acquittal, but for a vindication, and, so far as possible, every act of mine, referred to in Mr. Bristow's report, was placed before them fully and exhaustively. The jury, without a moment's hesitation, pronounced me "not guilty" on all the indictments. Their verdict, I am advised and believe, expresses the unanimous sentiment of every member of the bar and of the community who followed the case. And I may add that I was not content to rest my vindication on the government's failure to prove a crime, but I insisted on affirmatively proving my innocence of any wrongdoing.

Such a verdict in a trial brought in good faith would ordinarily be a sufficient vindication of an accused party, but unfortunately in this case your official proclamation of my assumed guilt has such weight, and is entitled to have such weight, that to many it practically overrides the verdict of the jury. I notice that many of your friends do not hesitate to say that your verdict given before the trial is more to be relied upon than the verdict of court and jury given after the trial. Against such injustice I have no recourse, except by appealing to your sense of right and fair dealing.

Bristow's Report Denounced.

In my letter to you of December 2, 1903, I intimated briefly that your action was unjust and wrong, and that you would not have taken the course you did if you had not been misled and deceived by Mr. Bristow's report. I charged that his report suppressed the facts, garbled the evidence, misquoted the records, made untrue statements and was in every way calculated to mislead and deceive you as well as the public.

I now reaffirm these charges, and I call your attention to the fact that it is no longer merely my statement against Mr. Bristow's, but that witness after witness on the stand for the government in my trial denied the accusations in his report, and document after document from the government files disproved his charges. I do not mean for a moment to question the good faith and entire sincerity of your proclamation; I wish merely to emphasize the fact that you have been deceived and that your laudable zeal for public and official decency has been imposed upon.

You accuse me of "gross corruption;" the attorneys for the government constantly disclaimed any such charge before the jury. You charge that I was "paid by criminals not to prosecute them;" not a scintilla of evidence was offered to sustain such a charge, nor was a single witness nor a single document produced to show special favors to "swindling schemes," or a single violation of duty. Every charge in the Bristow report in any wise reflecting on me has been disproved by the recent trial—disproved not by virtue of the verdict, but by sworn evidence of the government's own witnesses.

In my letter to you I prayed that my life and mental powers might be spared until I had convinced the American public, and you as chief magistrate, that all my acts have been honest, honorable and straightforward in the sight of God and man. My remaining hours are few, and though my house is in order and with clear conscience I await from day to day the irrevocable summons, nevertheless I cannot close my eyes without first appealing to you, Mr. President, as my chief accuser, to endeavor in so far as you can, to right the great wrong which you have unwittingly done me.

I am, sir,
Very respectfully,
(Signed) JAMES N. TYNER.

EASTERN STOCK MARKET CLOSED HEAVY AND LOWER

Steel Preferred Led the Reaction on Reported Selling for Pittsburgh Account—River Coal Preferred Ruled Weak.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Wall street was disappointed at the action of the stock market yesterday. At the opening there were several factors in favor of a continuation of the advance of last week. The bank statement, with its surplus reserve larger than at any time in the past five years, seems to give assurance of continued easy money. London quotations were firm and higher and foreigners were moderate purchasers. Professional traders talked in a more cheerful tone. The market opened active and firm, and the average of prices was higher, but public interest was lacking. Shortly after the opening, when the market was hesitating, rather heavy selling of United States Steel preferred appeared, causing a quick decline from 54⅞ to 53¾. This selling was credited to Pittsburgh although local commission houses interviewed after the close of the market would not admit that there had been any selling of Steel for Pittsburgh account. Whether the selling was genuine liquidation of long stock, or whether it represented a drive against the market, cannot be stated with certainty, but the effect was the same. Amalgamated Copper, which advanced to 50, reacted to 49¼ and the other industrials sold off fractionally.

A fair rally occurred a little later in the session under the leadership of Ontario & Western and Reading. It was just a week ago that extremely heavy buying of Ontario & Western lifted the market out of its rut and encouraged the upward movement which occurred during the latter part of the week. The buying of this stock yesterday, as well as of Reading, was thought to be for the same influential interests as last week. The ease with which the market reacted, however, discouraged the bulls, and profit-taking caused a general decline, averaging nearly 1 per cent all around. The close was heavy, with prices at or near the lowest of the day. Pennsylvania declined from 115¼ to 114½, St. Paul from 142⅞ to 141⅜, and Union Pacific, which had been active during the early part of the day, declined from 86 to 85.

There was very little news having a direct bearing upon the market. The predicted decline in the price of copper took place, both in London and New York, but Amalgamated Copper did not decline as much as some of the other stocks. The decline in the metal, however, appears to be logical. Production is increasing at a time when business is decreasing, and consumers of copper, like consumers of other commodities, are buying only from hand to mouth. There was nothing new on the iron trade. There were reports of additional mills preparing to close down because of a lack of orders, and the prospect is that business will continue dull during the present month. This day next week the Republican national convention is scheduled to meet, and it is just possible that speculation in the stock market may relapse into extreme dullness pending the nominations and the announcement of the platform.

The fact that the hard coal stocks declined as much as anything else gave some color to a rumor that the attorney general of the United States was about to proceed against the anthracite coal roads in connection with the investigation being conducted by the interstate commerce commission, but there was no reliable information on this point.

Commodity markets were firmer, but the rather sharp advance in wheat was based more upon covering of shorts than upon any unfavorable news regarding the crops.

The tone of the local stock market yesterday was dull and heavy. The only stock in which transactions exceeded 300 shares was River Coal preferred. It opened lower at 21, and 365 shares sold at that price, a decline of ¾ from Saturday's closing bid, and within a fraction of the lowest ever quoted. The weakness was based upon the rumors of the possibility of a reduction or passage of the semi-annual dividend, which falls due in July. The meeting to take action on the question may not be held until the last week in the present month. There were no sales of the common stock, which was offered at 8, but $9,000 of the 6 per cent bonds changed hands at 111, which was unchanged from the last previous sale. Pittsburgh Coal common was a fraction lower at 14¾, but the preferred remained steady and unchanged at 55. Crucible Steel common was unchanged at 4½, while the preferred advanced on one small sale to 34¾. United States Steel preferred closed ⅝ lower at 54. Westinghouse Electric was a shade firmer, and Airbrake remained steady and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

At one time during the session yesterday River Coal preferred was quoted at 21½ bid, 22 asked, but there were no sales until the afternoon, and then the 365 shares which changed hands was at the uniform price of 21. It was the impression on the exchange that the opening bid of 21½ was merely for support, while the subsequent selling was by nervous holders who feared the July dividend would be passed or reduced. It is said that all the figures relating to the business of the past half year are not yet in the hands of the directors, and that there would be no meeting of the board until the latter part of the month. There were no sales of the common stock, which was offered at 8. Of the total of 400,000 shares common stock, the Pittsburgh Coal acquired 300,000 shares, leaving only 100,000 shares in the hands of the public, and it is understood that this outside stock is held in large blocks by a comparatively small number of persons. Of the total of 200,000 shares preferred, the Pittsburgh Coal Company acquired 50,000 shares. The remaining 150,000 shares are widely distributed, and if the dividend were reduced or passed it would entail a hardship upon many investors.

The narrowness of the market for Crucible Steel preferred was illustrated again yesterday when the price advanced ¾ per cent on the filling of a small buying order. The common stock holds firm at 4½ sales and bid.

National Fire Proofing common was weak and lower, selling at 7¼. The preferred was dull and unchanged at 27.

Pittsburgh Coal was not affected by the heaviness of River Coal preferred, the common selling at 14¾ and the preferred at 55. A small lot of the dividend scrip sold at 101¼.

The Westinghouse stocks were very quiet yesterday. A small lot of Air Brake sold at 128½, which was unchanged, while 50 shares Electric sold at 78¼, a fractional advance.

The directors of the Railway Equipment Company have declared the regular monthly dividend of 1½ per cent and an extra dividend of 2 per cent, payable June 15.

More than a majority of the outstanding stock has been deposited in favor of the new United States Realty and Construction plan. The new securities will be issued July 1. The preferred stock rallied to 60⅛ bid at the close, after selling at 59¾.

A report is current in Chicago to the effect that the American Can Company will adjust arrears of dividend on the preferred stock by an issue of scrip or by some similar means. The preferred stock closed at 38½ bid.

A Boston dispatch says: In view of the $4,000,000 floating debt of the Dominion Coal Company and prospective large expenditures to complete necessary improvements, the dividend on Dominion Coal common stock will probably be suspended. When in Europe, Mr. Ross made arrangements for the issue of $8,000,000 Dominion Coal bonds to retire the $3,000,000 8 per cent preferred stock, fund the $2,571,000 6 per cent bonds and pay off part of the floating debt. The London banking interests favor the suspension of dividends on the common stock.

The directors of the Boston & Worcester Electric Company have declared an initial dividend of 2 per cent on the 22,536 shares of preferred stock of that company, payable July 1, to shareholders of record June 25.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the first week in June decreased $47,000. The stock was strong during the early session, but closed at a net loss of ¾ per cent.

On the New York curb market Interborough Rapid Transit stock advanced from 114¾ to 118½.

A large number of New York trust companies admit that they have been forced to reduce interest rates on certain lines of deposits as a result of easier money conditions. The reduction is confined largely to new accounts. "The reduction in interest is not sweeping," said the president of a large Wall street trust company. "We are paying the same rate on accounts of long standing as a year ago for the simple reason that these balances command the same interest irrespective of rates for call and time money. We are compelled to strike an average, and our old customers reap the benefits in periods of monetary depression. A number of trust companies continue to offer high interest rates in order to secure new accounts."

The weekly discussion of railroad traffic by officials was decidedly pessimistic and served to upset the calculations that better traffic conditions for the railroad would result from the better crop conditions of last week. On the contrary, railroad officials were rather generally agreed in the opinion that the merchandise movement over their lines was markedly smaller than last year, and that merchants and manufacturers were still persisting in their conservative hand to mouth methods of buying. Accumulation of empty cars was an item of many of these weekly interviews. The discussion bears on the traffic of last week but it anticipates reports of gross earnings to appear in regular course in the future, and whose influence will then have to be reckoned with. The resumption on a small scale of recently suspended traffic on the lakes is an influence in diminishing the traffic of railroads to which it was diverted during the effective period of the lake tie-up.

The domestic exports for May make a poor contrast with the relative improvement in April which it was hoped marked the turn for the better in our export trade. May exports of domestic products, on the contrary, have decreased over $15,000,000 from those of May last year and upward of $18,000,000 from April of this year. Of the decrease from last year, more than $11,000,000 is in value of breadstuffs and over $3,000,000 in value of cotton. The $4,734,801 of the breadstuffs exports makes the lowest valuation of any one month for years past. The advance in the grain markets helped to unsettle the stock market, as did a reduction in the price of copper.

The circular to stockholders of the Northern Securities Company renewed attention to the tying-up of the dividends on the $395,000,000 of stock of this corporation.

There was a good inquiry for bonds in New York yesterday and prices were firm. Total sales par value $1,855,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The output of the Salt Lake Independent smelters for the month of May made a remarkable record. The United States smelter shipped 1,051,000 pounds of copper bullion, the Bingham Consolidated 1,080,000 pounds and the Utah Consolidated 1,257,000 pounds. This of course represents largely the output from the Bingham mines, although some of the smelters received considerable ore from Tintic and from other parts of the state, while considerable of the Bingham output goes to the American furnaces.

The new ore body opened in the Highland Boy ground on the 500-foot level continues to show increased dimensions as work progresses. The opening of this new channel adds another fortune to the large reserves in this great property.

The Tetro Mining Company of Utah has declared its first regular dividend of 1 cent a share. The books will close June 25, and the dividend will be paid July 1. If nothing prevents, this dividend will be regular for some time to come. The company is at present earning enough to pay the dividend and add a little to the treasury each month.

The annual report of the Uncle Sam Consolidated shows that the company shipped during the year ore to the value of $61,693 33. The cash on hand at the beginning of the year was $12,202 43. The total expenses for the year were $63,411 93, leaving a balance of $10,483 94. These figures show that the company did not earn enough to meet expenses. In the disbursements is included the amount paid for the concentrating mill, which was $15,869 01. The bills for May have not yet been paid, which amount to $6,370 30. The company, however, is in very good condition at the present time and the mine should make a good record this year.

The plans for the big concentrator for the Newhouse mines are now completed. The structure is to be 400 feet long and 196 feet wide. It will be equipped with 64 cabins and 16 slimers. The foundation is almost finished and the steel for the superstructure will begin to arrive this month. Four crews of men are at work on the spur from Frisco to Newhouse.

The directors of the Utah Consolidated Company met this week to take dividend action. The usual semi-annual dividend of $1 50 a share will be declared, payable in July. There have been but slight delays in the building of the Utah's enlarged smelter, and it is the expectation of the management to be able to start upon an enlarged smelter output within a week or 10 days. There have been recent important mine developments at the Utah. An important strike of high-grade ore has been encountered on the eighth level which adds life and value to the property. Considerable reticence has been displayed as regards this strike. The only official information obtainable is that such a strike has been made.

A plan is in contemplation for the extensive electrification of the Calumet & Hecla property. It embraces enlargement of the electric generating plant at Lake Linden, and the conveying of the energy by wires to Calumet, for use throughout the property. The electrification of the Calumet & Hecla mine would, in all probability, mean the introduction of electric underground tram cars in portions of the property, particularly where long hauls are required, such as will be necessary to deliver rock from the stopes in the "five forties" which are now being developed.

STOCKS SELL DOWN; FUTURE IS CLOUDED

Hopeful Feeling Which Existed at Close of Last Week Is Dissipated.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Herald this (Tuesday) morning says:

By the comparatively easy manner in which stocks sold down yesterday a great deal of the hopeful feeling which existed at the close of last week regarding the future was dissipated. At the opening the firm tone gave promise of a continuation of the strength which was exhibited in the closing days of last week, but events within the first hour chilled the incipient enthusiasm. In a measure the course of the trading verified the statements that the recent rise was the result of speculative tactics of professional traders, and that the best of the movement would come when efforts were made to take profits on the purchases for the advance. The effort to take profits came sooner than was expected. The market absorbed the offerings at concessions and then became stagnant and uninteresting. Business was fairly active in those stocks which had made the best headway last week, but the activity was confined to the morning trading.

While there was some irregularity in special issues, the general market moved almost as a unit. The standard railroad stocks which led in the improvement last week were uniformly inclined to weakness, chiefly as the result of efforts to take profits. The fact that the professional element was so ready to sell when a profit of a point or thereabouts was apparent was disappointing to those who had hoped for some sustained strength. Soon after the opening, which was highly encouraging to those who had espoused the bullside, weakness developed in United States Steel preferred. The selling in this quarter apparently induced a general desire to take profits. All the leading stocks subsequently suffered declines averaging one point, but at the low prices dullness set in. The market closed fractionally above the low quotations.

SUICIDE WAS A MEMBER OF "THIRTEEN CLUB"

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Special.)—Himself the moving spirit in a Bridgeport (Conn.) organization founded as a "Thirteen club," and later reputed to be a suicide club, George Wagner, a jeweler, by his own suicide here today leaves but one of his fellow members to survive him. While it has been denied that the organization was a suicide club, practically all the men who were identified with it died of their own act. Wagner was found dead at the Morton house. Death had been caused by shooting.

RATE WAR THREATENED.

Coming of New Cincinnati Packet May Cause Excitement Soon.

As explained in The Gazette sometime ago, the White Collar line of Cincinnati will compete with the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line of this city. The steamer Indiana, belonging to the Cincinnati company, will make its first appearance here Friday night and is scheduled to leave Saturday afternoon at the same time the Virginia departs for down-river, according to definite information yesterday. It is probable that a rate war will follow the coming of the new line, but officials of the old company here are not saying anything at present. Unless rain comes this week it is possible that all the down-river packets will have to tie up on account of low water. In this event, the prospects of war between the two Cincinnati lines will be slim, until later on.

QUIT UNION OR EMPLOYERS.

Ultimatum Laid Down to Garment Workers Who Stand by Their Firm.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 13.—What is regarded as the most crushing blow trade unionism has received in Rochester is the refusal of B. Rothschild & Co. to renew their agreement with the United Garment Workers of America. This action leaves the organization without a single factory of importance in this city. The 8-hour working day is now a thing of the past as all the great clothing houses have adopted the 9-hour system.

The employes of the Rothschild factory have decided to remain loyal to the firm. At a mass meeting of the men held today President Chambers of Local 136 and leaders of other locals of the United Garment workers were present and used all their powers of persuasion without avail to induce the Rothschild factory operatives to oppose the wishes of their employers. The men voted unanimously in favor of remaining at work, even with the extra hour.

As a final alternative, Chambers and the other labor leaders say the men must choose between remaining in Mr. Rothschild's employ or expulsion from the union.

One hundred patrolmen will be scattered in the park. Twenty-five policemen will be detailed to the Schenley park race track. Supt. Wallace has arranged to have two officers at Craig street and Center avenue during the entire day, two at Fifth avenue and Craig street, two at Forbes and Craig streets, two at Brady and Forbes streets and two on the Brady street bridge. It will be the duty of these officers to assist women and children on and off the street cars and preserve order.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, June 13.—Money, 2½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2¼@2⅜ per cent. The demand for money in the market today was increased in connection with the heavy call for the new Japanese loan. During the week large amounts will be required on various new capital issues. Consequently discounts hardened. Trading on the stock exchange was inactive. Rails were dull. Consols were easier. Americans were the feature of the day's transactions owing to the firmness in sympathy with New York, and on the crop report, notably Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, Ontario & Western and Union Pacific. The market closed weaker. Foreigners were irregular. Japanese were better.

PARIS, June 13.—Three per cent rentes, 98 francs for the account. Trading on the bourse today continued inactive, owing to the uncertainty in regard to the far eastern situation. Russian imperial fours closed at 90.20.

BERLIN, June 13.—Exchange on London 20 marks, 41½ pfgs for checks. Discount rates: Short bills, 1½ per cent; three months' bills, 3 per cent. Business on the boerse today was stagnant.

FINE HOMES FOR SQUIRREL HILL

Six Costly Residences to Be Erected Near Forbes and Wightman Streets.

TWO GOOD NORTH SIDE SALES

The Squirrel hill district is likely to come into pronounced favor again as the result of the fine residences which will be erected there this summer. In the neighborhood around Forbes and Wightman streets five new houses are assured for this summer and two more property owners in the near vicinity contemplate building handsome homes before fall. The latest project announced is that of William Kerr's Sons to build three houses on a plot 160x200 feet in the north side of Forbes street near Wightman street. The houses will be pressed brick, center hall dwellings, containing 12 rooms and three bath rooms. Bids are now being taken and their cost is estimated at $20,000 each.

A short distance west of the Kerr property, and near the Forbes street entrance to Schenley park, the A. & S. Wilson Company is now building a $35,000 residence for W. W. Vensel, the broker. On the opposite side of Forbes street Jacob Kaufman will build a $30,000 residence from plans by Architects Vrydaugh & Wolfe, who also awarded the contract to A. Richmond & Sons for the erection of a $13,000 residence for A. M. Speer in the same locality. Last year William Eisner built a $35,000 residence on the lot adjoining the Kerr holdings. Property in this part of the Squirrel hill district has fully doubled in value in the last five years, and lots with a good depth and frontage can be secured now for less than $200 a front foot.

Activity in Building Is Encouraging.

Building operations continue to lead real estate in the relative cost and importance of the projects announced. Architect James T. Steen is taking bids on the additions to the Dollar Savings bank in Fourth avenue, which will consist of a wing on each side of the present building. The additions will be of red stone and granite and will cost approximately $80,000. The architects are receiving estimates on a two-story factory building for the Duquesne Incandescent Light Company to be erected at Murtland avenue and Bennett street at a cost of $16,000.

Bids are being taken in the office of Architect Marius Rosseau on the Elk's hall in Market street, McKeesport. The building will be three stories high, 54x140 feet in dimensions, and will cost $60,000. The same architect has plans on the boards for the St. Mary's Greek Catholic church in Second avenue, Monessen, to cost $20,000.

Other plans that are or will be this week in the hands of bidders, are a two-story brick and stone store building at Penn and Sheridan avenues, East End, for S. H. Lloyd, from plans by Carpenter & Crocker; a residence for Capt. George W. McCallam, in Woodland road from plans by Architects Vrydaugh & Wolfe, and additions to the residences of W. H. Ray, in Woodland road, and of Attorney Willis McCook, both from plans by Architects Alden & Harlow.

Brushton Plant Will Cost $30,000.

The W. G. Wilkins Company has awarded the contract to the George Hogg Company of Braddock, for a plant for the D. J. Kennedy Company, dealers in builders' supplies, in Brushton. The plant will cost at least $30,000, and will consist of a two-story office building, a one-story warehouse, 80x135 feet, a plaster mill, 58x78 feet, and a residence. The buildings will stand at Thomas street and Braddock avenue, and will be reached by elevated tracks from the Pennsylvania lines. Mr. Kennedy having sold his former site to that company some time ago.

Other contracts awarded recently are: Architect James T. Steen to W. O. Wright, a three-story brick house in South Negley avenue for T. R. Evans, to cost $15,000; Architects George S. Orth & Sons to A. Richmond & Sons, a three-story brick residence for Mrs. C. A. Wilson, at 716 St. James street, to cost $10,000; Architects Dean & Stophlet, to Galley & Chambers, for a $10,000 residence for John Fite in Elgin avenue; Architect J. F. Emmeriing to Galley & Chambers, for a three-story brick flat and store building at 5602 Penn avenue, to cost $15,000; the Homewood Peoples bank to Ross W. O. Wright, for a bank and office building in Homewood avenue to cost $25,000; Architect J. A. Miller to L. W. Shearer, three brick houses, and a store and flat for Charles Rebe, in Rosedale avenue, to cost $12,000; Architects Nirdlinger & Simpson to Ross K. Sefton, for a four-story brick flat at Liberty and Washington avenues, the owner being A. E. Steinfeld of Corry, Pa.

Allegheny Apartments Sold.

The Conors apartments in on the east side of Arch street, near Jackson street, Allegheny, have been sold to James A. Wakefield for about $30,000. The buildings stand on a lot 48x120 feet, with a width in the rear of 65 feet. Only one-half of the frontage is occupied by the flats as they are built in the form of a wing extending along the rear of the lot. The buildings were started last year by Pyle & Riffle, but have not been entirely completed. They include 18 flats of three and four rooms each, of which 11 are now rented. The flats bring from $22 to $34 a month, and the total revenue is about $6,000 a year.

The largest sale announced from Avalon for many months is that of the residence of the late Capt. W. P. Herbert, formerly with the Western Insurance Company, which has been bought by a local business man for $18,500. The residence is a large frame house standing near the center of a plot 118x400 feet, facing on the north side of Home avenue, near Lincoln avenue. The house is surrounded by beautiful shade trees and is one of the best known properties in the North Side suburbs. It is situated between the home of John Hamilton and the $30,000 residence of J. E. Heckman.

New York Realty Brokers Complaining.

According to the New York Realty Journal, real estate conditions in the metropolis are less favorable than here. Instead of the season for active buying lasting until Memorial day, as eastern brokers count on, it ended several weeks before that date this year. At present dealings indicate that there will be a decided slump in the early summer months. Selling is mainly confined to the nondescript flat and tenement properties, a few deals for large apartments being the only encouraging features of the market. Practically all such transactions are on a trade basis, and the values quoted, the article states, are the cause of many inexperienced investors wrecking their fortunes in these properties. In spite of the widespread notion among real estate professionals that the apartment hotel is the most risky of realty propositions, it is claimed that men who know how to run these buildings have made a pronounced success of them in New York. The large rentals and the active demand for tenement and lodging house properties in New York is pretty sure, it is argued, to make buying lively in these lines of properties since the men who stay at home during the summer are ready to invest quickly in any attractive proposition of this sort. The renting business in the metropolis is reported to be in fair condition, as rentals in some leading streets, notably Third avenue from Thirty-fourth to Sixtieth street, are steadily advancing.

Downtown Transfer Announced.

A big downtown deal which has just come to light is the transfer from George Blair Painter to Alice Blair Painter of properties in the First and Fourth wards. These include 228 Water street, a three-story brick warehouse on lot 31x100 feet, and a three-story brick warehouse on lot 35x100 feet at 817 Liberty avenue.

Summerlea street: Barr Bros. & Co. sold for George Macoubray to Mrs. Hannah Sweeney a brick house on lot 38x100 feet at Summerlea and Elwood streets for $9,250.

Lloyd street: P. M. Leahy sold to S. B. Hess an improved property 28.5x114.5 feet in Lloyd street, Twenty-second ward, for $7,200.

Topeka street: Margaret B. Ralston sold to C. L. Zollinger two lots 66x85 feet in Topeka street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $2,000.

Bennett street: W. W. Whitesell sold to W. J. Ritchey 35x90 feet at Bennett street and Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $1,650.

Idlewild street: J. H. Donovan sold to Helen Kaull 25x100 feet in Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, for $1,250.

The Real Estate Savings and Trust Company of Allegheny has sold for Mrs. Jennie E. Brent to Mary B. Flocker the property, Fairview avenue, the new entrance to Riverview park, lot 50x65 feet, and erected thereon a two-story frame dwelling; consideration, $5,800. They have leased the property to City Librarian Edward E. Eggers for a term of years.

The following Pittsburgh building permits were issued yesterday: To Mrs. Emma Webber for a three-story brick dwelling at Penn and Negley avenues, Twentieth ward, to cost $12,000; to John Fite, for a two-story and attic dwelling in Elgin avenue, Nineteenth ward, to cost $9,000; to Mary C. Colvin, for two two-story brick veneer dwellings in Race street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $6,500; to Jacob Sloan for repairs to a two-story and attic dwelling on Harrison street, Seventeenth ward, to cost $3,000.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The drygoods market continues to drag, and buyers seem to act as inspired by a common impulse, waiting evidently until more is known regarding prices. More interest is being taken in the cotton market, but the rapid fluctuations of the last two or three days has done much to confirm buyers in their waiting policy.

NO CHANGE IN BUTTER; FLOUR PRICES LOWER

New Mackerel Will Be Here Today—New Georgia Peaches Have Arrived.

The local butter market continues very steady, no changes having been made by the Elgin telegram yesterday afternoon. There was no change in eggs, and cheese moved out about the same as last week. Demand is fair on flour, but owing to local conditions certain prices were reduced yesterday and quotations below have been changed accordingly on spring and winter patents. There were no further changes in grocery prices, demand and supply being about the same as one week ago.

Mackerel will arrive today and quotations have been changed to meet the new market. Contrary to expectations the prices on mackerel are low compared with old stock. Old potatoes have been advanced again; what is left of this stock is taking the lead over new and the market is very firm. But one carload of old stock came in yesterday and the receipts of new potatoes were only about 1,800 barrels. Beans and egg plant are quoted lower. Home raised strawberries were on the market for the first time yesterday. The first Georgia peaches of the season were also on sale.

The feeling on hay was encouraging yesterday, receipts showing up somewhat light for Monday. Oats are holding steady; little corn is moving and prices are on the decline generally owing to scarcity of good stock. Millfeed is still holding up high and moving only in very limited quantities. The cattle market at Herrs island was a lively one, and from 15 to 25 cents higher than last week. Demand for live stock is excellent at present.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Pennsylvania, 20 cars hay, 13 cars corn, 14 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 3 cars straw, 2 cars corn and oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 1 car oats. Baltimore & Ohio, 11 cars hay.

Dealers charge an advance of 5c a bushel on grain and $3.00 a ton on hay and millfeed from warehouse in less than carload lots.

FLOODS IN SOUTHWEST BOOST GRAIN MARKET

Start Toward Better Prices Came About Noon—Corn and Oats Are Strong.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 13.—With coarse grains here strong and rumors of flooded fields in Kansas and Oklahoma, there was a sharp upturn today in the price of wheat. Compared with Saturday's close, final figures on July wheat were ¾@⅞c higher. Corn shows a gain of ¾@1c. Oats are up ¼@⅜c and provisions up 10c to 17½c.

Sentiment in the wheat pit was bearish during the early part of the session. Opening quotations on July were down ⅛c to ¼c, at 85¼c to 85½c. Lower cables and improved weather conditions were elements that tended to depress prices, but perhaps the chief factor was the report of world's shipments for the last week. While the total was about as expected, exports from America showed a decided decrease. Pit traders were inclined to consider the figures strongly indicative of the present European indifference to American wheat. Many bearish crop advices were received early in the day. One report commenting on the condition of spring wheat in the Canadian northwest said that prospects could not be more favorable.

Toward the middle of the day sentiment suddenly became dull and prices started upward. Strength in corn and oats was largely responsible for the change of tone. Some bullish crop reports were received from Kansas and Oklahoma, telling of flooded conditions and predicting a late harvest. Shorts were active purchasers during the latter part of the session, the market continuing strong until the close. After advancing to 86⅝@86¾c, July closed at 86⅛@86⅜c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 167,200 bushels. The amount on passage increased 440,000 bushels, and the visible supply decreased 2,128,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 420,000 bushels compared with 400,800 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 344 cars, against 352 cars last week and 457 cars a year ago.

The strength manifested in corn was rather surprising in view of the moderate volume of trade. There was a good demand for September from provision interests and a prominent commission house. Shorts also were active bidders. Offerings were scattered and apparently inadequate. Possibly the source of greatest strength was a report by the secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture alleging a bad condition of the crop throughout the state. Smaller receipts than expected were an early bull factor. The market closed well toward the top. July opened ⅛c to ¼c higher, at 48⅛c to 48⅜c, sold up to 49⅛c and closed at 49⅛@49⅜c. Local receipts were 439 cars, with 48 of contract grade.

There was a big general commission trade in oats. Demand largely centered in the September delivery, although there was also increased inquiry for December. Strength in corn was the main bull factor. Distant deliveries made an advance of about a cent, but the July option showed only a moderate gain. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher at 39½c to 39⅝c, July ranged between 39⅝c and 39⅞c, closing at 39⅝@39⅞c. Local receipts were 155 cars.

Provisions were strong on covering by shorts under the leadership of prominent packing interests. Light receipts of hogs, higher prices at the yards and strength of corn helped along the advance. At the close September pork was up 15@17½c, at $12 55. September lard showed an advance of 10c, at $7 05, and ribs were up 15c, closing at $7 52½. Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat, 47 cars; corn, 603 cars; oats, 185 cars; hogs, 17,000 head.

BUT SMALL DECREASE IN PIG IRON OUTPUT

Figures for May Show Production of 972,534 Tons Without Merchant Furnaces.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—Figures just compiled for May show that there has been a very small decrease in the production of pig iron. May, 1903, was the banner month of the pig iron industry in the United States, yet by the comparisons today in the Wall Street Journal, the decrease in the production this year was only 64,791 tons.

The 13 principal iron and steel companies—the United States Steel Corporation, the Cambria, the Pennsylvania, Lackawanna, Wheeling, Ashland, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Clairton, La Belle, Bethlehem and Colorado companies, produced total pig iron aggregating 972,534 tons in May. This compares with 1,037,305 tons produced by the same companies in May, 1903.

The May production of these companies was 1,472 tons less than the production in April of this year, but was greater than the production in April, 1903. The January production of the 13 companies was only 502,934 tons, showing an increase in the monthly rate of production since the first of the year of 469,540 tons.

Since January 1, 1904, the 13 big steel companies have produced 4,009,176 tons of pig iron out of the total production of all furnaces in the same period of 6,697,884 tons. This leaves for all the merchant furnaces, independent of the 13 large companies, only 2,688,708 tons.

The production of these companies will be reduced this month, along with the output of the merchant furnaces, but not in the same proportion. The United States Steel Corporation produced about 75 per cent of the total.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points on steady European cables and continued light primary receipts. Sales were reported of 64,750 bags, including July, 5.90@5.95c; September, 6.15@6.20c; December, 6.45c; March, 6.75c@6.80c, and May, 6.90@6.95c. Wabash Connection at Mingo Junction Completed Yesterday

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad (Wabash) was connected with the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Mingo Junction. It is now possible for the Wabash to run trains over its own rails from here to St. Louis, but the first regular passenger train will not be run until June 25, or a few days later. However, President Joseph Ramsey, who is now in St. Louis, has informed J. W. Patterson, president of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal line, of his intention to visit Pittsburgh this week and when he comes he will make the trip from St. Louis here on Wabash rails.

The news of the connection was received shortly before noon by President Patterson, who returned from St. Louis yesterday. The same information was also wired to President Ramsey, although it was not in the nature of a surprise. There is still considerable work to be done on the Ferry street passenger terminal and it is doubtful if the station will be in readiness for the accommodation of large crowds by the time announced for the opening. Rapid progress is being made, however, and with large forces of workmen of all classes, and fine weather, the station will soon be ready to turn over to the operating officials of the line. A handsome clock has been placed in the tower and yesterday morning it was started going. The dial can be seen for some distance along Liberty street. It has already attracted much attention. In fact, there is no time of day that hundreds of people are not collected about the building eagerly watching the workmen put on the finishing touches.

Interest seems to center around the large train shed. Only the skeleton work of the steel and iron frames is in place, but all material is on hand and it is being put in place as fast as human skill can do it. Crossties are now being scattered from the station to the bridge on the elevated structure, and the contractors will soon begin laying rails. Rails across the Monongahela river bridge have been in place for several weeks and three or four engines have passed over the mammoth trestle.

President Patterson was ostensibly in St. Louis with his family to see the fair. It is understood, however, that he spent much time with President Ramsey in discussing the appointment of officers to operate the Pittsburgh end of the Wabash. Nothing official has been given out as to who will get the plums. There are a number of excellent positions awaiting to be filled, but for each position there are from three to a dozen applicants.

Over a year ago the Wabash began registering applications for train crew jobs, such as engineer and conductor. Recently a number of engineers who were employed by local lines have been notified that their services will be required, and in many cases they have resigned. These men have been sent to the Wheeling & Lake Erie or Wabash main line, where they are now receiving instructions in the Wabash's method of running trains.

B. C. Vaughn Back from Japan.

"The war is keeping many tourists out of Japan," said B. C. Vaughn, assistant to Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, who returned yesterday from a four months' trip to the Orient. "The impression has got out," continued Mr. Vaughn, "that on account of the war tourists are not wanted in Japan, and that if they went there their safety would not be assured. This is exactly the opposite of the real conditions. The board of health, which is national in character, has taken steps to notify the leading countries and cities that foreigners will be welcomed in Japan.

"I found, however, some difficulty in getting about with comfort and any degree of speed. The Imperial railway has abandoned all express trains in order to handle war supplies and no parlor cars, sleepers or diners are being run." While in Yokohoma Mr. Vaughn met Dr. A. G. Smith of Ashtabula, O., who is now dentist to the royal family.

Coal Traffic Increasing.

"The lake situation," said a freight traffic official yesterday, "has improved much during the past 10 days. A fair tonnage of soft coal is being sent from this district to the lakes and ore is now beginning to reach the lake ports. Little new ore, however, is being taken by the furnaces, as the old stocks are still large."

Railroad Notes.

The Pittsburgh lines are announcing a special rate to Chicago on account of the national Republican convention.

Charles Hamilton, city passenger agent of the Wabash, returned yesterday from St. Louis, where he went to see the fair.

The Traffic club of Pittsburgh gave an outing yesterday afternoon at the Homewood Country club, which failed to draw the desired attendance. The amusements consisted of golf, as played by the late Dan Daly, parlor games and iced tea. Those who attended reported a "rousing" time. The only casualty of the afternoon—if it may be called such—was the loss of several golf balls.

New Gusher Is Well Within the Limits Known to Producers

There was nothing sensational about the developments in the lower southwest at the beginning of the week. In the Wick district, Tyler county, W. Va., the Carter Oil Company drilled in its No. 7 on the J. W. Musgrave farm, and the well started at the rate of 400 or 500 barrels a day as soon as the Big Injun pay was tapped. The location is inside of defined limits and opens up nothing new. In the Ankrom district, same county, D. A. Bartlett & Company have completed their second test on the J. R. Bowles farm and have a natural producer, good for 10 barrels a day. Bartlett, Riddle & Company are due in the sand at their second test on the Delaney Ankrom farm.

In the Big Lime development, near Milton, Cabell county, the Harshbarger Oil Company's second test on the Harshbarger farm, located 700 feet east of the No. 1 on the E. W. Beckett farm, is holding up at 12 barrels an hour. In the same district, No. 1 on the T. J. Berley farm has been put to pumping, and is a fair producer. No. 3 on the same farm will be given a shot. It will make a producer of some kind. South of the Littleton district, in Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 3 on the Sarah Johnson farm made a 50-barrel flow. The hole stands full of fluid and it will be put to pumping. In the Littleton district, the South Penn company has drilled its second test on the E. Whitlatch farm into the stray and has a small showing of oil.

On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the same company has drilled its No. 6 on the J. & R. Grubb farm six feet into the Gordon and has developed a very strong gas pressure. CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS VISIT HOME OF FOUNDER Thousands from Convention of Mother Church Pay Tribute to Mrs. Eddy at Concord.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CONCORD, N. H., June 13.—Several thousand Christian Scientists, who had come from the annual convention of the mother church in Boston to Concord, today inspected the new First church of Christ, now building here through the gift of more than $120,000 by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, and gave Mrs. Eddy, their leader, a greeting of affection as she took her daily drive through the streets.

The visiting Scientists were grouped on the green in front of the High school building and the Unitarian church, and, as Mrs. Eddy's carriage approached the throng, E. P. Bates of Boston, president of the mother church, addressed Mrs. Eddy in the name of the communicants of the faith throughout the world. Mrs. Eddy replied briefly, and tendered to him a casket containing a love token for the mother church. The casket, of rosewood, bound with burnished brass, is to be opened at the annual business session of the church in Boston tomorrow.

Mrs. Eddy expressed herself as being agreeably surprised that so large a number of church members were able to come to the city, the invitation having been issued only yesterday.

NEW SCANDAL DISGRACES THE ARMY OF GERMANY

High Officer Accused of Selling Military Equipment and Stealing Money.

By MALCOLM CLARKE.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 13.—Another military scandal has been added to the many affairs of various kinds, which have tended to disgrace German officers in the eyes of the people. It is reported from Mayence that a high officer of very prominent family, who is chief of the large military depot and stores in that city, and who had charge of enormous amounts of ammunition for both heavy and light artillery, which is being kept in that city to be used only in an emergency of war, has been arrested for selling articles of military equipment and stealing money belonging to the war department.

The greatest efforts are being made by the government to keep the affair quiet, but it is known that the unusual magnitude of it will no doubt lead to an investigation by the reichstag. People in the streets of Mayence have seen whole wagonloads of books being carried from the arsenal to the court building, where a staff of expert accountants are busy going over the accounts to find out the definite amount of money and supplies missing. It is declared that the peculations have been going on for years.

CLASS DAY HELD BY OLD NASSAU GRADUATES

Oakmont Man Reads Class History—Princeton Faculty Revises Courses of Study.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—President Woodrow Wilson began the Princeton class day exercises today by introducing N. H. Underhill of East Orange as master of ceremonies in Alexander hall.

The salutatory was delivered by D. G. Barr of Newburgh, N. Y., and was followed by the class oration by George S. Hornblower of New York city. B. H. Butler of Tacoma, Wash., read his own class poem at the close of the exercises. The class then marched to the steps of "Old North," where B. O. Satterwhite of Louisville, Ky., delivered the ivy oration, preceding the planting of the class ivy.

The cannon exercises were held this afternoon about the old revolutionary cannon in the quadrangle, where B. M. Price of Oakmont, Pa., delivered the presentation oration. M. S. Burt of Philadelphia read the class prophecy and H. H. Henry of Germantown, Pa., delivered the president's address.

The Princeton faculty this afternoon announced a complete revision of undergraduate courses of study leading to the bachelors' degree and the action has been passed by the trustees.

It is the most important restatement of the Princeton course of study that has been made since President McCosh reorganized the course in 1870. Candidates for admission to the bachelor of arts course will be examined in the following subjects only: The classics, mathematics, English, one modern language and history, and candidates for the courses of bachelor of science or bachelor of letters will be examined in mathematics, elementary physics, Latin, English, history and two modern languages.

There will be a reduction in the number of courses to be taken, each student taking five instead of seven studies each term, with a consequent increase in the amount of time given to each course in order to make it more substantial.

DANCING IS PRAISED; UP TO WAGNER'S IDEA

Heidelberg Professor Compliments the Work of an American Girl.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

HEIDELBERG, June 13.—The dancing of Miss Isadore Duncan has now reached a point where even a college professor considers it worthy of his notice. The famous professor of the history of art, Councilor Count Thode, of the university of this city, and a son-in-law of Mrs. Cosima Wagner, today delivered a lecture to the students in which he spoke exclusively of the new terpsichorean art of Miss Duncan, who is appear in this city on Sunday next.

The professor stated that the dance as executed by the now famous American girl was in every detail up to the ideal of Richard Wagner, the great composer, and that he hoped it would mean a revival of the true art of dancing which had been lost since the time of the old Greeks.
